BRYCE'S GOOD-BYE TO THIS 'LAND OF HOPE'

Retiring British Ambassador So Calls It in His Response at Pilgrims' Dinner to Him.

CHOATE FOR GRAPE JUICE

Sorry He Can't Offer Their Excellencies the New Diplomatic Beverage—Tributes to the Guest.

Standing beneath two huge draped twin banners of the United States and Great Britain and an illuminated electric sign of "Hands Across the Sea," James Bryce, the retiring British Ambassador, delivered his farewell to the American people last night, at a dinner given in his honor at the Waldorf by the Pilgrims of the United States, some 400 strong.

In the tributes paid to him by his hosts, as well as in his own farewell to them, there was a warm personal note of regard and regret at parting, different far from the suave diplomatic phrases and compliments usually attendant upon entrance to or retirement from office. It has been said of Mr. Bryce that he knew and understood America and Americans better than Americans themselves. He himself said last night that he had come to feel himself almost a citizen of the United States, and that it was only the incompatibility between that and the position of British Ambassador that kept him from taking a citizen's part in offering his patriotic advice time and again in the government of its domestic affairs.

The sentiments of his hosts were expressed by Joseph H. Choate, when he said regretfully:

"England has sent many Ambassadors, and will send many Ambassadors. But there's only one Bryce in the list!"

It was at the Pilgrims' board that Ambassador Bryce had first been welcomed upon his arrival here six years ago; and it was a distinguished gathering that met to bid him godspeed on retiring from office last night. In it were two former Ambassadors to Great Britain, a former Minister to France, and the newly appointed Ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

The Distinguished Company.

Joseph H. Choate, President of the Pilgrims, and former Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, was toastmaster. Ambassador Bryce sat at his right, and on his left was Walter Hines Page, the new Ambassador to the Court of St. James's. These three were the speakers of the evening. Others at the speakers' table were: St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle; Rear Admiral Aaron Ward, U. S. N.; Commissioner William H. Edwards, George C. Boldt, President John Purroy Mitchel of the Aldermen, Controller William A. Prendergast, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, Chancellor Elmer E. Brown of New York University, the British Consul General, Courtenay Walter Bennett; Henry White, former Minister to France; Bishop David H. Greer, Chauncey M. Depew, Mitchell Innes, First Secretary to the British Legation; Robert Bacon, former Minister to France; Col. Clarence Page Townsley, U. S. N.; Col. Daniel Appleton, Judge E. Henry Lacombe, Lieut. Col. Moreton F. Gage, R. A.; George Austin Morrison, Jr., President of the St. Andrew's Society; United States Judge Walter C. Noyes, Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo, Dr. John R. Shannon, John Joyce Broderick, William M. Griffiths, the Rev. Charles A. Eaton, Henry W. J. Bucknall, Chester B. McLaughlin, Capt. Heathcoat S. Grant, R. N.; Capt. Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., and Justice Francis M. Scott.

In introducing Mr. Bryce, who was the chief speaker of the evening, Mr. Choate spoke of his own long-standing friendship with the British Ambassador both in England and in this country, and his deep regret at parting from him now.

"In the presence of his Excellency—in the presence of their Excellencies and all these Ambassadors who have heretofore flourished on that title," said Mr. Choate, "I wish to make the apologies of the committee which had charge of this dinner, for not serving you—for not serving their Excellencies—with the new, improved, imperishable diplomatic beverage—the unfermented grape juice."

There was a roar of laughter and applause that was never raised by grape juice, and a joyous clinking of glasses as Mr. Choate stood hugely enjoying his little sally.

"How long it's warranted to remain unfermented after being taken," he added, "I do not know. The committee, however, had a good excuse. The news arrived too late. It was only this morning that we learned in the papers that the Department of State had prescribed it, and that all the Ambassadors and Ministers had drunk it in full bumpers with great applause. I promise Mr. Bryce when he comes back—as come back he must—that we'll give him full bumpers of this beverage, and it will never ferment. It is a thousand pities that Mr. Bryce is going away from us now in these perilous days of the Republic, now that the American Commonwealth he thought he had finished is going all to pieces, and no one knows what'll come next. Surely he will have to publish an annual hereafter.

All at Sea in Politics.

"Our country moves so fast that its history, which was perfect a year ago, is now just in the making. When on his homeward journey by way of the Orient, Mr. Bryce reaches China, he'll know no more about what's going on in Albany or Washington than we do about the back side of the antarctic. I have asked both the gentlemen on my right and my left, who ought to know, (Mr. Bryce and Mr. Page,) what's going on in Washington, and neither, though so well qualified, had the least idea.

"I have many times said good-bye to our guest of this evening," said Mr. Choate, dropping into a more serious vein, "but those good-byes were only dress rehearsals. This is the real thing. If you have tears to shed, prepare to shed them now.

"Mr. Bryce, you and I were friends long before I went to England as Ambassador in 1899. You were the first to greet me when I arrived there, and you and Mrs. Bryce were my dearest friends there. In the six years and three months you and Mrs. Bryce have been here that friendship has been renewed and has grown stronger and stronger.

"I believe, Mr. Bryce, that you have been a great benefactor to the American people as well as to your own Government. You have been an instructor of our youth, telling them much about their own American Commonwealth that they could have obtained from no other source. You have visited

BIG SCOTT FUND IDLE.

While Widow and Children of Seaman Evans Are Near Starvation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—Although the Scott Antarctic Fund for the dependents of Capt. Scott and his heroic companions had passed $250,000 early in March, Mrs. Evans, the widow of Seaman Evans, and her three children have been living the past three months on $3.24 a week, according to The Daily Express.

Beyond this pension, awarded by the Admiralty, and a few pounds from The Daily Telegraph fund, she has received nothing. The Daily Express, which describes the delay in distributing the funds as "one of the most extraordinary instances of official ineptitude on record," has interviewed Sir William Soulsby, Secretary to the Lord Mayor, who started the national fund. He said:

"We are still waiting for the Government to move in regard to provision for the relatives of the south pole victims. Until then, we cannot decide how to distribute our Scott fund."

He added that if Mrs. Evans had applied for help he would willingly have given aid.

KILLED RESCUING KITTEN.

Boy Climbs Into Tree at Girls' Request and Falls.

Oscar Broberg, 13 years old, of 1,523 Seventy-third Street, Brooklyn, was returning home yesterday afternoon from school with Mollie Gregory of 7,206 Thirteenth Avenue, and Helen Browde of 1,361 Seventy-second Street, when they saw a group of boys around a giant tree midway in the block between Seventieth Street and Bay Ridge Avenue. The boys were urging a frantic young mongrel cur to corner a kitten which had scampered up into the limbs.

After the dog tried vainly for several minutes to dislodge the cat the crowd scattered and young Broberg and the girls stayed to watch the kitten's antics as it went from bough to bough. Mollie and Helen told Oscar that he ought to free the little animal and finally the lad assented to the rescue.

Gallantly he essayed the heights, but as he neared the kitten it crawled higher, and shortly led the lad out onto a bending branch. The boy's weight snapped his support and boy and kitten fell twenty-five feet to the ground. The cat scrambled away but Oscar struck on a jagged stone and lay still. The cries of the two girls brought several men running, but by the time Dr. Gordon Lindsay of 1,377 Seventy-first Street reached the boy's side he was dead. Dr. Mathews of the Norwegian Hospital, who came in an ambulance shortly after Dr. Lindsay, said that the lad had broken his neck and had died almost instantly.

WILSON ROOTS WITH FANS.

Crowd Gives Him Share of Credit When Washington Team Wins.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Wilson went to Washington Baseball Park to-day to see the game between the Nationals and Boston Americans. He sat in a box in the upper tier of the grandstand with his daughter, Miss Margaret Wilson, Joseph E. Davies of Madison, Wis.; Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and Joseph P. Tumulty, the Secretary to the President.

The President applauded all good plays, and showed keen interest in everything that occurred on the field. In Washington's half of the seventh inning when it looked as if the home team with a score of 4 to 1 against it, was a sure loser, Mr. Wilson and his daughter, following the Washington tribute to superstition, stood up with all the enthusiastic fans to turn the tide of luck. The crowd howled with delight.

Great ball playing in the eighth inning shifted the score in favor of Washington, and when the President left at the finish of the game, which Washington won by 5 to 4, he was lustily cheered.

"Come again, Mr. President," yelled the crowd, which apparently thought that the President's presence had brought good luck to the home team.

The President showed to-day that he had become a partisan of the Washington nine. The Boston team called on him in a body in the executive building and every player got a handshake from him. At yesterday's game the President left before its conclusion while Washington was ahead, and Washington lost.

Referring to this to-day the President said to the Boston players: "I'll forgive you for what you did to us yesterday. It went all right while I was there, but you took advantage of my absence."

VIOLENCE IN BRICK STRIKE.

Man Shot and Boy Clubbed—4,000 Out—Militia May Be Called.

Four thousand men from fourteen factories, eleven of which are brick and clay works in Perth Amboy and Kearny, N. J., are on strike. Six hundred men left the Cardee Steel Works yesterday and four hundred quit the plant of the Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Company. Nine hundred employes of the Barber Asphalt Paving Company have stopped work.

The 1,500 employes of the Standard Underground Cable Company who went on strike a week ago and returned on gaining an advance of 10 cents a day, threatened to strike again unless their wages were increased further. At the terra cotta factories 1,500 men will go out on May 1. One hundred employes of L. H. McHose, owner of a clay bank, have gone on strike. Men among them have threatened to kill their employer unless he yields to their demands.

Thirty-five hundred employes of the American Smelting and Mining Company are expected to go out at any moment. Sheriff Albert Bollschweiller of Middlesex County has announced that if they strike he will ask the Governor to call out the militia. The Sheriff is maintaining order with 175 deputies.

Many stone and club battles occurred in the afternoon. Thomas Dudish, a worker in the National Fireproofing Company's plant, was waylaid by strikers and shot in the thigh. He was removed to the City Hospital. Six men were arrested and charged with having participated in this attack. They were locked up in the County Jail in New Brunswick. A boy employed as a water carrier was clubbed by strikers or their sympathizers.

CALIFORNIANS SEEK TO LIMIT BRYAN

Progressive Leaders in Legislature Hold That Land Law Conference Is with Governor Only.

REJECT RECEPTION PLANS

And Will Not Invite Near-by Governors to Meet Him—Angry Democrats Will Appeal to Secretary.

Special to The New York Times.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 25.—A lively row is promised between the Progressives and the Democrats over the reception of Secretary Bryan on Monday. It was evidently President Wilson's idea to have Bryan confer with the members of the Legislature over the anti-alien land bills, but the Progressive leaders, who represent the Governor, plainly showed to-day that they intended that this conference should be with Gov. Johnson.

A resolution offered in the lower house for the appointment of a committee to meet Secretary Bryan was defeated by the Progressives. Assemblyman Bohnett, who spoke for the Governor, asserted that as an executive officer of the Government Mr. Bryan should be received by the Governor, and by him alone.

The Democrats purpose to spoil the Progressives' plan by sending Senator Sanford, the Democratic National Committeeman, out to meet Mr. Bryan and explain the circumstances. They believe that when Mr. Bryan knows the facts he will not agree to shut Democrats out of the conference.

The Struckenback resolution to invite the Governors of Washington, Oregon, Nevada, and Arizona to attend the conference on the alien land question next week met with prompt defeat in the Assembly to-day. There were 41 Progressive "Noes" against 11 Democratic and 1 Taft Republican "aye" on the question. Progressives opposed the resolution on the ground that no outside counsel was necessary.

The new Alien Land bill is being drawn up by Senator Thompson, and its author announced to-day that nothing would be given out regarding its provisions until it had been carefully considered. It is known that it will strike directly at the Japanese by the use of the words "ineligible to citizenship."

BLAME THE POLITICIANS.

Japanese Leaders in San Francisco Say Californians Don't Want Law.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—That the Alien Land bill, now pending before the Legislature, does not embody the views of the great mass of California people, but is the product of political agitators, is the view of the leaders of Japanese enterprise and thought in San Francisco.

K. S. Inui, Secretary of the Japanese Association of America, said to-day:

"The Alien Land bill is backed by a small group of men who are attempting to use our people as a means to gain publicity and forward their political ambitions. The sentiment alleged to be back of the bill is worked up and artificial and does not represent the thinking public or the business men of California.

"All that the Japanese ask for is fair treatment. We want to have equal rights with other foreigners. California has the right to legislate concerning land tenure, but it has to be shown that the State can act on a matter that has international bearings."

Yamato Ichihashi, editor of The Japanese American, said:

"There are countless reasons why the Alien Land bill should not be enacted into law. There are no substitutes who could perform the functions now rendered by the Japanese. The rupturing of commercial relations between the Orient and the United States, on the eve of the completion of the Panama Canal, would be a disaster. The United States cannot afford to permit any act by a portion of its people that would cause affront to a friendly nation such as Japan.

"The West is the home of true democracy. The voice of the people can remedy the trouble. Let us hear the voice that can silence the voice of the 'freaks.'"

TOKIO LIKES WILSON'S ACTION

But Firebrand Newspaper Points to Japanese Fleet as "No Toy."

TOKIO, April 25.—General satisfaction is expressed here over the decision of President Wilson to send Secretary Bryan to Sacramento to consult the legislators there on the proposed alien land bills.

Most of the newspapers adopt a more tranquil tone to-day, but the widely circulated Osaka Mainichi, an independent newspaper, points to the Japanese fleet as no toy, and says that if necessary, or if forced by discriminatory legislation, it is capable of vindicating the national honor.

MANY BODIES INVITE BRYAN.

But He Will Spend All His Time Conferring on Land Bills.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Secretary William Jennings Bryan arrived in this city this afternoon, spent five hours consulting Senator Lewis and Mayor Harrison and then resumed his westward journey to confer with the California authorities concerning the anti-alien land law.

"I shall go direct to Sacramento and return to Washington as soon as I can," said Mr. Bryan, as he boarded his train. "I cannot forecast how long my absence may be, but I hope it will be short. These are important days at the Capital, and I shall hurry back."

Mr. Bryan declined to make any statement in connection with the coming conference with Gov. Johnson and the California Legislature.

"My embassy," he said, "as far as my memory goes, is without precedent. We may create precedents in our conferences, but it would not do to speak of them in advance."

That the Secretary will have an hospitable welcome in California was shown to-day in five invitations he received by telegraph to address public bodies in San Francisco and Sacramento. The Chamber of Commerce, Commonwealth Club, Commercial Club and the Califor-

BIG SHELL WHIZZES PAST CONGRESSMEN

Cuts a Rope on the Dolphin, Which Gun Crew Mistakes for the Target.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Eleven members of the Senate and House Committees on Naval Affairs came within an inch of being blown to pieces while witnessing the naval target practice at Judith Sound, 90 miles south of Washington, late yesterday. Shooting while a thick haze hung over the water, the gunners on the Monitor Tallahassee mistook for the target the United States yacht Dolphin, on board which were most of the members of the official party.

The 800-pound shell, propelled from a 12-inch gun, passed directly over the stern of the Dolphin, so close as to cut one of the ropes attached to the yacht's rigging. The shell exploded just before striking the water and the committee members, while thoroughly frightened, suffered nothing more serious than a drenching from the water and spray stirred up by the projectile.

The old ram Katahdin, with white painted side and red flag, was being used for the target and was stationed about 14,000 yards from the Tallahassee. The members of the Naval Affairs Committees were on the Dolphin and a tug which were lying at anchor about a mile away from the Katahdin.

When the shell dropped into the water a few yards away, the Dolphin and tug headed for the Tallahassee as fast as they could steam. There they found that the crew of the monitor had discovered the mistake and were in a panic of apprehension. The Tallahassee was in charge of Commander Philip Williams.

The explanation offered was that the haze made the target, as well as the Dolphin, mere specks in the distance. The officers, it is said, admitted negligence. An official inquiry will be made, but not at the suggestion of the members of the Naval Affairs Committees, who conceded that the accident was very natural under the circumstances.

One phase of the story told to-night was that Commander Williams personally discovered the Dolphin through his binoculars almost as soon as the shell struck beside her, and immediately gave the order to cease firing. Had his sight not been so good another shot would have been sent after the first in the mistaken notion that the Dolphin was the target.

The members of the commitees on the Dolphin were Senators Poindexter of Washington and Bryan of Florida and Representatives Padgett of Tennessee, Chairman of the House Committee; Foster of Illinois, Buchanan of Illinois, Hobson of Alabama, Gregg of Texas, Bathrick of Ohio, Butler of Pennsylvania, Roberts of Massachusetts, and Witherspoon of Mississippi.

At the Navy Department officials refused to-day to discuss the incident. The members of the Naval Affairs Committees also refused to discuss it, it being understood that they agreed among themselves to keep the affair quiet. It is known, however, that Navy Department officials have asked for a detailed report.

CUT BY INFECTED LANCET.

Brooklyn Surgeon Near Death from Resulting Blood Poisoning.

Another case of a surgeon becoming infected when operating was recorded yesterday. It became known that Dr. John W. Poole was critically ill with blood poisoning. Dr. Poole was performing an operation on last Tuesday afternoon in his office in East Eighteenth Street, Sheepshead Bay, and was holding in his hand a lancet he had used when he slipped and fell. In his fall, he was cut in the right hip by the infected lancet.

He felt the sharp twinge, but was able to complete the operation. As soon as it was over, he hastened to his friend, Dr. A. A. Bogart of 27 Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn, an authority in cases of blood poisoning. Dr. Bogart immediately placed Dr. Poole in the Methodist Episcopal Hospital. He and two other surgeons operated that night. By that time Dr. Poole's entire left side was paralyzed, but last evening Dr. Bogart said he had hope of his friend's recovery.

This case is the fourth of its kind to occur in Brooklyn since the first of the year.

BIG PORPOISES ARRIVE.

Two Are Six Feet Long and Weigh 300 Pounds Apiece.

Two fine porpoises arrived yesterday at the Battery Aquarium. They were captured off Cape Hatteras by W. H. Rollinson, Superintendent of the William F. Nye Oil Refinery of New Bedford, Mass., which operates a fishery off the Cape, and brought to New York by the Old Dominion steamer Monroe from Norfolk. The porpoises were shipped from Cape Hatteras in a power boat by way of the Dismal Swamp Canal to Norfolk, and it gave the crew ample work to keep the fish from leaping overboard.

At the Aquarium one of the officials said that the porpoises were six feet long and weighed 300 pounds.

$625 SALARY FOR "BIG TIM."

Government Will Pay It to Committee Handling His Affairs.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—"Big Tim" Sullivan of New York, who was elected to the Sixty-third Congress, but never took his seat because a court adjudged him incompetent to administer his affairs, has $625 coming as part of his salary.

He could not give the personal receipt which the law requires, so the Government has decided to turn the money over to a committee in charge of his affairs. "Big Tim" is still entitled to a seat in the House.

DIPPEL QUITS AS OPERA DIRECTOR

Denies That Friction Is the Cause, Despite Positive Reports of Disagreement.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Andreas Dippel, General Manager of the Chicago Opera Company, resigned the position to-day without offering any formal explanation as to the reason which prompted him to take this step. Mr. Dippel's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Grand Opera Company held this evening.

Despite all statements to the contrary, the correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES learns on the highest authority that Mr. Dippel's resignation was the result of a bitter disagreement this afternoon between him and the Directors of the organization growing out of matters of policy.

Singular reticence is observed both by the Directors of the Opera Company and by Mr. Dippel as to the reasons underlying his resignation. Mr. Dippel, when asked about it, simply laughed, shrugged his shoulders, and finally consented to say this much:

"It is with great regret that I sever my connection with the Chicago Grand Opera Company. To a certain extent it was the child of my creation, and I have seen it grow to be a strong, robust, successful organization. There has been absolutely no dissatisfaction either on my part or that of the Directors. We are parting on absolutely amicable terms. I am leaving because I have a larger and better opening elsewhere."

Pressed for an explanation on this point Mr. Dippel declined to be more specific other than to say he expected that his activities would require him to remain in America. Mr. Dippel left for Cincinnati to-night.

At the close of the opera season last Winter there was an intimation that following his three years of service as manager of the Chicago company, he having guided the fortunes of the organization since its formation, and having worked it up to its present successful basis, Mr. Dippel would ask to be relieved of the responsibility of further management. Rumors of friction between Mr. Dippel and Directors of the Chicago Grand Opera Company have been emphatically denied.

With the acceptance of Mr. Dippel's resignation to-day the Executive Committee passed a resolution expressing "full appreciation for what has been done for this city and for grand opera in America," thanking him for his services and wishing him success in his new field of endeavor.

The report of Andreas Dippel's resignation as impressario in Chicago gave rise here to speculation as to his future plans and the prediction that he might be the impressario of the popular opera at the Century Theatre under the auspices of the City Club. It has been generally understood, however, that the Century impressario has been already selected, and a member of the club's opera committee said last night that Mr. Dippel was not the man.

KISSLESS UNION BROKEN.

Separation Granted Mrs. Samarelli, Whom Her Husband Called Cold.

Supreme Court Justice Gerard granted Mrs. Severina Samarelli yesterday a decree of separation from Dr. Gaetano F. Samarelli, of 309 East 116th Street, who himself a few months ago sought to have his marriage annulled on the ground that, even as a bride, his wife had consistently refused to kiss him. Mrs. Samarelli in her complaint charged that her husband had turned her away from his apartment on the day they returned from a two weeks' honeymoon.

Alexander Pfeiffer of 128 Broadway, attorney for Mrs. Samarelli, made her husband acknowledge on the witness stand that he had practically driven his wife from her home, but he reiterated his charge that his wife was totally devoid of affection. Justice Gerard, in reviewing the case in his findings, stated that it was apparently not the wife that lacked feeling.

ARREST SOCIETY WOMEN.

Police Accuse Them of Violating Chicago's New Vehicle Law.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Chicago's reform wave caused the arrest of five society women to-night. They were Mrs. W. J. Cochrane, Mrs. W. E. Willoughby, Mrs. C. A. Ramsey, Miss Margaret Deming, and Miss Florence Carlson. They were charged with violating a city ordinance by leaving their electric coupes in the street without any one being in charge of them.

The women had been to a theatre, and were arrested and taken to the Central Police Station immediately after the performance ended. They all gave bond.

Theirs were the first arrests under the new city ordinance, and the women were indignant.

SUFFRAGIST WINS OFFICE.

$3,000 a Year Post for Mrs. Rogers of Colorado.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Mrs. Annie G. Rogers, wife of a business man in Leadville, Col., was designated to-day by Secretary of Interior Lane for appointment as receiver of the Land Office at Leadville, at a salary of $3,000 a year. Mrs. Rogers is a suffragist.

"I am particularly glad to name Mrs. Rogers," said Secretary Lane, "because it is an established fact in the United States that money can be handled more safely by women than by men."

VICE BOARD STIRRED, APPEALS TO WILSON

Factory Girls' Stories Prompt Illinois Officials to Telegraph to President.

TELL HIM OF SHOE LOBBY

Conditions in Springfield Plant Described as Worst Investigators Have Encountered.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 25.—Following to-day's session of the Illinois Senate, Vice Commission Lieut. Gov. O'Hara sent telegrams to President Wilson and Lieut. Gov. Paynter of Missouri, calling their attention to the conditions incident to the employment of girls in the local factory of the International Shoe Company, which he described as the worst the commission had encountered since its investigations began.

The message to the President apprised him of a report that the corporation maintained a tariff lobby at Washington. Lieut. Gov. Paynter was told that the executive officers of the corporation were residents of Missouri.

The telegram to President Wilson was as follows:

> At a hearing of the Illinois Senate Vice Commission here to-day it appeared that the conditions surrounding the employment of girls at the Springfield factory of the International Shoe Company apparently were the most open to criticism of any so far discovered by this commission. The revelations were so astounding that Senator Neills Juul, a Republican, and the dean of our State Senate, openly and bitterly denounced this corporation.
>
> I have been informed that this corporation is supporting a lobby at Washington in opposition to your proposed tariff law on the grounds that if certain duties are removed the girl workers in their shoe factories will be brought into competition with the cheap labor of Europe. I believe your attention should be called to the testimony given here to-day.

Mr. O'Hara's message to the Lieutenant Governor of Missouri was as follows:

> At a meeting of the Illinois Senate Vice Commission to-day it developed that the girls employed in a Springfield factory of the International Shoe Company are the victims of the worst industrial conditions that have yet come before this commission. Mr. Derby, the Superintendent of the Springfield factory, stated under oath that the International Shoe Company is a $25,000,000 corporation, and that its executive officers are residents of Missouri.
> On behalf of Senators Juul, Tossey, Woodard, and Beall, as well as of myself, constituting the full membership of our commission, I respectfully invite the co-operation of your Missouri Senate Vice Commission in a thorough and complete investigation of the methods of this corporation.

The disclosures which prompted the vice investigators to appeal to President Wilson come out yesterday when the commission held a secret session and heard the testimony of several girls who had been employed in the shoe factory. The investigators were so angry over the conditions described by these girls that they were in no humor to temporize with W. S. Derby, Superintendent of the factory, when he showed a spirit of hostility on the witness stand to-day.

Mr. Derby assumed a defiant attitude and refused to speak loud enough to be heard.

"Speak up, please," requested Senator Juul, "the stenographers and the newspaper men cannot hear you."

"I don't care anything about them," responded Mr. Derby.

"Well, we care," exclaimed the Senator.

"This is a modern version of 'the public be damned' attitude," said Lieut Gov. O'Hara.

"I'm talking to you, not to them," said Mr. Derby.

"I want to tell you, Mr. Derby, that I for one wish I had the power to drive your concern from Illinois," said Senator Juul. "You are a disgrace to the State. We learned of one poor girl who worked for you and was driven to shame because your concern paid her only $3.50 a week, and she could not live on it. We had to go into executive session because the testimony was so offensive that the public should not hear it."

Derby was told to bring his payroll before the commission next week.

Agnes McGill, 21 years old, testified that she started in the company's factory at $3 a week, and that her pay was advanced until she received $7 a week. She said the girls in the box department, where she worked, were driven at top speed, and that the foreman cursed them when they failed to turn out as much work as he desired. On a half dozen different occasions, she testified, she fainted from excessive exertion. She said the foreman of the department sometimes seized girls and shook them when they displeased him.

Pearl Briggs, 21 years old, said she was receiving $6 a week in the factory when she was transferred to piece work, at which she was able to make only $2.75 to $5 a week.

TWO DEAD ON IMPERATOR.

Three More Dying—Explosin Caused by Workman's Cigar Lighter.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—Two men are dead and three dying as a result of the explosion on the new Hamburg liner Imperator on Thursday.

The Daily Telegraph's Berlin correspondent says that the explosion was caused by one of the workmen, who, contrary to rules, filled a cigar lighter from a benzine reservoir. While he was trying to see if it was in working order he burned his fingers, and under the impulse of the moment flung the thing from him. It set fire to the cover of the benzine tank, and, while the workmen were endeavoring to put out the blaze, the reservoir exploded.

NO WARSHIP FOR COLLEGES.

Secretary Daniels Withdraws Offer Because of Changed Fleet Plans.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary Daniels has withdrawn the offer of warships for the use of college students because of the new plans for the Atlantic fleet.

Sending the fleet through the Mediterranean will make it necessary to use some of the ships, now in reserve, for various details. Consequently, there will be none left that will be available for the use of college men.

FIND TWO ALIVE IN MINE.

Searchers Recover Bodies of 88 Victims of Finleyville Disaster.

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Soon after midnight this morn two men were found alive in the Cincinnati mine at Finleyville, the scene Wednesday noon of an explosion in which 90 to 115 men lost their lives.

The work of removing bodies from the mine went on rapidly yesterday. When darkness fell a total of 88 bodies had been taken out. Officials of the company expressed the belief that only a few bodies remained in the mine.

Most of the bodies recovered are in good condition. Several are slightly burned, but few are mutilated.

O'GORMAN COMES HOME.

Rumor That He Will Consult Political Friends About Polk Case.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator O'Gorman went to New York to-day, and it was reported that he would consult political friends there about President Wilson's intention to nominate Frank Lyon Polk for Collector of Customs. Senator O'Gorman did not indorse Mr. Polk for the Collectorship.

Nominations of New York Postmasters selected by Mr. O'Gorman will be sent to the Senate next week. The nomination of Peter Giles to be Postmaster at Le Roy, N. Y., and John Soemann to be Postmaster at Lancaster, N. Y., were laid before the Senate yesterday. Both were approved by Mr. O'Gorman.

Senator O'Gorman has leased for the Summer the Cleveland Park mansion, Red Top, famous as the Summer home of Grover Cleveland when President. Mr. O'Gorman will move in May 1. The place is in Oakwood, in the northwest suburbs of Washington, and is owned by Robert I. Fleming.

NO AUTOS FOR PRIESTS.

German Bishop Forbids Those of His Diocese Even to Ride in Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 25.—The Roman Catholic Bishop of Treves in Rhineland has issued a decree forbidding the priests under his jurisdiction from owning or riding in motor cars.

He says "such practices don't correspond with the principles of modesty which ought to distinguish the priestly profession."

POTTER'S FIELD TO BLOOM.

Flowers to be Planted Over Graves on Harts Island.

The Potter's Field at the northern end of Harts Island, eighteen miles up the East River, will little by little cease to be the barren waste it has formerly been, for the graves of the 180,000 of the city's poor will shortly be covered with geraniums, daisies, and fragrant forget-me-nots. The work of planting them was begun yesterday by Mrs. Minnie Bartel, a clerk in the office of John J. Henley, Warden of Harts Island.

Mrs. Bartel and John Conley, the landscape gardener, will plant a few flowers each day until every grave is covered. John J. Henley, the Warden, and William H. Walker, the Superintendent, have offered to help.

RESCUED IN COLLEGE TANK.

Student, Seized with Cramp, Sinks Twice Before Aid Comes.

When swimming in the tank of the City College, 139th Street and Convent Avenue, yesterday afternoon, Henry Meltzner, 22 years old, of 1,329 Clay Avenue, the Bronx, a student, was seized with a cramp in the knee. He sank twice before he could be taken out. Several classmates were in the tank with him, and they, directed from the edge by Prof. Lionel B. McKenzie, swimming instructor, rescued Meltzner.

Prof. McKenzie applied artificial respiration until the arrival of an ambulance from J. Hood Wright Hospital. Meltzner was taken to the hospital. He was suffering from inflammation of the knee and submersion.

EAGER TO AVENGE HIS CATS.

Hotel Man is Looking for the Man Who Cut Off Half Their Tails.

Thomas E. Roberts, proprietor of the café at 1 Broadway, was doing detective work yesterday to find the man who chopped off the tails of two tiger-marked cats, the pets of the restaurant. He missed the cats on Thursday afternoon, and yesterday morning found them hiding in the billiard room. Then he discovered that some inhuman person had deliberately cut off half their tails.

Mr. Roberts has an idea who the man is, and when he satisfies himself of the fact, he will settle accounts with him, he says, in shipshape Bristol fashion.

MILWAUKEE'S ART VIEW.

Shocked by "September Morn," but Not by City Hall Cupids.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 25.—The Chicago row over the display of "September Morn" is likely to be duplicated in Milwaukee. Oscar Greenwald, executive head of the local properties of Gimbel Brothers, was arraigned in court with the manager of his art department today on a charge of violation of the bill board ordinance.

The defendants obtained a continuance, and promise reprisal. On the tower of the City Hall are four cupids, whose lack of clothing and display of the human form make "September Morn" look like a fur-robed Eskimo. The defendants in the bill board case threaten to have Fred G. Simmons, Commissioner of Public Works, arrested if the case against them is prosecuted.

Taft Plants an Oak.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 25.—Prof. William Howard Taft of Yale assisted to-day in the celebration of the 275th anniversary of the founding of New Haven when he planted an oak near the spot where the little colony landed in 1638 and where the Rev. John Davenport, their pastor, stood under a historic oak and preached the first sermon. Ex-President Taft dug a deep and wide hole, and then set the tree in place.

RAMONA BORDEN FOUND IN BOSTON

Missing Girl and Two Women Companions Discovered in a Hotel There.

WERE PREPARING TO SAIL

Detectives' Dispatch Says Party Planned to Take Liner for Naples To-day.

FATHER STARTS FOR BOSTON

Gail Borden, After Receipt of Wire, Takes Midnight Train—Accompanied by O. C. Kyle.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Saturday, April 26.—Miss Ramona Borden, daughter of Gail Borden, who disappeared on Wednesday with two women while on an auto ride in company with a nurse from Adams's Sanitarium at Pompton, N.J., is in this city according to the Burns detectives working on the case, and the country-wide search instituted by her father will terminate to-day when he comes to Boston in answer to a telegram from his daughter informing him of her whereabouts.

The whereabouts of Miss Borden here cannot be learned. It was reported that she was at the Hotel Vendome. The hotel people say that this is untrue, and there are good reasons for believing them. The detectives, it is thought, have her in seclusion awaiting Mr. Borden's arrival, possibly having removed her from the Vendome, if it was there she was found.

Mr. Borden Off for Boston.

Gail Borden started for Boston at midnight last night in response to a telegram from detectives in his employ that they had found his daughter, also Mrs. William J. White and Mrs. J. A. Backe in the Htoel Vendome in Boston.

The dispatch to Mr. Borden said that Miss Ramona Borden and her companions had taken quarters there preparatory to sailing to-day for Naples.

Mr. Borden was accompanied by a friend, O. C. Kyle.

Over the long distance telephone the Hotel Vendome in Boston told THE TIMES this morning that a woman and a girl arrived at the hotel early yesterday afternoon. The woman, it was said, was about 50 years old and the girl 17, but the girl did not seem to fit the published descriptions of Miss Borden.

In the absence of an established motive to account for the continued and unexplained silence of his missing daughter Ramona 17 years old, Gail Borden said earlier last night that he was almost convinced of the advisability of applying for Jane Doe warrants for the arrest of two or more women.

When no definite news of the girl's whereabouts had been received up to 10 o'clock last night Mr. Borden was almost beside himself with anxiety. He said in his apartment at the Hotel Manhattan that he had been eager to receive some word from Mrs. Helen Shelden White, wife of William J. White, a rich manufacturer with headquarters in Chicago and a factory in Niagara Falls, and Mrs. J. A. Backe of 677 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, whose husband is an inventor of automobile appliances. The Backes live in a large home and are believed to possess ample means.

Mr. Borden said Mrs. White and Mrs. Backe must have read in yesterday's newspapers of the association of their names with that of his daughter, and their silence is one of the features of the case which he would like to have explained. He also is seeking traces of the Misses Gladys and Violet Shelden, Mrs. White's nieces, who were of the coterie of friends to whom Miss Borden seemed to be so closely attached.

A report that Mrs. White and Mrs. Backe and a girl answering Miss Borden's description were in New Haven on Thursday was investigated by Mr. Borden. The reports had it that the three arrived at the Hotel Taft, in New Haven, Wednesday night, and registered as "Mrs. W. J. White, Mrs. T. G. Backe, and maid, New York City." Mr. Borden communicated with the Hotel Taft yesterday afternoon. He was told of the names on the register, and after listening to descriptions of the three he expressed the opinion that they were Mrs. White, Mrs. Backe, and Ramona. They occupied a suite in the hotel overnight and left New Haven for Boston on the 11:45 o'clock limited Thursday morning.

Mrs. White Has Boston Kin.

"I am satisfied in my own mind as to the identity of the women and girl," Mr. Borden said last night. "Mrs. White has relatives in Boston, and it seems probable that the three were bound for that city. I assume the trail is being followed by operatives of a detective agency which is employed on the case, but as yet I have received no report from the agency. I have received no word either directly or indirectly from my daughter since she disappeared from the sanitarium in Pompton, N. J. This fact convinces me that she is either under restraint or dominated by influences which have entire possession of her.

"There is a motive behind all this, a motive which it may be hard to conceive. My daughter's absence has nothing to do with a foolish prank. It cannot be that she is kept from me for the purpose of financial gain to others. Her mother is as sincerely concerned for her safety and return as I am. There remains solely the motive which I cannot bear to harbor in my mind."

"Do you think that those who aided in your daughter's flight are in fear of civil or criminal prosecution should she be surrendered to you and tell you her story?" Mr. Borden was asked.

"That seems to be the most reasonable solution of the case according to the facts thus far in my possession," Mr. Borden replied.

Information obtained yesterday reveals that Miss Borden's disappearance on Wednesday from the sanitarium was the culmination of a situation which had given her father great concern and sorrow. Miss Borden, whose full name is Alixine Ramona Borden, left the Ingleside School, New Milford, Conn., last June and thereafter was almost constantly under the protection of her father. While attending the school she became particularly friendly with the Misses Shelden and Miss Helen Webb.

Mr. Borden said yesterday that the mother of the Shelden girls died shortly after the birth of Miss Violet, and that three months later their father was killed in a railroad accident in Indiana. Mrs. White undertook the rearing of her nieces, who have looked upon her as their guardian ever since. Mr. Borden does not know more concerning Miss Webb than that she is of the circle of Miss Borden's friends. The bond—if there be one—between Mrs. White and Miss Borden followed an acquaintance which began when the Shelden girls introduced Miss Borden to their aunt. Mrs. Backe is a friend of Mrs. White of years' standing, and was the business representative of Mrs. White in several deals. She was one of the patrons of honor when Mrs. White was married in November, 1906, to the wealthy manufacturer of chewing gum.

Mr. Borden and his daughter went to Ormond, Fla., late last Fall and spent the Winter there. Shortly after their arrival, Mr Borden learned that Mrs. White and her nieces had come to Florida and were spending their time at West Coast resorts and were in communication with Miss Borden. Mr. Borden would not explain yesterday the reasons which led him to depart from Ormond somewhat unexpectedly on March 31. Previously, he had advised his daughter to return to the Ingleside School, but she demurred, giving as a reason that neither the Shelden girls nor Miss Webb were there. The Bordens arrived in Washington on April 1. On the afternoon of that day, Miss Borden disappeared. Failing to find her through his own efforts, Mr. Borden employed detectives who traced her to Savannah, where he was told, three women answering the description of Mrs. White and her nieces had arrived.

Rest Cure Ordered.

Before taking action such as he had considered, his daughter returned to Washington with Mrs. White and her party, which included Miss Webb. The detectives were kept on the case. They called at the exclusive Stoneleigh apartment house, where Mrs. White and her party were living, and delivered instructions from Mr. Borden which resulted in his daughter consenting to come to New York, where Dr. George M. Parker, 41 West Fifty-second Street, the Borden family physician, was consulted. He ordered Miss Borden to the Adams sanitarium for a rest cure.

"After I had taken my daughter away from the Washington surroundings," Mr. Borden said yesterday, "she expressed neither regret at leaving nor criticism of the course I had taken. She demonstrated her sincere affection for me. I received a letter from her from the sanitarium couched in loving terms, and giving no hint that she was either discontented or contemplated leaving. I am sure that she did not have in mind any plans for flight.

"I know she had no money when she disappeared. I had found it necessary because of matters which took place in Washington during our brief sojourn there to stop her monthly allowance of $125 for spending money. I had to notify stores where she had credit to discontinue it. In one of these she had contracted a bill of $300. She did not resent my acts, because, following our departure from Washington, she saw their wisdom."

Description of Miss Borden.

Mr. Borden asked that the following description of his daughter be published:

Age, 17 years, but looks slightly older; 4 feet 10 inches in height, weight about 110 pounds; brown hair, worn low over the forehead and ears and gathered tightly in the back; grayish blue eyes, slightly arched eyebrows, and a decided droop at the corners of the mouth. Her face is round, and when in good health her complexion is good colored. She walks erectly and with quick steps.

Mrs. White is a decided blonde with blue eyes, about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and weighs about 150 pounds. Mrs. Backe is a brunette, about 45 years old, dark hair and eyes, with a round face, and weighs about 175 pounds.

The Backe home at 677 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, is a three-story and basement residence of pressed brick with marble entrance. Callers at the house yesterday were met by a colored boy, who said neither Mrs. Backe nor her husband were at home, and none of the servants had been instructed where to forward their mail. They left last Wednesday, the boy said. The manager of a near-by livery stable told of sending a cab to the Backe home Wednesday morning shortly before 10 o'clock. Mrs. Backe carried a suitcase, entered the cab alone, and was driven to the Pennsylvania Station in Manhattan.

Mr. Backe has a shop, a one-story building, in Herkimer Place, five blocks from his home, in which he employs two mechanics. They said yesterday that Mr. Backe left town Wednesday and did not say when he would return. They understood that he was going to Atlantic City.

Mr. Borden's efforts to find Mrs. White were further balked by his inability to learn her home address. Her last permanent domicile, so far as Mr. Borden could learn, was 147 Riverside Drive, a residence to which her husband gave her the deed soon after their marriage. The furniture was taken out of the house last Fall, and Mrs. White has spent much of the time since in travel. The business interests of her husband necessitate much traveling, and the couple do not spend much of their time together.

OVERNIGHT IN NEW HAVEN.

Miss Borden and Two Women Took Boston Train on Thursday.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 25.—Gail Borden told the management of the Hotel Taft in this city over the long-distance telephone to-day that the three women who stopped at the hotel over Wednesday night were without doubt his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Backe, and Mrs. W. J. White.

Mrs. White was recognized by one of the clerks also upon her arrival. She had been a guest at the hotel on two or three former occasions as a member of an automobile party. She made all the arrangements for the stay of the three, saying that they would be at the Taft till Thursday noon.

The party was assigned to a large double room and a single room across the hall. The rooms were on the sixth floor close to the suite occupied by ex-President Taft and his wife. No one, however, occupied the smaller room that night.

Miss Borden was seen in the hotel lobby during the evening, buying newspapers and chatting with the attendants. She is described by the clerks as slight, weighing little more than 90 pounds, wearing an unusually heavy blue skirt, low shoes, a modish bonnet, which concealed much of her face, and bow glasses.

Mrs. White appeared at the hotel desk about 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and gave a check on the Nassau Trust Company, New York City, for the amount of her bill. Before her departure the trust company was called by 'phone from the hotel office and assurance was given that the check was perfectly good. Some surprise was expressed by the trust company officials that Mrs. White was in New Haven, and it is supposed that Mr. Borden was informed by the trust company of Mrs. White's whereabouts.

Mrs. White called a taxicab and the party was taken to the Union Station in time for the express for Boston, which leaves this city at 11:40 A. M. Porters at the railroad station say that the three took parlor car seats together.

POPE'S GAIN MAINTAINED.

Cardinal Merry del Val Will Receive American Pilgrims To-day.

ROME, April 25.—The Pope is much better to-day, and Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, has requested the Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Toledo, to advance to to-morrow instead of Sunday the date of the audience the Cardinal is to give to the American pilgrimage under his charge.

At the same time the Cardinal informed Bishop Schrembs that the Pope was suffering from the consequences of an attack of grip which would have passed unnoticed if it had affected an ordinary person.

Delegates to Charities Conference.

Mayor Gaynor appointed yesterday these delegates to the National Conference of Charities and Correction, to be held in Seattle, Wash., July 5 to 12, 1913: Leopold Plaut, President United Hebrew Charities; John A. Kingsbury, P. A. Whitney, Commissioner of Correction; the Right Rev. D. J. McMahon, Mrs. William K. Draper, Angus B. [illegible], Superintendent Bureau of Dependent Adults; J. F. Thomas and [illegible].

DEMOCRAT UPSETS THE TARIFF 'CLASS'

A Philadelphia Republican's "Primer" Enlivens the Debate in the National House.

PALMER'S STRONG SPEECH

Praises Wilson's Course and Says People Will Not Be Taxed to Keep Unfit Enterprises Alive.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Grave and gay mingled in the thirteen hours of tariff debate in the House of Representatives to-day. A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, making the ablest speech of the day, set forth in strong fashion the majority's hopes for the new tariff. His Republican colleague, J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, enlivened the session for an hour by holding a "tariff primary class," in which questions were read by the Clerk of the House and replies were made by Mr. Moore on the floor.

Mr. Moore's novel presentation was intended to clinch the fundamentals of the Republican tariff creed in the minds of the pupils, represented by the members of the House, but it had an amusing climax when Representative Lobeck of Nebraska, a Democrat, raised his hand while Moore was reciting his lesson and demanded recognition.

"For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" asked Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the presiding officer.

"Please, teacher," Mr. Lobeck asked, with a grin, "may I go out?"

The principal's answer was drowned in laughter.

Mr. Palmer, who defended President Wilson's participation in the framing of the Tariff bill, predicted that the Underwood bill would remain on the statute books for years as a happy solution of a long-vexed question.

"I view with equanimity," he said, "the so-called invasion of the rights of the legislative branch by the Executive branch in the framing of this bill. This co-operation foreshadows hearty support of the bill by the leaders of our party in public station and private life."

Ends Taxation to Aid Unfit.

"Business now may take notice that, as to such enterprises as cannot meet the new conditions, by reason of neglect, refusal, or inability to employ that efficiency and economy which will permit industry to stand upon its own feet with less support from the Government the people refuse to be longer taxed to accomplish the survival of the unfit."

Mr. Palmer asserted that the Underwood bill would not cause any decrease in the aggregated production of industry in the country, nor impair the earnings of labor.

"I have no fear," he said, "that the American wage earner will suffer, unless the American manufacturer shall feel that widespread distress on the part of labor is not too high a price to pay to compel a return to the old protective system, and deliberately close his mills in order to frighten the people of the country into a repudiation of this new policy."

Representative Austin of Tennessee, Republican, asked Mr. Palmer if the Bethlehem Steel Company in his district would not profit by the putting of iron ore on the free list.

"Yes," responded Mr. Palmer, "and this same company will pay more duty on the ferro-manganese, which we have placed on the dutiable list, than it will save through the transfer of iron ore to the free list."

Representative Lloyd of Missouri said that Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Company, had told him that the worst enemy of the company was the Representative in Congress from the district in which the company's works were located.

"It is true," Mr. Palmer replied, "that the men at the head of the Bethlehem Steel Company are my worst political enemies, and that Mr. Schwab is the chief of these. But thank God that the men who work in his mills are my best political friends."

Representative Keating, Democrat, of Colorado, who said he was elected upon a free sugar platform, aroused the Representatives from beet sugar States with the statement that every beet sugar factory in the United States was controlled by the American Sugar Refining Company either by stock or by selling agreement.

Representative Gillett of Massachusetts ridiculed the debate as a waste of time, but admitted that the Republican tariff had been repudiated by the people. That, he said, is partly the fault and partly the misfortune of the Republican Party.

Wool Senators to Meet President.

Senator Newlands to-day asked President Wilson to give Senators from the intermountain States a chance to discuss with him "the equitable relations of the tariff to their State." The President said he would fix a date when he would see the Senators. Senator Newlands indicated that wool and sugar would be taken up at the conference as well as citrus fruits, leads, zinc, cattle, and other products.

TARIFF GAIN FOR FRANCE.

Paris Newspaper Objects, However, to the Administrative Plans.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 25.—An editorial in the Petit Parisian on the proposed new tariff of the United States says:

"France, like all the other European nations, can only gain by the enactment of the bill. At present France sells $120,000,000 worth of goods annually to the United States, mostly articles of luxury, which have hitherto been heavily taxed. Reduction of the tariff will, therefore, increase Franco-American trade to France's profit."

At the same time the Petit Parisien protests against ahe proposed Treasury inquiries in the books of exporters and adds:

"It is likely that Washington will dispense with this vexatious provision on account of the loud chorus of protests it has raised."

The tone of the Petiti Parisien editorial is similar to that of the Temps, cabled yesterday and was probably officially inspired.

COST PIERCE $7,000,000.

Says Misplaced Confidence Got Him Into Tennessee Central.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Henry Clay Pierce, testifying to-day in the suit of the National Bank of Commerce to recover from him securities worth $1,500,000, said he had become involved in the Tennessee Central Railway deal to the extent of nearly $7,000,000 through transactions conducted by the bank and through misplaced confidence. The name of ex-Senator Bailey of Texas was drawn into the case.

"In 1901 or 1902 I was forced into a larger interest in the Tennessee Central enterprise than other individual subscribers when my son-in-law, Richards, in my absence and without my knowledge to buy $1,500,000 of the first mortgage bonds of the railway. Since the collapse of the syndicate I have had to advance more than $4,000,000 to pay the expenses of the Tennessee Central Railway.

"Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas was made the assignee of the Tennessee Construction Company, and all of its properties were turned over to him. He was authorized to take charge of the affairs of the company and wind them up.

"Senator Bailey sold more than $4,000,000 worth of property of the company, and it was my understanding that from the sale of these properties the loan at the Bank of Commerce, for which the Nashville Terminal stock was pledged, was paid, and that the stock then went back to Bailey as assignee for the construction company.

"The stock was later pledged to the Standard Trust Company of New York by Senator Bailey and remained there for three years. It was finally delivered to Eben Richards, on my order, after the trust company had notified me that it had no further claim to it.

"The stock is now in my possession, or in the possession of my agents, although I have never seen it."

CHICAGO, April 25.—Joseph W. Bailey declined to-night to throw any light on the transactions involving the 15,000 shares of Nashville Terminal stock for which Henry Clay Pierce of the Waters-Pierce Company is being sued in St. Louis.

"The Tennessee Construction Company is my client, and I can't talk about its affairs," he said. "I will say, however, that the terminal stock was not pledged as collateral. It was deposited in the bank under contract, and removed when the contract was fulfilled."

RUSH TO ENTER BABIES.

Prizes for Healthiest Exaggerated by Rumors Among Mothers.

A boom in healthy babies, which brought out as entries for a baby show more babies of sturdy muscles and unrivaled lung power than some writers about the teeming east side, have been willing to admit could live there, stirred Eldridge Street and other streets in the vicinity of Eldridge Street yesterday.

While the excitement lasted the milk depot at 174 Eldridge Street became the centre for the hurrying footsteps of hundreds of happy mothers, but after they all arrived and could compare wild, happy rumors with the sad, actual facts they left again in deep disappointment.

It all happened this way. The University Settlement, with the Health Department and Dr. L. E. Holt co-operating, announced a healthy baby show to be held May 1, 2, and 3, entries to be open to all east side mothers with babies under 2 years of age. The mothers were to register their babies at the Eldridge Street milk station, and from the total number offered the nurse at the station was to select 100 babies as worthy of a place in the final contest.

Long before noon the $100 figure had been raised in the rumors to $500, and that was what brought the grand rush. When the fond mothers permitted the nurse at the milk depot to look over their infants they were solemnly assured that the actual prize money amounted to just $15 for babies under 6 months of age, $35 for babies between 6 months and 1 year old, and $50 for babies between 1 and 2 years old. This was a great blow to the suddenly-aroused ardor, but the news that was next imparted reduced the enthusiasm still more. It was that none of the money would become available for nineteen years at the least as it must be deposited in a bank to the winning baby's credit and must not be drawn until the baby is 21 years of age.

The baby show was arranged to further the movement for "taking emotionalism out of baby shows and reducing them to matters of cold judgment."

NO CHINESE WALL OF STATE RATES

Commerce Court, Deciding Shreveport-Texas Case, Holds That Inter-State Trade Must Be Free.

DISCRIMINATION FORBIDDEN

Reduction of Rates on Anthracite Upheld, Lehigh Valley Making Out No Case of Confiscation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Commerce Court to-day handed down two important rate decisions. In both cases the Inter-State Commerce Commission was upheld.

In one case the Commerce Court upheld the commission's orders in the Shreveport-Texas rate litigation, and in many respects sustained principles which the railroads are asking the United States Supreme Court to adopt in the forty-five State rate cases—frequently bulked as the Minnesota rate case—now awaiting decision. The Commerce Court entirely upheld the powers of Congress and the Inter-State Commerce Commission to remove discriminations caused by a State Railroad Commission enforcing intra-State rates lower than inter-State rates, which had been held to be reasonable.

In the other case decided, the Commerce Court upheld the right of the Commerce Commission to reduce the rates on anthracite coal from the Wyoming region in Pennsylvania to tidewater at Perth Amboy, N. J., rejecting the petition of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for an order enjoining the reduction.

The facts of the Shreveport-Texas case are simple.

Shreveport desires to compete with Dallas for the trade of the intervening territory, most of which is in Texas, but is handicapped by the fact that the inter-State rates from Shreveport to this territory are very much higher than the State rates from Dallas. The inter-State rates are established by the carrier, subject to the control of the Inter-State Commerce Commission; the State rates are fixed absolutely by the Texas Commission.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission found that the Texas intra-State rates were imposed in pursuance of a settled policy to give Texas jobbers an advantage over their competitors in other States.

The commission ordered the carriers complained of to remove the discrimination. The carriers thereupon filed a petition in the Commerce Court to set aside the order on the ground that the commission had no control over the Texas rates fixed by a State commission. The Commerce Court rejects this contention and holds that the action of the Texas Commission resulted in a violation of the "undue preference" section of the Federal act. The court further holds that the obedience of the carriers is due to the superior authority of the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

In the anthracite coal case, in which a reduction of rates was ordered by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the Lehigh Valley appealed from the order on the ground that its application to its whole property would amount to confiscation. The Lehigh Valley contended that, although the reduction was only on a part of the freight it carried, the effect would be to cut down the income on the investment value of its whole property to approximately 4 per cent. on the alleged value of $312,000,000, and that it was, therefore, a confiscatory order. The carrier contended that 8 per cent. was reasonable.

The Commerce Court held that the carrier could not say that, because the rate on some single commodity was reduced to a point which would result in the income of the whole road being reduced to 4 per cent. approximately, a case of confiscation was made out. The court says it devolved upon the carrier to show that its rates, other than upon the single commodity affected, are in fact reasonably high and cannot be advanced above the point fixed by the tariffs it has filed. The court further holds that it cannot lay down general rules as to what is just compensation secured by the Constitution to a carrier.

Bay State Request for Hearings.

BOSTON, April 27.—By a strict party vote the Senate, which is strongly Republican, to-day adopted a resolution requesting Congress to give interested parties sufficient time to be heard on the new tariff bill.

CARLETON ESTATE IN DEBT.

Popular Poet, Despite Wide Fame, Left Too Little for Bills.

When the appraisal of the estate of Will Carleton, famed as the author of "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse" and long regarded as "the poet of the people," was filed in Brooklyn yesterday, it developed that, despite the popularity of his verse, he had died poor. The estate really amounts to less than nothing. Mr. Carleton's death occurred last December. By his will, he left all he possessed to Norman E. Goodrich. The Transfer Tax Appraiser found that the gross assets held by the poet, including the copyright on his books, amounted to less than $3,000. After deducting for the payment of the funeral expenses and other bills, it was found that $75 was needed to square the accounts.

Fame came to Mr. Carleton with the publication of his "Betsy and I Are Out," in 1871. It struck a keynote and was followed in a year by a volume of dialect poems, "Farm Ballads," forty thousand copies of which were sold in a short time.

$2,000 FOR MISAPPLIED ART.

Auction for the Benefit of the Blind Leaves a Few Gems.

About $2,000 was obtained for the blind through the sale of pictures of the Academy of Misapplied Art on Tuesday evening, according to the final estimate of Miss Winifred Holt, Secretary of the Association for the Blind.

The auction, as conducted by Job E. Hedges, Irvin S. Cobb, and others—regrets were received from Caruso and "Ty" Cobb—proved as much a minstrel show as a business affair, and was consequently prolonged to an hour when the best bidders were forced to retire.

Some of the pictures were therefore not put up for sale and can be now seen at 111 East Fifty-ninth Street from 4 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Bids for the remaining pictures will be received at any time. Among the works of art still to be had by Cubist enthusiasts are "Tranquillity," by Cecilia Beaux; several fine pieces by Robert V. V. Sewell, "A Credulous Public Going to the Armory Show," by Frederick Waugh; "A Baby Sucking Its Thumb," by William Mackay, and others.

CHARITIES TO GET $80,000.

Mrs. Eaton Leaves $20,000 Now and $60,000 After Heirs' Deaths.

By the will of Mrs. Cornelia Eaton, who died on Feb. 12, 1912, leaving a net estate of $114,300, charitable institutions receive $20,000 outright and $60,000 dependent upon the life estate of two beneficiaries. The Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor and the Catholic Foundling Asylum receive $2,500 apiece, and the Presbyterian Hospital $15,000.

William S. Eaton, the husband, receives the income from $30,000 for life, after which the principal passes to St. Vincent's Hospital. Edward Carpenter receives a like bequest, the principal passing to the Catholic Church of St. Francis Xavier.

FAINTS IN LIBERTY STATUE.

Young Woman Collapses as She Looks Out from Top.

Among the visitors who went out from the Battery on the steamer Herman S. Caswell to climb up the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island yesterday were Miss Margaret Donovan, 18 years old, of 527 West Twenty-fifth Street, and her friend, Miss Gladys Revere, 19, of Hawthorne Avenue, Yonkers.

After the long climb up the narrow winding stair to the head of the statue, and just as she started to look out of the window, Miss Donovan was seized with an attack of dizziness, and fell back into the arms of her friend and fainted.

This blocked the stairway for a few minutes until she recovered and was led down the steps to the air by Miss Revere. The young woman soon revived, and was able to return on the steamer to the Battery.

It was the winding staircase and the heat, and not the height of the window, Miss Donovan said afterward, that caused her to have the attack of dizziness.

Asks Court to Keep Wife Here.

Benjamin F. Ducas, President of the Ducas Chemical Company, filed a petition yesterday in the Supreme Court to restrain his wife, Rachel, from spending the Summer at her home in Alsace-Lorraine. Ducas and his wife have been separated since 1906, when he agreed to pay her $6,000 a year, provided that she would keep their child where he could see it every week. According to the petition, Mrs. Ducas took the child abroad last Summer in violation of the agreement, and he asks the court to issue an order restraining her from repeating the act this year.

BRYCE'S GOOD-BYE TO THIS 'LAND OF HOPE'

and lectured at all our universities, and have carried away, in addition to the consciousness of service well performed, colored hoods and gowns enough to make Joseph's coat of many colors seem plain by comparison.

"Oh, Mr. Bryce, we're terribly sorry to lose you!" he exclaimed in a trembling voice "England has sent many Ambassadors, and will send many more, but there's only one Bryce in the list. When he sails away from San Francisco in a few days, every American heart will be weeping and feeling sorry indeed that we're losing you!"

Mr. Bryce Responds.

As Mr. Bryce, greatly moved by the earnestness of his old friend's tribute and words of farewell, rose to reply, he was greeted with a chorus of "For he's a jolly good fellow," sung heartily from all the tables. He told the Pilgrims that he was so deeply touched by their cordial welcome and their even more heartfelt words of farewell that he had difficulty in telling them in return how warmly he felt toward them and their land.

"In my journeys up and down your country," he said, "addressing your universities, Boards of Trade, and other organizations, and warmly welcomed by all of them, I have come to feel almost a citizen of the United States; and if that were not incompatible with the position of British Ambassador, I think I should have applied sometimes in that capacity to give advice about the running of your domestic affairs. The nearest I came to that, however, was once when I received requests from both your political parties for campaign contributions to their funds."

Mr. Bryce paid tribute to former Secretary of State Root, whom, he said, he had learned to admire not only for his brilliant gifts, but for his high sense of honor and desire to do right to all nations of the earth. He added that what he had seen of the present Secretary of State led him to believe that Mr. Bryan was actuated by the same earnest desire to act rightly and fairly and to do all he could to preserve peace and friendship between the United States and all the countries of the world. Then, he dropped the personal note and continued:

"My mission here has been not merely to represent my sovereign and Government for diplomatic purposes, but also to bear a message of friendship from the British to the American people. No two peoples in the world are so called upon, one might say, so appointed by Providence, to be friends to one another. It was not merely that the original stock of those who founded this great Republic came from England to Virginia and New England, for many new elements that are neither English nor British have been subsequently added. It is that their first settlers brought with them a language, a literature, a system of institutions, political traditions, and, above all, a love of ordered freedom, which have spread out over the whole of the United States, have formed the character of its people, and are to-day a common inheritance on which the greatness and the moral strength of your people and of our people are based. It is in these things that our unity lies; it is from this fountain head that our fraternal friendship must continue to flow.

Never Suggested an Alliance.

"In that friendship there is not, and there ought not to be, anything exclusive. I have never suggested that you and we should make any sort of alliance against the rest of the world. We may usefully co-operate for many purposes, because our aims and our spirits are substantially the same. But what we desire is that the ties of friendship which bind the United States and Great Britain to one another should be extended to embrace other countries also. One can set no bounds to the influence for good which two countries that can trust one another and cherish the same ideals may exercise on the whole world in favor of peace, making all countries see that peace is the true interest of all.

"I know that this is the feeling of the British people, I believe that it is the feeling of your people also, and say so not merely from my personal observation but from what I have observed in the organs of public opinion. There are, of course, some exceptions. In every country there are newspapers which seem to wish to make mischief and to embitter every difference of opinion that arises. But these exceptions are in this country happily very few. The American press as a whole has shown in these later years a fairness and friendliness toward other nations—most, perhaps, but not exclusively, to Great Britain—a respect for international obligations and a desire to fulfill them in a straightforward and honorable way, which, as I believe, represent the true and general sentiment of the whole American people. Differences and controversies must needs from time to time arise, but there is no reason why these should disturb the amity and concord of peoples.

"Everywhere one finds some petty and narrow minds that try to play upon the meaner parts of human nature and stir up discord, but they count for little with the great nations. A nation is known by the heroes it produces and the heroes it reveres. Your Nation, which produced and followed and loved and honored George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, has always been most truly represented by those statesmen and writers who have imbibed the spirit and have tried to walk in the steps of those two heroes: heroes who loved peace and justice and in whose minds no bitter or selfish thoughts found lodgment. With good will and with a conviction that one of every nation's highest assets is that sense of national honor which will make it live up to its international obligations, all questions between nations can be adjusted, and I am sure that any questions between your country and mine will be adjusted in that way, and with no diminution of good will and mutual respect.

Six Eventful Years.

"These have been six eventful years for the United States as well as for Europe. Here, too, you have your difficulties. I see that they make some among you anxious for the future. In watching with the keenest interest what has been passing here I find for you two strong grounds of hope. One is the fact that you have standing between and detached from those two classes which seem to be everywhere in the world now opposed to one another, the large capitalists and employers on the one hand and organized labor on the other, a third body; that large body of sensible and fair-minded citizens, especially among your rural population; persons who own the land they till and the houses they live in, men who can hold the balance between the other classes and moderate any antagonism that might arise between them. Such an element in a nation gives it strength and stability, and it is an element larger here than anywhere else in the world.

"The other fact is that the standard of civic duty among all your citizens is steadily rising. There is a larger proportion of men now in your cities who are resolved to secure good government by working for it. There is a more settled purpose to root out abuses and improve the lot of those who need help and protection than there ever was before. There is a higher conception of the duty which the rich owe to the poor and which we all owe to secure just and upright administration.

"We are all apt, when our own ideals are rising, to be more dissatisfied with the contrast between ideals and practice. But this affords no reason for despondency. Let whoever begins to despond look back and see how much worse things were at previous epochs in your history than they are now. There have been many times in the United States when your sky was darkened by clouds, and many times the clouds have vanished away. No country has shown greater powers of overcoming difficulties and escaping from dangers than America has done.

"We in Britain shall watch from afar your onward march with the warmest sympathy and with confident hopes that you will show to all mankind the example not only of a nation of always growing prosperity but also of a constant progress toward those noble ideals which fired the imagination of the founders of your Republic and have made Europeans look to America as the Land of Hope."

Walter H. Page, the new Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, spoke briefly, complimenting Mr. Bryce as an instructor of Americans in the principles of their own Government, and expressing the hope that Mr. Bryce would continue in his later years to add to the series of works on Government already written by him.

LAND BILL ASSAILED BY JAPAN SOCIETY

Telegram to President Wilson Upholds Him on California Question.

STATE IS CENSURED WIDELY

Proposed Exclusion of Japanese from Realty Ownership Laid to Local Selfishness.

The Executive Committee of the Japan Society held a meeting yesterday afternoon in its office, 165 Broadway, to decide what action to take concerning the California question. Lindsay Russell, President, was in the chair. He asked the committeemen to express opinions. The expressions varied, but the members were one in the assertion that California had no right to discriminate against the Japanese. Every speaker said he was sorry to see a State causing trouble for the whole United States with Japan. Many denounced the action of the California Legislature on the land bill.

John Franklin Fort, ex-Governor of New Jersey, said there were no State lines under the treaty power.

"A State has nothing to say about it," he said in regard to a treaty, "and its territory in no way is inviolate against treaty provisions. The States yielded everything relating to the making of Governmental compacts with other nations—as to the rights guaranteed to the citizens or subjects of a foreign nation in their boundaries; questions as to aliens holding titles to lands; privileges and immunities of foreigners while temporarily here or when domiciled in any State. On all these and kindred subjects, where treaties covering them exist, the State authorities are simply as if no State existed. All State laws which conflict with any treaty provision are void, 'anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.'"

Japan Friendly, He Says.

Hamilton Holt, managing editor of the Independent; who went to Japan last year to study the Japanese sentiment toward America, said there never had been a time since Commodore Perry's visit when a bad feeling was shown toward this country by Japan, whereas that country often had been annoyed by California.

Howard Mansfield, a Director of the Metropolitan Museum, condemned California's action.

"The Japanese farmers formerly were welcomed by California," said he. "Now they are not, simply because they are so competent that other farmers are afraid."

Isaac N. Seligman, banker, thought the trouble was due to labor unions.

Martin Egan, editor of The Manila Times, said the American people did not understand fully how scrupulously the Japanese Government was fulfilling the "gentlemen's agreement" with this country to limit emigration to the Pacific States.

"I am assured that it has reduced materially the number of its people in our Western States," he added, "but the facts are susceptible of demonstration to mathematical certainty. I should like to see an inquiry that would disclose the figures.

"No Japanese Government can or will writes a treaty in which it writes its people down as inferior. I recently read the view of a member of the United States Senate, and his brutality could not have been more offensive. The gentleman must have had the hide of a crocodile.

"President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are striving hard for the honorable adjustment of this question. All Americans should uphold their hands."

President Russell appointed Willard D. Straight, Mr. Egan, and Dr. William Bayard Hale a committee to draft the following telegram, which was sent to President Wilson:

> Deeply impressed by the gravity of the issue raised by the proposal of the California Legislature to enact measures which ignore the treaty obligations of the United States and which are directed against a friendly nation which has scrupulously observed its engagements to this country, the Executive Committee of the Japan Society to-day resolved that it support the President in all he is doing to maintain the honor of the Nation.

State's Course Condemned.

Mr. Russell had received many letters and telegrams. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, wired from Cambridge:

> The California law is the result of local selfishness and exclusiveness, combined with ignorance of the Japanese people, of the real wishes of the Japanese Government, and of existing conditions of international competition. Thanks, however, to the wise action of President Wilson, its ill-effects seems likely to be limited.

Seth Low wrote:

> The Japanese are a proud people and justly so. They are entitled at our hands to the same treatment as the proudest nations of Europe. The Californians are entitled to such alien land laws as they please, provided they treat all aliens alike. They are not entitled to discriminate against a nation like the Japanese, nor to take action in violation of treaties of the United States. I heartily concur in the sagacious and patriotic stand of President Wilson.

Jacob H. Schiff cabled:

> No country, even if mighty, can long ignore with immunity its treaty obligations as we are threatening to do, both with England and Japan, nor do I believe that the innate sense of righteousness of the American people will permit this to be done.

Andrew Carnegie telegraphed:

> My advice to our friends is not to become unduly excited. Japan and our Republic have been and are friends, and mean always to remain so. California needs an increase of population, and small indeed is the number of Japanese landholders. There is no occasion for rash action. The President is only performing his duty when he reminds California that our Government has entered into treaties which the States as loyal members are bound to acknowledge as the supreme law. California is not less loyal to the Union than her sister States.

Dr. David Starr Jordan wired:

> The bill prohibiting land holding of aliens ineligible to citizenship would pass immediately and the Governor would sign it. Secretary Bryan's proposed visit next week means postponement. All delay works against schemes. Most but not all intelligent sentiment is opposed to anti-Japanese legislation. If the bill passes the matter should be settled once for all in the Federal courts. It seems absolutely certain no State has jurisdiction in discriminating against aliens—no State can make a foreign alliance nor have a foreign quarrel.

Lloyd C. Griscom, formerly American Ambassador to Japan, telegraphed:

> I sincerely hope that the Japan Society will do everything in its power to uphold President Wilson and Secretary Bryan in the statesmanlike and patriotic efforts they are making to bring about a just and honorable solution of the Californian situation.

TITANIC VICTIM'S ESTATE.

W. F. Hoyt, Who Died in Lifeboat, Left More Than $50,000.

The appraisal of the estate of William F. Hoyt, a member of the lace importing firm of Houghton, Lee & Hoyt of 15 West Thirty-fourth Street, who perished on the Titanic on April 15, 1912, was filed yesterday, showing New York assets of $21,293 and life insurance of $32,250. The insurance was made payable to Mr. Hoyt's mother, Mrs. Helen M. Hoyt, who lives in Ocean Park, Cal., and was therefore not taxable in New York. The remainder of the estate passed, by the inter-State laws, to Mr. Hoyt's father, Charles E. Hoyt.

According to an affidavit of Gordon C. Hoyt of Cleveland, Ohio, a brother, William F. Hoyt was taken from the water into one of the Titanic's lifeboats, but died before the arrival of the Carpathia. No claim against the White Star Line was given in the schedules of the estate as an asset.

BIG EQUITABLE MORTGAGE.

Undertaking for $20,500,000 Given by Building Corporation.

T. Coleman du Pont of Delaware and his associates, forming the Equitable Office Building Corporation, took title yesterday to the block formerly occupied by the old Equitable Building, bounded by Broadway and Nassau, Cedar and Pine Streets. At the same time the new owners gave to the Equitable Life Assurance Society a mortgage of $20,500,000, to run until May 1, 1974. According to the record as filed in the Register's Office, it is to be paid in gold, a designation which is very unusual in the recording of mortgages.

This mortgage is the largest that ever has been placed on a single piece of New York real estate. The recording tax was $102,500. The mortgage includes a loan of $7,000,000, made yesterday by the Equitable Life Assurance Society on the new thirty-six-story office building for which plans have been drawn. It is to bear 2 per cent. on all money advanced on the $7,000,000 up to May 1, 1919, and thereafter the rate will be 5 per cent, payable semi-annually, on the remainder of the principal and interest.

The Equitable block, which has been called the most valuable block in the city, is assessed by the city at $9,500,000, but the selling price was said to be close to $12,000,000. The new building, which is estimated to cost fully $10,000,000, will add another skyscraper to the large number in the lower part of the city. Many suggestions have been made since the destruction of the old Equitable Building over a year ago by fire that the block should be kept free of a high building as a necessary breathing space for that part of the city.

The Thompson-Starrett Company will put up the new structure. Workmen have been busy for several months in removing the heavy steel and cement foundations of the safe deposit vaults on the Broadway and Cedar Street corner. When this is completed, according to Louis Horowitz of the construction company, work on the foundations for the mammoth office building will be begun.

The Equitable Office Building Corporation was incorporated in Albany a few days ago with a capital of $400,000. Mr. du Pont, Lewis L. Dunham, and Ross A. Mackey were named as Directors.

RUMELY OFFICERS EXPLAIN.

Business Booming, They Say—Fall in Stock, Due to Stock Jobbing.

Special to The New York Times.

LA PORTE, Ind., April 25—Officers of the Rumely Company to-night, commenting on the decline of their stocks, said:

"The market of Rumely stock, as reported in the Stock Exchanges, is a reflection only of stock jobbing operations. The Rumely Company sales this year so far are more than 40 per cent. greater than last year during the corresponding time. The company's property has increased in values and amount, and its obligations are provided for. The company has added many new lines which now give employment to the selling organization the entire year, while previously the sales operations were principally confined to three or four months. Many of the articles in these new lines are sold for cash and on short time, which reduces the general average of credits."

BEDFORD NEEDS $500,000.

Investigators Report on Means to Relieve Congestion at Reformatory.

A report of an investigation which examiners on the staff of the President of the Board of Aldermen have been making for the past two weeks of the New York State Reformatory for Women at Bedford Hills, N. Y., was given out yesterday. It shows that there are 500 girls in the reformatory, whereas the maximum capacity is 320. To accommodate the extra 180 inmates it is necessary to place cots in the corridors and parlors of the cottages, in the gymnasium, and even in the lavatories.

After carefully studying the needs of reformatory, these estimates of the appropriations needed have been submitted to Gov. Sulzer:

Additional land	$30,000
Four cottages for industrial group	120,000
Three cottages, farm group	60,000
Three cottages, custodial group	60,000
Hospital	40,000
Chapel with first floor amusement Hall	60,000
Staff house for teachers and clerical staff	30,000
Additional water supply, heating, lighting, &c	40,000
Sewage disposal	25,000
Equipment of new buildings and incidentals	15,000
Road from railway station	15,000
New roads to new groups of buildings	5,000
Total	$500,000

Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, Superintendent of the Reformatory, said that whatever success the institution had had since it was established in 1901 was due to the cottage plan on which it was built. The examiners also reported in favor of this plan.

CALIFORNIANS SEEK TO LIMIT BRYAN

CALL JUSTICE IMPERATIVE.

Missionaries in Japan Praise the President's Course.

American missionaries in Japan are embarrassed by the California land question, according to Dr. Arthur J. Brown, Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, 156 Fifth Avenue. He said yesterday a meeting of those men was held in Tokio the same day, and it was decided to send the following cable message to him, as Chairman of the Committee of Reference and Council, which is the Executive Committee of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America:

> Missionaries in Japan appreciate the President's efforts in the California matter and ask their constituents to aid in creating a just sentiment. This is imperative.

"We feel keenly sensitive to anything which might lessen the confidence of Asiatic nations in our fairness and justice," said Dr. Brown in part "We do not fail to recognize that our countrymen in California are facing a difficult problem, nor do we presume to discuss the precise form which legislation should take, for that, of course, must be determined by those who are directly responsible for it. We are gratified by the statement of the Governor of California that his 'protest has been and is against discrimination,' and that the 'State will not willingly do anything to which there could be just objection, National or International.'"

Exporters Applaud Sending of Bryan

At a meeting of the Directors of the American Manufacturers' Export Association a resolution was passed endorsing the "action of the Federal Government in sending Secretary of State Bryan to California to confer with the State authorities," and adding:

"American foreign business both export and import is of such extent and value that this association deprecates greatly the action of any individual State which may jeopardize this established commerce."

E. M. GAINES DIES; SUICIDE ON STREET

Realty Man Leaves Wife Ostensibly to Mail Letters and Shoots Himself.

FIRST GREETS PATROLMAN

Suffered from Nervous Trouble and Was to Have Visited Rockefeller Institute.

Edward M. Gaines, in his apartment at 150 East Thirty-fifth Street, was much occupied for two hours after dinner last evening in writing many letters which, he explained to Mrs. Gaines, dealt with some of his real estate business, and were so pressing that they could not wait until morning. It was almost 10 o'clock when he sealed the eighth letter, stuffed that and all the others into his pocket and told his wife he would go out to mail them. The little turn in the cool evening air would do him good, he said, and out he went.

At Thirty-fifth Street and Lexington Avenue he met Patrolman Bewick, who long had been on duty in that neighborhood and whose greeting was familiar to Gaines.

"Good evening, officer," said Gaines, saluting with his cane. "Isn't this fine weather? I'm out to mail a few letters."

Bewick returned the greeting with his nightstick and went along Thirty-fifth Street toward the police station. He had not gone fifty yards when he was halted by a pistol shot behind him. Running back to the corner he found Mr. Gaines sitting slouched on the broad window ledge of Packard's Commercial School, at the corner. Gaines was unconscious. There was a bullet wound in his right temple and his hand clutched a shining new revolver.

Two detectives from the same station as the patrolman also had heard the shots. They reached the corner in time to help Bewick carry the wounded man to the station. Mr. Gaines did not regain consciousness. He died almost immediately after the ambulance carried him to Bellevue Hospital.

In his pocket were the eight letters. They were not stamped for mailing, and they were addressed, not to business acquaintances, but to his mother, brothers, and sisters, all of St. Louis, or that was his home town. It is supposed they contain an explanation of his intention to commit suicide. Unopened, they were turned over to the Coroner. There was no letter for Mrs. Gaines, but an open note in the realty man's wallet directed that she be notified.

From Mrs. Gaines it was learned that her husband had suffered acutely from nervous trouble for many months, and that on Monday next he was to have gone to the Rockefeller Institute for a diagnosis of his case. In his wallet was found a card with the record of his appointment.

Mr. Gaines was 43 years old. His office was at Forty-second Street and Madison Avenue.

SAY MISS LEISHMAN CANNOT BE DUCHESS

American Girl Barred from Title, Germans Assert, by Suit Her Fiance Won.

DEFEATED COUSIN'S PLAN

But the Ambassador's Daughter, if She Weds, Will Come Very Close to Royalty.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 25.—German aristocratic society, which had their first authentic news of Miss Nancy Leishman's engagement to the Duke of Croy from the republication here of THE NEW YORK TIMES announcement of last week, are now busily discussing the question whether the daughter of the American Ambassador will ever be recognized as a full Duchess or even entitled to call herself Duchess. The consensus of expert opinion seems to be that she will not.

Legal proceedings to prevent the Duke of Croy conferring the rank of Duchess on his bride is regarded as inevitable. A precedent for them exists by the freak of fate in a case begun on behalf of the Duke himself when a minor by his guardian, with the object of debarring the offspring of his cousin, Prince Philip of Croy, who married an English woman, Elizabeth Mary Parnell, from ranking as Princes of Croy, or enjoying any of the prerogatives of the house of Croy. The suit ended in the Duke's favor. The Duke now purposes to contract a matrimonial alliance of the same kind as that which he succeeded in persuading the courts not to recognize.

Those who are discussing the Croy-Leishman betrothal say that certain members of the Croy family with long memories would welcome the opportunity to train on Duke Karl the same artillery that he once turned on them. An authority on the matter, speaking to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, said:

"Two views may be taken of the Duke of Croy's position. One is that the ducal Croy title is a French title, and is not subject to any restrictions regarding equality of birth in marriage. Miss Leishman would thus be the Duchess of Croy, even if her children should be deprived of any rights to the family estates in Westphalia.

"The other view is that the Duke of Croy, who became a German sovereign in 1801, was thereby elevated to a rank above that of a French Duke, which he previously was. His offspring, therefore, are to be regarded as mediatized with the incidental obliteration of the old rank and title of French Dukes.

"In this case Miss Leishman, as a morganatic bride, could never, in Germany, at least, even take the name of her husband. She would suffer the same fate as Fraulein Marie Grathwohl, who had to content herself with the name of Baroness Bronn after marrying Prince Karl zu Hohenlohe-Langenburg, a kinsman of the Kaiser.

"Everything depends on the latitude which the house laws of the Croy family permit the young Duke. I fear that neither he nor his prospective father-in-law has gone as thoroughly into the question, as might have been done."

Whatever the authorities think about Miss Leishman's future rank and title, it is certai nthat she is coming closer to marrying a real member of European royalty than any American girl has ever done before. Her future husband, as the Sovereign Duke of Dülmen in Westphalia, is a member of the so-called high German nobility, who is not subject to any ordinary jurisdiction, but has his own exclusive house laws. The House of Croy, therefore, is the indisputable equal of reigning dynasties. That has already been recognized in the case of the marriage in 1912 of the Duke of Croy's only sister, Princess Isabella, on full terms of royal equality with Prince Franz of Bavaria, third son of the present Prince Regent. The Duke's aunt, sister of his father, has been the wife for thirty-five years of the Archduke Frederick of Austria, brother of the Dowager Queen Marie Christine of Spain.

It seems fairly certain, however, that Miss Leishman as an American girl can never obtain membership in the high German nobility, and that no child could ever succeed the present Duke as sovereign of Dülmen.

KAISER MAY LOSE A YACHT.

Government Fears Hostile Vote on $2,500,000 Appropriation.

BERLIN, April 25.—The risk of the rejection by the Imperial Parliament of an appropriation of $2,500,000 to build a new yacht for Emperor William is so great that an urgent summons has been sent to all "loyal" Deputies to be present in force when the matter comes up for debate.

The Socialists, it is understood, intend to demand a rollcall on the third reading of the appropriation, and the Poles, the Danes, the Alsatians and many of the Southern German members of the Clerical Centre Party have announced their intention of voting against the expenditure.

It is pointed out by the Government that only in the event of a full House being assembled can the passage of the appropriation be assured.

DELAY FOR MONTENEGRO.

Powers Decide to Await King Nicholas's Decision on Scutari.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—The Ambassadorial Conference met to-day and considered the Austrian note, urging prompt and decisive action on the part of Europe against Montenegro, to vindicate its authority. It was decided before discussing coercive steps to await the result of the notification to King Nicholas that the capture of Scutari does not affect the powers' decision that the town must form a part of autonomous Albania.

Harold Spender, writing in The Daily News, says that Montenegro followed up the Austrian note by offering to leave Scutari on conditions. She won't accept money, but wants territorial compensation in the shape of freer access to the sea and easier access to the frontier town of Ipek.

CETTINJE, April 25.—Conditions in the fortress of Scutari on Wednesday last, when Essad Pasha surrendered to the Montenegrins, were appalling. The Turkish troops and the whole population were in a state of such extreme exhaustion from lack of food that Essad Pasha had been threatened with death unless he agreed to the capitulation of the city. When the victors entered they were surrounded by half-starved men and women clamoring for food.

The hospitals also were in a horrible condition. Unburied and semi-decomposed corpses were lying about in the streets, and in the houses many people were found dead or dying of exhaustion.

In the last few days of the siege, whenever Essad Pasha appeared in public he was followed by groups of desperate, famished natives demanding "Bread or surrender!"

The Montenegrins alleviated the immediate distress of the population, but their own supplies of food were scanty. King Nicholas has despatched three boats to Scutari, laden with provisions and medical and sanitary supplies.

Crown Prince Danilo, commander of the Montenegrin forces, telegraphs from Scutari that the Turkish garrison, which was allowed to march out of the fortress with the full honors of war, consisted of 26,000 nizams, or soldiers of the active army; 5,000 bashibazouks, or irregular volunteers; and 458 officers, including a number of Austrians.

The spoils of war taken by the Montenegrins included forty-six quick-firing canon and twelve howitzers, with a number of heavy siege guns.

WEALTHY PARISIAN KILLED.

Emile Froment-Meurice and His Wife Die When House Collapses.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 25.—Emile Froment-Meurice and his wife, prominent members of Paris society, were killed in an extraordinary accident this evening.

They were dining with their grandson François in their four-story residence in the Rue d'Anjou, only a few yards from the Presidential palace, when suddenly, with a violent shock, the house split in twain and the Froment-Meurices were precipitated with the ruins into the twenty-foot excavation adjoining the house.

The firemen soon arrived and located the victims by a feebl cry for help from Francois, who was rescued, suffering from shock, but only slightly bruised. His escape was miraculous, for by his side were the crushed bodies of his grandparents. The cook and footman also escaped uninjured.

The accident was caused by the weakening of the foundations of the house in consequence of the next-door excavations.

The son of the victims is a leading member of the Paris Municipal Council.

JEERS AT BRYAN PLAN.

French Writer Says It Is a Poet's Idea—Praised in London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 25.—"Mr. Bryan is a poet. Plato would not have such persons in his republic. Perhaps Plato was right."

Thus Clément Vautel, a witty Matin contributor, comments on the Secretary of State's proposal for the establishment of international commissions to arbitrate all disputes between nations.

"Can any one imagine," M. Vautel continues, "an injured nation rushing to an Areopagus of old fossils and asking whether it were permissible to return a Roland for an Oliver? An individual might, perhaps, be so angelically sweet-tempered; a nation, never.

"The Government which would consent to such proceedings would be promptly fired."

This is the only comment so far on Mr. Bryan's proposal.

LONDON, April 25.—"Secretary of State Bryan's peace proposal, laid before the Diplomatic Corps at Washington yesterday, has all the simplicity characteristic of the great idea," says The Evening Standard to-day, "but whether it is practical only time can show. The gravest discredit will be reflected on any European Government which does not welcome the communication and give it the fullest and most sympathetic consideration."

PRINCE A FRESH AIR HOST.

Kaiser's Heir Will Give Seaside Outing to Berlin Children.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 25.—From the profits of his book, "My Indian Hunting Diary," the Crown Prince has decided to send 100 Berlin board school children to the seaside for a holiday.

The children are to be lodged for three weeks at the Prince's expense at the barracks of his hussar regiment at Langfuhr, Danzig.

Prohibits Saloons in Canal Zone.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PANAMA, April 25.—The Canal Commission to-day passed a resolution not to issue any saloon or liquor licenses in the Canal Zone after July 1, when the present licenses will expire. The zone is to be maintained as "dry" territory.

A LABOR CONFLICT IN BRITTANY NEAR

Government Fears Riots Far More Serious Than in the Champagne District.

"JACQUERIE" IS EXPECTED

Fight Is Between Fishermen Working in Old Way and Canners Who Have Adopted Modern Methods.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 25.—The imminent possibility that 50,000 men will be starving in Brittany in consequence of the threatened lockout of fishermen by the canneries has stirred the Government to energetic action with a view to patching up the differences dividing the masters and men before the beginning of June, when the lockout takes effect. A grave situation is likely to arise on the entire Breton coast.

The sardine fishing crisis was explained in a NEW YORK TIMES dispatch last January. Since then the intervention of the dead season has resulted in the dispute being disregarded. Now, however, earnest efforts are being made to avert the prospect of a "jacquerie" compared with which the champagne riots would be an insignificant disturbance.

The Breton fight is one between labor forces impregnated with the working traditions of many centuries on the one hand, and employers who have adopted modern canning methods at great expense, but are unable to induce the fishermen to deliver a sufficient quantity of sardines to make the operation of the plants profitable on the other hand.

M. de Monzie, who has been appointed to the newly created Under Secretaryship of the Merchant Marine, is devoting his entire attention to what is generally admitted to be one of the gravest labor conflicts in France for many years.

He has been so far successful as to induce the parties provisionally to consent to arbitration, but those knowing the temper of the hardy Breton fishermen, who are making what they regard as a desperate fight for their livelihood, think that it will be a miracle if Brittany be not transformed into a sanguinary battlefield in the course of a month or two.

The shadow of desolation now overhanging Brittany is further darkened by another economic hardship. Ever since the eleventh century Breton women have been famous makers of beautiful lace. Lately, however, there has been a serious falling off in the demand for this lace, which is rather costly, and they are unable to overcome the competition of cheap imitations.

Thus, while the male population is likely to be idle, the womenfolk will be unable to keep the wolf from the door.

KRUPPS MINIMIZE GIFTS.

Director Hugenberg Says None Exceeded $25 "at Christmas."

ESSEN, April 25.—The indignation of Herr Hugenberg, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Krupp gun and armament works here, has been aroused by the great publicity given to the recent disclosures in connection with the alleged bribery of officials of the German War Office by a representative of the Krupp firm in order to obtain information as to pending military contracts.

In a conversation with a reporter of the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette, a Krupp organ, Herr Hugenberg said the scale of the alleged bribes given to War Office employes and military underlings in Berlin amounted to "several four-mark, eight-mark, and twenty-mark bills, and in one or two cases a hundred-mark bill ($1, $2, $5, and $25) at Christmas." These amounts, it is pointed out, are somewhat disproportionate to the small salary out of which Krupps's representative is alleged to have made his "presents."

Director Hugenberg strongly protested against the uproar over what he called such a "small matter," and asked whether he or his colleagues were such fools as to risk their reputations and positions for such trifles as the confidential reports in question. He demanded to know whether Krupps' interest in the integrity of German military officials was not at least as great as that of Dr. Liebknecht, the Socialist Deputy.

The firm of Krupps, he said, would not fail to punish properly the culprit or culprits.

PEACE DELEGATES SEE KING.

British Monarch Receives Committee About to Sail for America.

LONDON, April 25.—King George this afternoon gave his benediction to the Anglo-American celebration of the centenary of peace between the British Empire and the United States. At Buckingham Palace he received Lord Weardale and the other members of the British committee, who sail for America to-morrow on board the Caronia.

The King told the delegates he was keenly interested in the peace celebration, and hoped it would bring the English-speaking nations into closer relation.

King's Annoyer a Lunatic.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 25.—The man who caused a sensation at Crewe station by attempting to enter the royal saloon carriage on the occasion of the recent visit of the King and Queen and died as the result of self-inflicted injuries, has been certified as a lunatic.

Latin-Americans Praise Bryan.

BUENOS AIRES, April 25.—An expression of the fullest approval of the attitude of Secretary Bryan in connection with the relations between the United States and the Latin-American nations is published to-day by La Nación. The newspaper considers that President Wilson has spread confidence and sympathy by eliminating the causes which were arousing suspicions of Monroeism. In this way, it says, he favors commercial expansion.

LOVESICK PAIR LEAP FROM TOWER

Youth and Girl Throw Themselves from Antwerp Cathedral Belfry.

ANTWERP, April 25.—A youth 18 years old and a 19-year-old girl were the principal characters in a shocking love tragedy enacted here to-day. Arm in arm they climbed to the clock gallery in the tower of the Cathedral, and from a height of 180 feet leaped into space, falling at the feet of passersby.

Every bone in the bodies of the boy and his companion was broken. As they hurtled through the air several men and women who witnessed the sight fainted.

According to the police, the leap from the church tower was in accordance with a double suicide agreement.

The tragedy occurred at a time when the glove market, in front of the north tower of the cathedral, was thronged with pedestrians, a large number of whom stood transfixed, helpless witnesses of every phase of the drama.

The youth and the girl had purchased from the porter at the entrance tickets of admission to visit the tower, from which a wide view is possible. The porter noticed nothing unusual in their demeanor as he escorted the couple to the stairway, and saw them start to climb the flight of 622 steps leading to the top gallery, with its chimes of 99 bells. That the act of the lovers was premeditated is shown by the fact that they had placed five letters, one addressed to the Police Commissary and the others to various relatives, where they could easily be seen by visitors to the tower.

Entering the clock gallery, the couple climbed upon the stone balustrade. With hands clasped they poised themselves for a moment and then leaped downward into the glove market, striking the flags close to the historic Matsys fountain. Ambulances were summoned, but the surgeons declared that they had died instantly.

The letters found in the tower show that the youth was Elie Walkow, and that his home was in this city. The girl has not yet been identified. The letters, it is said, stated that the young couple had been driven to their dreadful deaths because of a love affair.

BENSON SHAKESPEARE TOUR

Players May Not Visit New York—Against San Francisco Pageant.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—Further details of the scheme to send a Shakespearean company to the United States show that it will be under the control of F. R. Benson. The Stratford-on-Avon players will open their tour in October, and it will last till the following May.

Toronto and Ottawa will first be visited, and the tour of the United States will begin with Chicago. It will embrace such distant centres as Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco. If New York is visited at all, it will end the tour.

Mr. Benson will have about fourteen plays in his repertory—all Shakespearean. Special prominence will be given to the chronicle plays. Use may be made of open-air theatres, such as the Greek Theatre at Berkeley, Cal.

In reference to the projected pageant at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, it is stated that Mr. Benson and his manager, Mr. Savery, who recently visited San Francisco, have reached the conclusion that the city is not a promising pitch for a pageant.

The Morning Post, discussing the subject, says:

"Where in hustling San Francisco are 5,000 performers to be found ready to take six months off? Further, over here costumes and 'props' have been fashioned in the amplitude of our houses and cottages. San Francisco lives in its hotels, in which little provision is made for the manufacture of such things; and so the pageant, strongly advocated, if not organized, by American feminists, does not seem likely to materialize, at any rate so far as Mr. Benson is concerned."

TOOK HOMELESS TO CHURCH

Paris "Mover of the Poor" Wins Pity of a Priest of the Madeleine.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 25.—Ernest Cochon, "the mover of the poor," yesterday installed in the portico of the Church of the Madeleine a poor man, his wife, and four young children who had been expelled from their lodgings.

The arrival of Cochon and his protégés caused a considerable stir among the fashionable congregation. A kind-hearted priest, on learning the facts, decided to take the family under his care, and they spent the night at a convent.

Cochon came into prominence some months ago, when he gained his title (he is really President of the Tenants' Federation,) by organizing impromptu "moving bees" in behalf of evicted tenants.

FIVE-POWER LOAN READY.

Political Foes Fear It Will Complete Chinese President's Dictatorship.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—The Times says it understands that the question of foreign advisers in connection with the Chinese loan is definitely settled to the mutual satisfaction of China and other nations. The details, however, are still to be arranged. Some, but no insurmountable, difficulty is expected over the proposal for international coupons, to which China has objections.

Nine Panama Boats for Chile.

PANAMA, April 25.—The President of the Chilean Line of steamers is on a visit to the Isthmus studying the prospects of the steamship trade when the Canal opens. He says that he hopes that his company will have nine steamers ready for business by 1915. He will sail next Tuesday for the United States.

A GAINSBOROUGH, $100,800.

"The Market Cart" Feature of the Phillips Sale in London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 25.—The sale of the Phillips collection, comprising seventy-two paintings and drawings, realized the high total of $204,115 to-day, about half of which amount, $100,800, stands to the credit of a single picture. That is Gainsborough's "Market Cart," which is in a brilliantly fresh and pure condition, the subject being handled with superbly facile mastery. That it would fetch a big price was confidently anticipated; yet the result far surpassed expectations. There is probably no finer Gainsborough landscape in existence. The painting was purchased by the Agnews.

Some doubt attached to two famous and often exhibited allegorical portraits by Nattier. "Le Point du Jour," a portrait of the Marquise de la Tournelle, afterward Duchess de Châteauroux, and "Le Silence," a portrait of the Marquise de Flavacourt, have a long pedigree. It is said that they were purchased from Nattier by Count Carl Gustaf Tesser about 1740. Several versions of these two pictures are known, one being in the collection of the German Emperor, and Sir Lionel Phillips's pictures are probably replicas, or copies not altogether from the master's own hand. Yet the market thought well of them, the first realizing $16,275, and the second $24,150. The pair are now separated, one having been bought by Abbey, the other by the Agnews. A Nattier of unquestionable authenticity, a portrait of Lord Brooke, was bought by Asher Wertheimer for $16,800.

Other pictures sold, with their prices, were: A Hoppner, "Portrait of a Lady," in a black silk dress, $3,255; Hoppner, "Portrait of a Lady," in a white bodice, $2,730; Lawrence portrait of Mrs. Siddons, $9,450; Reynolds's "Girl and Dog," $4,985; Romney portrait of Miss Arabella Margaretha Phipps, $4,095; Rigaud, "Portrait of a French Nobleman," $3,780; Watteau's "Summer," an oval decorative panel, $3,255.

After the Phillips collection came other important pictures from various sources. Guardi is in more favor than ever. The Agnews gave $12,075 for a small canal scene in Venice and $11,285 for a companion picture, a view of the Grand Canal, while Colnaghi & Obach paid $5,145 for "A Colonnade in Venice."

With the exception of a river scene by Van Kessel, bought by Wertheimer for $3,465, all the other important pictures were of the British school, the chief being Lawrence's "Portrait of Lady Orde and Child," which the Agnews bought for $33,600; Romney's "Portrait of Master Thornhill," sold to the Agnews for $30,450; Romney's "Portrait of Admiral John Faithful Fortescue" for $7,980 to the Agnews; Reynolds's "Portrait of Lady Anne Fortescue," for $6,300 to Lacey, and Raeburn's "Portrait of Mrs. Wedderburn," for $4,200, to Gooden & Fox.

FAMOUS TITHE BARN SAVED.

Maidstone Council Will Buy It to Keep It in England.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 25.—The Town Council of Maidstone has allayed the popular fear that the famous tithe barn will be torn down and transported to the United States.

It announced to-day its intention of acquiring the building.

FOWLER FLIES AT PANAMA.

Takes Moving Pictures of Fortifications—To Cross Isthmus To-day.

PANAMA, April 25.—Robert G. Fowler, the American aviator, to-day made two flights in his aeroplane. The first flight was around Panama, Ancon and nearby villages. The second was over the site of the fortifications in the bay and up the canal entrance as far as the Pedro Miguel locks. The aviator took moving pictures of the scenes below.

To-morrow Fowler expects to make a flight across the Isthmus of Panama.

MILITANTS ACCUSE MEMBERS AS SPIES

"Court-Martial" Held to Judge Mrs. Mary Ford, an American Aid.

SHE IS CALLED A TRAITOR

Accused of Revealing Secrets and Boasting of Outrages—"Votes for Women" Bomb Found.

LONDON, April 25.—A rift between the Women's Social and Political Union, the organization of the militant suffragettes, and its American members was indicated to-day by the summoning of a "court martial," composed of "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, acting as judge advocate, and the "Cabinet" of the Women's Social and Political Union, sitting as judges to try Mrs. Mary Ford of New York, on a charge of alleged treason to the organization.

The military features of the court were all in correct form with one exception—there was no means of compelling the attendance of the accused, who failed to appear.

The charges against Mrs. Ford, as prepared by Mrs. Drummond, were three:

First—Failing to inform the Women's Social and Political Union as to the exact hour of the release of Miss Zelie Emerson, which fact was within Mrs. Ford's knowledge and, as it was valuable to the organization, she was in duty bound to reveal.

Second—The allegation that Mrs. Ford had told the American press representatives in London that the Women's Social and Political Union planned the kidnapping of Miss Zelie Emerson from her mother.

Third—That Mrs. Ford had contravened a strict rule of the Women's Social and Political Union by announcing publicly that she had committed specific acts of militancy.

In court to-day it was explained that this rule was a very important one, and it was pointed out that the only suffragettes who had been caught had been captured redhanded, while the others had gone scot free. This, it was said, indicated that the perpetrators of militant acts, while glorying in their jail records, did not talk about their specific deeds.

In reciting these facts, which she said were proved by a sheaf of clippings from American papers, which she waved aloft, "General" Drummond denounced the American woman as a traitor.

When informed of the charges brought against her, Mrs. Mary Ford said that she knew nothing of them, and that she believed herself to be on the most friendly terms with the organization, which she had been assisting by voluntary work in its press bureau. She ridiculed the second charge, saying that she had not informed any one of such a plot, of the existence of which she herself was unaware.

To-day's affair is considered as important, all the "cabinet" of the Women's Social and Political Union out of jail being present.

"General" Drummond declares that the militant organization is filled with spies, no less than six of its members—one of whom is an American woman—being agents of the Scotland Yard police headquarters.

The "unknown philanthropist" who is always in attendance at the police courts when suffragette leaders are brought up for trial to-day paid the fines of $25, $15, and $10 inflicted upon Mrs. Charlotte Desard, Miss Nina Boyle, and Mrs. Wood yesterday, which they refused to pay. They were released at once.

CARDIFF, April 25.—"Votes for Women! R. I. P.," were the words painted on a bomb found this morning by a patrolman on the doorstep of Lloyds Bank in this city. The fuse attached to the bomb was burning when it was discovered, and was pluckily seized and extinguished by the policeman.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

MADRID, April 25.—A decree ordering the continuance of the obligatory teaching of Christianity in the Spanish public schools, but excepting the children of non-Catholics from the compulsion, was signed by King Alfonso to-day.

BERLIN, April 24.—The accident in which the Princess Shakoffskoya and Vsevolod Abramovitch were injured while flying in a biplane at Johannisthal yesterday resulted in the death of the latter to-day from concussion of the brain. It is learned that the Princess, who is a certified Russian pilot, was steering the machine at the time it dashed to the ground. She is only slightly injured.

HUERTA'S DOWNFALL IS NOW PREDICTED

Reports at Washington Show Gradual Hemming In of Federal Forces.

THE INTERIOR IS ISOLATED

Wilson Permits Repatriation of Ojeda's Men, Despite Senator Smith's Protest.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—There is an increasing feeling here that the progress of the revolution in Mexico will soon develop a situation that will result in the downfall of Huerta. The maps that are kept in the offices of the General Staff of the United States Army, with their pins of blue and red showing the positions of the regular and revolutionary forces, are day by day working out an alignment that is gradually closing in on the City of Mexico and crowding the regulars back into a territory where sooner or later they will be cut off from all communication with the outside world.

A wireless telegram to-day from Rear Admiral Usher, in command of the special squadron at Tampico, says that, while conditions there are practically unchanged, there are constant rumors of an attack upon the city.

The General commanding the Mexican Government forces, however, has assured Admiral Usher that there is no danger of attack. Points in the interior and up the coast are continually hearing alarming rumors of an advance of the revolutionary forces.

Dispatches from United States Consuls at various points along the coast are to the effect that all mail communication with the interior of Mexico is cut off to the north of Vera Cruz. Consul Hanna, at Monterey, says that the last mail from the United States was received there on April 10, and the last from Tampico on the 16th. Mails from the City of Mexico are received irregularly, but there has been none from elsewhere in the interior for the last two weeks.

While President Wilson and the Cabinet were in session Senator Smith of Arizona sent a telegram to the Cabinet room which told of the request of the Huerta Government to have 800 Federal soldiers who escaped to the American side at Nogales after the battle of Naco transported through Arizona to El Paso, Texas, that they might recross into Federal territory at Juarez. Senator Smith declared that he considered that the giving of such permission would be aiding the Huerta Government, and that movements of troops of either side in the Mexican revolt should not be permitted through American territory.

The Cabinet, however, decided to follow the precedent established in the Taft Administration of permitting the troops to travel through American territory unarmed and as civilians.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 25.—Constitutionalist leaders at Agua Prieta, Sonora, last night drafted a petition to Gov. Pesqueira, asking that a bill be passed making it a felony for foreigners to close their mines or mills. It was asserted that such acts were overt evidence of sympathy with the Huerta Government.

This is the latest turn of affairs in connection with the disagreement between the insurgent State officials and the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company, the plants of which have practically been shut down owing to labor troubles which resulted in mob violence against the American officials of the company.

Gen. Pedro Ojeda, the Federal commander defeated at Naco, and 260 refugee Federal soldiers left here to-day for Juarez, Mexico, by way of El Paso, Texas. Their arms and ammunition were turned over to the Mexican Consul at Naco, Ariz., on orders from Washington.

GERMANY GATHERING GOLD.

Imperial Bank Has $250,000,000—Prepares for Enlarged "War Chest."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 25.—It is announced to-night that the gold reserve in the Imperial Bank reached this week, for the first time on record, a total of $250,000,000. The bank has been making extraordinary efforts in the past few weeks to augment the gold reserve on account of the forthcoming increase in the war chest, which will be raised from $30,000,000 to $90,000,000. The bank's gold reserve this month has been increased by $20,000,000.

SUIT AGAINST MACKAY ONLY

Pierce and Prince Mentioned as Members of Mexican Central Pool.

In the report of a suit for an accounting of some shares of stock involved in a Mexican Central Railway pool, brought by W. L. Stow, it was said in THE TIMES on Wednesday that Mr. Stow, formerly head of the firm of W. L. Stow & Co., sought an accounting from Clarence H. Mackay, Henry Clay Pierce, F. H. Prince, and others not named. This was erroneous.

Mr. Stow mentioned Messrs. Pierce and Prince in his complaint simply as fellow members in the pool. His application for an accounting is directed simply at Mr. Mackay, whose statutory time to answer the suit has not yet expired.

BRANDEIS GETS LIGHT ON MELLEN LOANS

Lawyer Withdraws as Fruit Exchange Counsel, but Sticks to New Haven Inquiry.

APPEARS AS A CITIZEN

Expert Tells of Note Transactions in Which Head of System's Name Was Concealed.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 25.—When the hearing on the affairs of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was resumed to-day Louis D. Brandeis announced that he had withdrawn as counsel for the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, but said he would continue his activity in the case as a citizen. Ward Prouty presided in the absence of his father, the Inter-State Commerce Commissioner, and the room was crowded when David E. Brown, the Government accountant, resumed his testimony.

Charles F. Choate, who has been counsel for the New Haven Road and the New England Navigation Company, appeared at the bar and said that he, like Mr. Brandeis, was there merely as a citizen. Mr. Brandeis promptly brought from Mr. Brown the statement that the navigation company had paid $13,918.82 to Mr. Choate for services as attorney in 1908.

Brown described exchanges of large blocks of New Haven stock between subsidiary companies of the Mellen system, and transfers of the same to the road, through note transactions, by which enormous profits accrued. The Government expert also told of numerous loans to Mr. Mellen.

The witness said that on April 8, 1907, the New England Navigation Company acquired 7,465 shares of New Haven stock from the New Haven Company at $200 a share in exchange for debentures of the Consolidated Railway, another New Haven subsidiary, having a face value of $14,815,000. At the time New Haven stock was selling at 173 to 179.

This transaction, Brown said, created a capital liability by the New Haven of $7,406,500, and an investment value of $14,813,000, giving the New Haven a premium showing of $7,406,500. This and another similar transaction showed up on the books of the New Haven Company an apparent profit of $8,500,000, while the Navigation Company's records indicated that by selling the stock back to the New Haven at an advance over the original price, a profit of $644,000 was obtained.

On June 30, 1912, according to the witness, the Navigation Company held 215,000 shares of New Haven stock, valued on the Navigation Company's books at $34,659,657, or about $160 a share. Comparing the book value of the stock on June 30 with the present market value, Brown said this stock was worth $10,000,000 less than the sum credited on the Navigation Company's books last June.

Questioned regarding entries on the New Haven's books showing loans to Charles S. Mellen, Brown told of loans of $10,017,620, and mentioned additional notes of $3,893,477.

One of the note transactions opened up the matter of the construction of the New York, Westchester & Boston road, regarding which the substance of the witness's testimony was: In November, 1906, the railroad placed nearly $11,000,000 on deposit with J. P. Morgan & Co. This money was remitted by check through the office of the Third Vice President of the railroad, and the checks were accompanied by a letter from that official. The letter directed that the money be placed to the credit of a special account. "If any further information is needed in the matter," the letter added, "please consult with J. P. Morgan."

Copies of correspondence between Mr. Mellen and Oakleigh Thorne were read. In one letter to Mr. Thorne Mr. Mellen asked if it would not be practicable to raise further funds through an issue of mortgage securities of the Westchester. "I do not want to go into the market and borrow money to a very much larger extent without being able to explain to my stockholders and the public generally the purpose for which the money is desired," he wrote.

"You are aware that our dealings have been located dangerously near in the minds of some to the enterprise with which you are connected, and it would seem to me the part of prudence that if the matter is to be kept quiet, the enterprise be further financed by its own issue of securities."

The books, Brown said, did not indicate that any construction work had been begun up to the time of this letter.

Mr. Brandeis took up the payment of some of Mr. Mellen's notes in connection with the Westchester Road transactions. A series of notes, Brown said, were liquidated on April 17, 1909, by a certificate of deposit, which came from the New Haven Road, for $1,524,072 on the National Shawmut Bank of Boston in favor of the Second National Bank of New Haven. Mr. Mellen's name did not appear in the transaction. The Second National Bank of New Haven drew a check on its own account for the amount of the original certificate of deposit, on the First National Bank of Boston. This check was deposited with the National Shawmut Bank to the credit of the New England Navigation Company.

"What was the necessity for this circuitous method?" asked Mr. Brandeis.

Mr. Brown said he had asked this question of the cashier of the New Haven Road, who replied that the method was pursued to prevent Mr. Mellen's name appearing in the transaction.

An Appeal for a Portable House.

During July and August the boys and girls of the American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless, at 936 Woodycrest Avenue and 161st Street, are taken to the society's Summer home, the Wright Memorial, at Oceanport, N. J., about three miles from Red Bank. The home now shelters 215 children, but there is room at Oceanport for only 185. One whole department of small boys from 7 to 10 years old will have to be left behind unless money is raised at once to procure a portable house. The grounds are ample for such an addition, and to buy a house and equip it will cost $1,500. About $800 of this sum has been given or pledged on condition that the whole amount be raised. To provide the other $700 will mean two months of solid happiness to these boys.

Cardinal O'Connell Sails To-day.

BOSTON, April 25.—Cardinal O'Connell will sail to-morrow for a visit to Rome. He will be accompanied by the Very Rev. Mgr. Michael M. J. Splaine, Administrator of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, and Pio de Luca, Director of the Cathedral choir. No official public announcement of the purpose of the Cardinal's trip abroad has been made.

SUFFRAGIST AFTER FLATBUSH THIEVES

Mrs. T. S. Vallette Organizes Anti-Burglar Association to Halt Housebreaking.

MERE MEN FAILED DISMALLY

Private Watchmen and Detectives to Guard District—Householders to Answer Alarms.

There was great enthusiasm among Brooklyn suffragists yesterday when they learned that a fellow-suffragist had taken up the work of ridding Flatbush of burglars, a task in which the mere men of that section of Brooklyn had failed dismally. It is felt that if she succeeds it will mean a big boost for the "cause."

When a Flatbush man starting out for his office meets a neighbor, he goes further than a greeting. He interrogates:

"Good morning; were you burgled last night?"

Often the answer is in the affirmative, but it excites little interest, for it is of such common occurrence. Soon both fall at once to discussing lawn mowers or the crying need of a sanitarium for sick rubber plants.

Repeatedly the men have got together, and discussed ways and means of discouraging burglaries in Flatbush, but all schemes failed. But now comes Mrs. Thomas S. Vallette of 98 East Eighteenth Street, who has taken up the business in which the men have failed.

Mrs. Vallette, who is an active suffragist, said that she would show the men that a woman could beat them at the work of making the homes of Flatbush safe. She set about the matter systematically, and yesterday Flatbush learned that an organization had been formed which gave great promise of putting a stop to the houselooting in the district. If the plans of Mrs. Vallette and her associates in the work are carried out, the booty of any Flatbush burglar who gets away with it will be plunder well earned.

Mrs. Vallette's anti-burglar association is to be known as the Flatbush Protective Association. Its membership is made up of about one hundred well-known residents, and it is expected that when its plans and purposes are more generally known many other householders will join. Tactfully, and to encourage the interest of the men by letting them believe they are the real force of the movement, Mrs. Vallette has introduced the association to the world with a man as its President. He is Raymond C. Schindler, of 287 East Eighteenth Street.

The Protective Association would begin operations next week, it was said last night. There will be a system of night-patroling by hired watchmen, who will be aided by a corps of private detectives. Clocks for checking the watchmen will be installed at the homes of the members. So that burglars may not get a line on the movements of the patrol, the hours of checking the watchmen will be changed each night. In addition to the patrol, the members of the association will themselves watch strange visitors to the district at night, and be ready to respond from their homes to the house of any member sending out an alarm to them by telephone or otherwise.

If, despite all these precautions, the home of a member is robbed, the private detectives employed by the association will be set to work immediately to run down the thieves and recover the property.

CODY HELPS THE PARADE.

Lends a Prairie Schooner for the Suffrage March.

A real old-time prairie schooner drawn by six mules will be a feature of the suffrage parade on next Saturday afternoon. It will be in charge of Mrs. Marie Nelson Lee, who will start from this city the middle of May for a prairie schooner suffrage campaigning trip through the State, which will continue through the Summer. Mrs. Lee's schooner can't be made ready in time for the parade, and last night Col. William Cody ("Buffalo Bill") promised the big Ranch E wagon that is a feature of the prairie life scene in the Wild West. It will come in at the tail end of the parade, for it must do its stint first in the show.

"I'll do it for the suffragists," said Col. Cody last night, "but not for the suffragettes. I'm agin 'em. I'm not going to help hoist a bomb."

The Colonel told Mrs. Lee how to hitch on her mess box to the wagon, hang her chuck pails underneath, roll the mattresses for sleeping, and put in slip seats for day service.

GIVES $10,000 TO MUSEUMS.

Metropolitan and Natural History Bequests in Henry Gade's Memory.

By the will of Frederika Gade, who died on April 21, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History receive $5,000 each. Both of these bequests are made in memory of Henry Gade, a brother of the testatrix.

One half of Miss Gade's interest in the business of Henry Gade, paper and twine manufacturer, goes to a nephew, William Henry Gade, who lives at the Hotel Cumberland. Henry Wacker of Woodhaven, L. I., another nephew, receives one-third of the interest in the Henry Gade business. The nephews also share the residuary estate. Philip Krieger gets one-sixth of the testatrix's interest in the business.

Debt to Parents Goes to Wife.

Louis Goldstein, who died on April 18 leaving an estate of $10,000 personalty, made provision in his will for the payment to his parents, in Makow, Poland, of a loan of 500 rubles, ($255,) made seven years ago, when he first came to America. According to an affidavit filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court with the will the parents are dead, and the entire estate goes to the wife, Rosie Goldstein of 94 Baxter Street.

THE SIMPLE FACT

If there is one thing more than another that is responsible for the speed with which this organization works, it is the simple fact that our preparations are at all times so far and consistently in advance of the work in hand as to enable us to keep working on an operation without stopping in the middle of it.

Speed in building construction is attained not by spectacular spurs in spots, but by moving all the time.

PLAN SULZER DEFEAT ON PRIMARY BILL

Both Houses Angered by Governor's Blauvelt Veto—Minority Gives Its Views.

MURTAUGH SEES INJUSTICE

Under Sulzer Plan He Says Tammany Could Nominate Entire State Ticket.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 25.—The Republican members of the Legislature—seventeen Senators and forty-two Assemblymen—issued a formal statement to-day which set forth the views of the minority on the direct primary problem, the all-absorbing question at this time. The issue is the bill introduced a few days ago at the request of Gov. Sulzer, who in the closing hours of the Legislature insisted that the Democrats should carry out the pledges of the party and enact a State-wide primary law which would abolish State conventions.

This action of the Governor was taken months after the Democratic leaders in the Legislature had decided to amend the existing election and primary laws in some particulars and make no radical changes this year. Gov. Sulzer vetoed yesterday the Blauvelt bill, upon which the Democratic leaders had agreed, and sent a message severely criticising the Legislature for failing to "keep faith with the people." This message has intensified the bitter feeling against the Governor in the Legislature, and it is said openly that the Governor's primary bill will be beaten in both houses when it comes up next week.

The Republican organization, which defeated the efforts of Gov. Hughes to enact a direct primary law, now has assumed a new attitude. It says that Gov. Hughes went beyond the requirements of the party platform. The last Republican platform, however, accepts the direct primary idea, but still favors the retention of the State Convention, or the nomination of candidates for State offices by conventions composed of delegates elected directly by the people. The Republicans in the Legislature are willing to accept the Sulzer bill for primary reform except the provision by which State conventions are abolished.

In their statement issued to-day the Republicans say that early in February Senator Elon R. Brown and Assemblyman Charles J. Vert introduced primary bills providing for practically all the reforms contained in the Sulzer bill introduced last week. The majority in the Legislature took no serious notice of the Republican bills.

The Republicans in their statement say that they do not favor the abolition of the State Convention, because such a course would be contrary to the instructions of the Saratoga platform and because thickly settled communities would thus gain an undue advantage over other parts of the State.

The Republicans say they are willing to accept the clause of the Governor's bill by which the State Committee is made up of one member from each Assembly district, although they prefer a State Committee formed with the Senate district as the basis of representation. The Republicans also approve the clause of the Governor's bill which abolishes the party designating committee and the use of the party emblem, the party column and the party funds in connection with the primary.

In summing up the case the Republicans say:

"We, therefore, pledge ourselves to favor election reform in accordance with the pledges of our party platform providing for the repeal of the Levy Election law—the abolition of the committee designation, the abolition of the use of the party emblem and the party column, the separate judicial ballot, prohibition of the use of party funds for candidates before the primary, favoring the grouping of candidates on the primary ballot by offices, and providing for the short ballot.

"We oppose nomination of candidates for State offices and Judges of the Court of Appeals by the direct vote of the party electorate. We favor a convention composed of delegates directly chosen by the party electorate in Assembly districts."

Much of the Governor's time to-day was spent in preparing for the hearing on his Primary bill, which will take place at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The Governor believes that there will be a large attendance from all parts of the State. He is arranging for speakers who will urge the Judiciary Committees to report the Sulzer bill. Whether or not the Governor will himself make an appeal to the committees at the hearing will not be known until to-morrow morning. Prominent men in every county of the State have been asked to come and bring their friends, and the responses the Governor has received indicate that the Assembly chamber will be crowded. It is not expected that any one will appear before the committee to object to the Governor's bill.

Gov. Sulzer was informed to-day that Henry R. Limburg of New York would represent the Independence League at the hearing. Mayor Louis P. Fuhrmann of Buffalo telegraphed that he would be unable to attend. He added: "I want to plant myself squarely and unequivocally in favor of State-wide direct primaries."

Murtaugh Talks of Injustice.

When he was asked to-day what his attitude would be on the Governor's bill, Senator John F. Murtaugh of Elmira, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, who will preside at the hearing, said:

"I have never heard it seriously contended that the present primary law is perfect. There remains room for improvement. At the time the Blauvelt bill, vetoed by the Governor, was introduced I advocated provisions that went further than those there contained. I retain those views.

"In the returns of the last election Gov. Sulzer received 649,559 votes. This is the best basis that can be taken for arriving at the real strength of the Democratic Party in New York State. Nearly one-half of this vote, or 304,000, came from four of the sixty-one counties, viz.: New York, Kings, Queens, and Richmond, constituting the City of Greater New York. The remaining 345,559 votes came from the other fifty-seven counties, Erie County contributing something over 37,000, a little less than the combined Democratic vote of Queens and Richmond Counties. On the face of the returns it looks as though the up-State Democrats had the balance of power by a margin of over 41,000 votes, but in point of fact the reverse is the case.

"Assume that this 'State-wide direct primary' legislation is enacted into law, what will be the situation of those who desire to obtain a nomination on the ticket from districts like mine? The Democratic organizations in New York and Kings work together and the same influence is dominant, in a lesser degree, perhaps, in Queens and Richmond. The leaders of Tammany Hall can nominate the entire State ticket, irrespective of the wishes of the remainder of the State, because the Democratic vote in Greater New York is nearly a unit, easy to enroll, and easier obtained on primary day than in the rural districts where the population is scattered.

"I believe this scheme is an injustice to candidates in the interior of the State, who would be ground between the great voting millstones of New York and Buffalo."

MURPHY PLANS RETALIATION

May Try to Get Even for Sulzer's Action on Primary Bill.

Charles F. Murphy talked over the Democratic legislative programme with several local leaders in Delmonico's last night. It was arranged to hold a conference there on next Monday night. Several Democratic Senators and Assemblymen will be present. Mr. Murphy is worried about the attack which Gov. Sulzer made on the Blauvelt Direct Primary bill. A programme of retaliation probably will be outlined at the Monday night meeting. Mr. Murphy was asked if he had any comment to make on Gov. Sulzer's statement about "dishonorable leadership." He only shook his head.

"What do you think of the Governor's Direct Primary bill?" he was asked.

"I don't know anything about it."

"Do you still stand by the Blauvelt bill, which the Governor vetoed?" was the next question.

"Don't know anything about that, either," was the answer.

United States Senator O'Gorman came to the city last night, but he did not see Mr. Murphy.

"I only came over on personal business," said the Senator, "and I left politics behind in Washington."

John J. Hopper, State Chairman of the Independence League, sent a notice yesterday to all members to help the Governor in his efforts to pass a direct primary bill.

"I call on all Independence Leaguers to write to the Governor offering their help and to their Senators and Assemblymen asking them to vote for this measure," the notice ran. "All partisanship should be put aside and the friends of real direct nominations should unite now when the opportunity is ripe to accomplish this great object. Do not fail to do your part. Now is the time—the opportunity may not come again for years."

FAVORS NEW POLICE BILLS.

Senate Committee Reports Measures Proposed by Investigators.

ALBANY, April 25.—The Cities Committee of the Senate to-day reported favorably the Wagner and Velte New York City police bills recommended by a legislative committee appointed to suggest remedial police legislation. The measures provided for a Public Welfare Commission to deal with social and gambling problems and give New York home rule in the administration of its Police Department.

The Finance Committee reported favorably the White bill increasing the salary of the State Architect and creating new places in the department. The measure was introduced at the request of Gov. Sulzer.

SIMPSON DEFEATS SALANT.

Recount for Senate Seat Gives Former Plurality of 77.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, which has been recounting the 50,000 odd votes cast in the Nineteenth Senatorial District in the contest brought by George W. Simpson against Henry Salant, has completed its work, and gives the election to George W. Simpson by a plurality of 77.

It is expected that the committee will make its report to the Senate in the early part of the coming week, and that Mr. Simpson will be seated before adjournment of the Legislature.

COCAINE SOLD IN TOMBS.

Deputy Wright Accuses Woman as One of Many Smugglers.

Mrs. Helen Gay of 634 Fourth Avenue, was held in $500 bail for Special Sessions yesterday after she had been arraigned in the Tombs Court on a charge of selling cocaine in the Tombs.

The complainant witness against Mrs. Gay was Deputy Commissioner of Correction William J. Wright, and he testified that the defendant had constantly smuggled cocaine and other drugs to the prisoners in the Tombs. Mr. Wright said that the prisoner was only one of a number of persons who were making large sums of money by selling drugs to prisoners. When the defendant was searched a package of cocaine was found in her possession.

ATTACKS CHARITIES FOR LOBBY WORK

Levy Charges Them with Unfair Tactics Against Widows' Pension Bill.

FEARS DEFEAT IN SENATE

Other Speakers at Mass Meeting Praise the Bill and Decry Private Agencies.

A mass meeting called at Cooper Union last night to indorse the Levy bill providing State pensions for widowed mothers was turned almost from the outset into a series of attacks upon private charity organizations and the persons in charge of them.

The charity organization societies were charged with failing totally to perform the functions for which they were created, and with maintaining at the present time an expensive lobbyist in Albany to defeat the Mothers' Pension bill in the City Committee of the Senate.

This lobbyist, according to Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy, author of the Pension bill, has been in Albany for the last three weeks and left Albany yesterday in order to stir up letter writers against the pension measure, which is now in the hands of the City Committee of the Senate after having passed the House.

Assemblyman Levy said he had protested against his work to Gov. Sulzer and had received assurances from the Governor that he favored the plan for State pensions to widowed mothers, and would certainly sign the bill if it came before him.

While Mr. Levy did not mention the name of the lobbyist he had in mind, he described him as "a conspicuous official of a charity society."

"I do not want the charity organizations to create the impression," Assemblyman Levy said in his appeal to the mass meeting, "that the letters that were originated in the mind of a single lobbyist really represent public sentiment. Hundreds of them reached Albany to-day. Telegrams are going in great volume to-night, and more letters will go to-morrow. I want everybody at this mass meeting to send up a protest direct to the Governor against this activity by the private charities and in favor of the bill.

"I have worked on this measure for six years. Every year it has been defeated, and no doubt it would have been defeated in the House this year except for the fact that a great number of people suddenly came to its aid. Unless many more people come to its aid I fear it will be defeated in the Senate. The private charity organizations through their lobbyist are making every representation that they have more money than demands from widowed mothers for their money, and that they are in every way able to meet the situation. They characterize the bill, therefore, as a superfluity."

The Rev. John Haynes Holmes of the Church of the Messiah, who opened up the case against private charity, made his speech an assault upon charity all along the line of its endeavors.

"I hate the very name of private charity," he said. "I am for this bill because it is an opening wedge that will sweep private charity out of existence. I am in favor of a whole, limitless series of social reforms of which this bill is just barely a beginning. More even than I want this bill for the sake of the mothers, I want it because it will be a blow aimed at private charity and can prove by its success that other bills of a similar nature ought to pass.

"I read in THE NEW YORK TIMES some time ago a study of the 100 worst cases of poverty in this city. And I was astonished after concluding an analysis of that valuable study to find that forty-one out of the 100 worst cases of poverty were the cases of widows with children to support.

"I say that for our sakes we should end that travesty. The mother should have the same right to come to the whole social body of which she is a part and ask for a pension that the soldier has who has served the whole social body in a war. And her pension should be an honor to her and not a dole, just as the soldier's pension is. It should be a tribute to her for consecrating her life to the work to which God assigned her. Once we have pensions for widows, and it will not be long before we have old age pensions, and the most sweeping kind of social insurance. It will not be long before the State takes over all of the forms of relief now monopolized by private charity."

Ex-Charities Commissioner Robert W. Hebberd said that in presenting a bill to reclaim to the Government the right to give relief in New York City the Government was only being asked to reassume powers taken away for purposes of graft.

Mr. Hebberd was loudly applauded when he read fifteen letters from the Charity Organization Society to widowed mothers who had asked relief.

"These letters," he said, "prove that private charity has not done and cannot do the work it pledged itself to do when a public duty was farmed out to it."

Mrs. William Einstein insisted that private charities were "leagues against the pension bill because it will rob them of bait by which they now attract big money to their coffers."

Other speakers were Henry Moscowitz, John L. Elliott, Patrick Mallon, and Edward F. Cassidy.

AID FOR WIDOWED MOTHERS.

Entertainment to be Given by Association in the Bronx.

A mass meeting and entertainment in behalf of the Widowed Mothers' Fund Association, of which Mrs. William Einstein is President, will be held in the Burland Casino, 801 Westchester Avenue, Bronx, next Tuesday evening. Mrs. David N. Booth, Chairman of the Bronx branch, and a large committee are active in working for the welfare of widowed mothers and their children in the district.

The entertainment will consist of selections by a string orchestra; songs by Mrs. Harry Kraft; poems by Morris Rosenfeld, and recitations by A. Photograph. Addresses will be made by Leon Zolotkoff, editor of The Jewish Daily News; the Rev. H. Masliansky; Herman Bernstein; the Rev. Joseph Seff; M. Salem, and Meyer Greenberg. Samuel Friedman is Chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

Supper Club's Injunction.

James C. Cleary of the law firm of Cleary, Dilworth, Wurts & Fay, counsel for the Supper Club, said yesterday that the final disposition of the injunction proceedings brought by the club was by consent of both parties, and that each postponement in the courts was at the instance of the Corporation Counsel and not at the instance of the Supper Club's attorneys, as was previously stated. Assurances from Police Commissioner Waldo that he would be glad to withdraw his men from the rooms had nothing to do with the matter, Mr. Cleary said. The Supper Club, according to Mr. Cleary, was not formed to circumvent Mayor Gaynor's embargo on the dancing cabarets, but was incorporated on Dec. 27, 1912, before any question as to the 1 o'clock closing came up.

MAN TALK

From the GIMBEL Store for Men

GIMBEL stocks of Men's Wear, gathered by men who know what men like, talk a language that men understand, and in which they are interested.

It is the language of new things—comfortable things—correct styles—for men who distinguish between what has an air of good breeding and what is hopelessly average and commonplace.

All outdoors is proclaiming loudly the doctrine of new apparel. And men are falling in line—lots of them will do it today. Who can enthuse about baseball or golf in one's Winter clothes? These are more appropriate:

Men's Flannel Suits, $27.50 to $40

With a special group of new arrivals in Oxford blue and gray, with white pin stripes, and quarter silk-lined, at $32.

Also a gathering of Summer Suits and light-weight Overcoats at $19.50 that are dollars better than their price.

A New GIMBEL-Stetson Soft Hat

"Le Marquis"—a handsome light-weight style for Spring, in green, brown or gray, at $3.50.

And $3 Derbies and Soft Hats, broken lines, $1.95. Fourth Floor

New Socks—French and Others

French lisle thread in Spring colorings, including smart gray and black effects, $1 to $2 pair.

Silk Socks from $1 to $3.50 for plain colors; $3.50 to $6.50 for accordion-ribbed—a fine assemblage.

Tennis Socks at 75c to $1.50, and Golf Socks at $1.25 to $2.95—Comfort and style for the out-door man.

"Interwoven" Silk Socks, in six colors, at 50c pair. And splendid qualities of Cotton and Lisle Thread Socks in black, tan and white, at 25c to $1.50.

Summer Underwear—Comfortable Kinds

Balbriggan, Cotton or Lisle Thread, in excellent grades, at 50c to $1.95.

Gotham Athletic Underwear, 50c to $3.50.

Silk Athletic Underwear, $2.90 a garment and upwards. An especial group of cool Linen Athletic Shirts and Knee Drawers, at 80c each. Main Floor.

Men's Shoes With Merit at $3.95

So much so, that many stores charge $5 for them. In high lace and button; also Oxford styles, Gunmetal, tan calf and patent colt in each. Second Floor.

Men's $3 Handkerchiefs at $2 Box of Six.

Men's $1.50 to $2 Walking Sticks at 85c.

Men's $3 Umbrellas at $2 Each. Main Floor.

If Julius Caesar Had Shopped at Macy's?

How to Make Your Grandchildren Independent!

MACY'S DEPOSIT ACCOUNT

If Julius Caesar had placed one dollar on deposit at interest, it would to-day take more money than there is in the world to pay his descendants.

If you place a sum on deposit at interest at Macy's now, it will go on earning interest, and interest on that interest, until your grandchildren will have a comfortable balance to their credit.

****

Benjamin Franklin said,

"It is not what you earn, but what you save that makes you rich."

Macy's endorses this and adds what Ben Franklin forgot to say,

"It is not what you spend, but how you spend it, that makes you poor."

You have to spend in order to live, and the secret is to spend so that every dollar buys most.

Every Dollar Must Buy Most

Where do you suppose every dollar buys most—at the store that strives to give the longest credit, the most Trading Stamps or the best Concerts, or at the store that strives to give the Best Values?

Ask yourself where your dollar will go farthest—at the store that screams "special bargains" every day, or at the store that advertises values—regular Macy values.

Go to the Circus Store for Circus; to the Bargain Store for Bargains and "seconds"—but come to Macy's for Macy Values. If you want to buy trading stamps, go to the store that gives them; but if you want to buy Values, fair and square, without tricks or subterfuge, come to Macy's.

If you open a Deposit Account at Macy's and buy on that Deposit Account, your spending will make you not poor but rich.

Open a Deposit Account at Macy's at once.

Deposit as much or as little as you please. The money will earn interest beginning not a week from now, nor a month from now, but—TO-DAY.

Buy on your Deposit Account at Macy's.

Buy on it regularly, systematically, invariably. Do not scatter your money. Concentrate it on the store where each dollar will buy most.

You will be surprised at how much the difference between 44c and 50c—in the little things; and the difference between $79.00 and $100.00—in the big things—will amount up to in a year.

10% of your total expenditure is the very least that you will save if you stop buying helter-skelter, here—there—and—everywhere, and buy only at Macy's.

We often advertise special values and reduced goods—to-day in one department, to-morrow in another. Of course we let you know of the accidents of trade; of the good fortune that we want you to share with us.

But we do not ask you to become a Macyite because of accidents of business. We DO ask you ta become a Macyite because of a consistent policy that is the result of adherence to certain principles of business—the Macy principles. We do ask you to become a Macyite because of what Macy principles make possible:

The Best Values in the City—
Irrespective of Advertisements—Every Day in the Year.

GIRL SOLD FOR $15 TO WHITE SLAVER

A Stenographer in Louisville, She Ran Away with Man She Met on Street.

PASSED ON TO ANOTHER

Beaten and Threatened, She Ran Away Again—Found by Police and Now Enslaver Pleads Guilty.

The story of a young girl who ran away from home with a man she met on the street was related before Justice Seabury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday in the trial of Samuel Harris of 102 Madison Street, who confessed that he had bought the girl as a white slave for $15. He was remanded to the Tombs for sentence.

The girl is seventeen-year old Ethel Angel of Louisville, Ky. She told her story in a calm manner but broke down when she had finished testifying and ran to her gray-haired mother's arms and was told that she would be forgiven. She said:

"Seven months ago I was standing on a street in Louisville and I was tired and did not dare go to my home, which I had left a short time before because of a quarrel with my step-father. I had been trained and was employed as a stenographer in Louisville and lost my place because I had to go to a hospital and be operated on for appendicitis. When I came out I could not get my place back and I was looking for another.

"While I was standing on the street a man, whom I later knew to be Morris Guttman, came up to me and said: 'Little girl, you look tired out, won't you have a glass of soda?' I knew it was wrong for me to accept his invitation, but I was so worn out I did. He invited me to dinner and I again accepted and told him all my troubles. He said that I was foolish to let people ride over me and said he loved me and wanted to marry me. I said that was foolish, but he told me how nice it was to live in this horrid city and said he was wealthy and would marry me. I then agreed to accompany him here and expected that he would marry me immediately upon my arrival."

She said she urged Guttman to marry her and he had told her he would be disinherited if he didn't introduce her to his parents first. They went to a Harlem boarding house and later Guttman called her up on the telephone and said he was going to have a friend named Samuel Parker see her. He suggested that she do just as Parker said.

Harris then came to the house and said he was Parker. The next day Guttman came, and according to the witness, said: "Ethel, this man has a lot of girls and he gave me $15. Now, you do as he says and you'll be treated fine, but if you don't he will beat you."

Guttman then left her with Harris and the latter took her to another boarding house. From this place they went to others and finally visited the Hotel Bradford at 65 East Eleventh Street.

The girl said she wanted to go home and Harris replied that he would write and tell her mother what had happened. He then made her write her mother a letter, saying she was married to "a nice man."

She cried while writing the letter, she said, and after mailing it Harris came back and seeing her crying, struck her with his fist and kicked her. She ran screaming into the corridor of the hotel and Harris ran away.

The girl then went to a boarding house at 211 West Fourteenth Street, where she told the landlady that under no circumstances should Harris be allowed to see her. The landlady told her to communicate with her parents and suggested that she go to the police. Miss Angel said she was afraid to do this, but agreed to write to her parents. Harris called several times, but was not allowed to enter the house.

Meantime the girl's mother had become suspicious and had written to Mayor Gaynor asking him to have the police investigate. This was done, and shortly after the girl had gone to the house on Fourteenth Street a policeman called and took her to the Waverly House. Harris was then arrested at 463 Broom Street, where he was employed as an elevator man.

"Did Harris ever strike you before the night in the Bradford?" asked Assistant District Attorney Manley.

"Yes, indeed he did, many times. Sometimes he sent big, tough-looking men to me and they showed me revolvers and blackjacks and said if I didn't do as Harris said they would kill me. Harris once sent me to a man he called 'Brother Moe,' and said Moe would put me in a place with other women. I later learned that Moe was a resort keeper in Harlem."

The witness then left the stand and a number of hotel clerks and boarding house keepers were called who corroborated her testimony. Harris then offered to plead guilty to abduction, and this plea was accepted. After he had pleaded he said:

"All I ask is that you let me testify against Guttman if he is ever caught. For myself, I don't want you to be lenient, but I do want to show up Guttman."

He was remanded one week for sentence.

$30,000 FOR CAR INJURY.

Woman Who Was Struck Gets $25,000 and Husband, for Care, $5,000.

Mrs. Mae I. Peterson got a verdict of $25,000 yesterday in Justice Platzek's part of the Supreme Court for injuries received on Sept. 1, 1909, when she was run down by a car of the Ocean Electric Railway Company at Tent City, between Far Rockaway and Rockaway Beach. Ernest E. Peterson, her husband, received a verdict of $5,000 for medical attention for his wife and the loss of time from his work which her injury necessitated.

The company contended that the accident was the result of Mrs. Peterson's negligence. They said that when the car struck her she was trying to get a dog off the track. The testimony showed that she had lain unconscious for six days in St. Joseph's Hospital and she showed the jury an injury to her skull and her right eye.

The Oldest Ship Afloat (launched 1790 A. D.) and Only Survivor of England's Terrible Fleet of "Ocean Hells."

NOW IN NEW YORK ON TOUR OF THE WORLD.

This Wonderful Vessel Has Made History

Through Three Centuries. She Marked the Beginning and the End of England's Monstrous Penal System.

She Has Held Lurid Horror and Dreadful Iniquities Beside Which Even the Terrible Stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition Pale Into Insignificance.

She Is Unchanged After All These Years, Nothing Being Omitted but Her Human Freight and Their Sufferings from the Cruelties and Barbarities Practised Upon Them.

Aboard Her Are Now Shown, in Their Original State, All the Airless Dungeons and Condemned Cells, the Whipping Posts, the Manacles, the Branding Irons, the Punishment Balls, the Leaden-Tipped Cat-o'-Nine Tails, the Coffin Bath and the other Fiendish Inventions of Man's Brutality to His Fellow Man.

From Keel to Topmast She Cries Aloud the Greatest Lesson the World Has Ever Known in the History of Human Progress.

The Convict Ship "Success" is the Greatest and Most Extraordinary Exhibition that Ever Visited America. It is a Theme for the Pen of a Dante. When You Walk Her Decks, Grooved with the Chains of Her Miserable Victims, the Past Will Speak to You Its Sad and Mournful Lesson, but You Will Leave Feeling Better Because You Live in a Better Age.

The Convict Ship is lighted throughout with electricity, so that her manifold wonders can be comfortably inspected. A corps of high-class guides and lecturers are always on duty, to conduct visitors over her three decks brimful of historic and educational interest.

Now Open to the Public Daily from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., foot of 79th Street and Riverside Drive—North River.

Seven (7) Days More to Take in 1,000 Orders for

Men's $30, $35 and $40 Spring and Summer Suits, guaranteed in every way, for $18.50

Well, this is the nearest thing to a perfect fit I've ever had.

It is an extraordinary offering, not alone on account of the low price quoted—but because of the high grade fabrics (100 styles in every color to select from), the splendid linings, fixings and the tailoring, which are equal to any $35 and $40 custom work in town.

THE MATERIALS include the popular white stripe on black and blue, flannels for Summer, "Harris Tweeds," fancy cheviots, pure worsteds, black and blue serges, soft finished worsteds, with mohair and Italian Satin linings.

On account of the painstaking tailoring we put into these clothes, which has made this proposition so successful, it will take two weeks to complete your suit. A perfect fit—absolute satisfaction is insured or you need not take the suit, and your deposit will be instantly refunded.

REMEMBER—the sale is for ten days ending Saturday (May 3rd) and only 1,000 orders can be taken.

No Other Store in Brooklyn Sells Newest Fiction At These Same Low Prices.

YOU CAN SAVE fully 10% on the very newest Fiction works by purchasing them in this store, and this is because we would not be controlled by the Book Trust and charge the higher prices quoted by every other store in Brooklyn.

We have always fought for the right to sell at the lowest prices anywhere, and we do this in Books as well as everything else.

THIS IS THE STORE ACCOMMODATING—and that means giving to the purchaser the opportunity to make a saving on every article of merchandise here—and books are included in this list.

TO THE BOOKLOVER, who, in the course of the year, buys many of the new works, this saving of 10% amounts to a substantial sum.

A Value Unequaled in Ostrich Trimmed Millinery, $8.75.
Values From $12 to $15.

THESE BEAUTIFUL NEW HATS have been made in our own workrooms, by skillful milliners, and are copies of imported Hats selling from $25 to $40. The value of these will not fall under $12, and most of them are worth $15 by a conservative estimate.

They are of hemp, Leghorn, Milan and other good materials. All are in the newest shapes. They display the latest colors and ideas of trimming. Side by side with the expensive Hats they reproduce, it would be difficult to tell which was imported and which made here. And they are all new, just completed, not a miscellaneous or sample lot from a manufacturer.

Some of these Hats are trimmed with choice ostrich feathers in most fashionable new arrangements. Some are finished with handsome ribbons. Many are trimmed with flowers.

A limited number, therefore best choosing for earliest comers. Many women who appreciate the value of Loeser Hats will be here when the doors open.

None C. O. D. No telephone orders, and none credited.

AS INTERESTING A SALE of men's Shirts as we have had for many a day was started here yesterday morning and we still have enough of the Shirts for today.

They are of very fine percales, white with black, blue or lavender stripes. Also of darker materials, some woven madrases, as well as percales. A number have plaited fronts, but they are chiefly plain front coat Shirts, with stiff cuffs attached.

You will want half a dozen when you see what fine values they are.

Silk Negligee Shirts at $2.50 and $3.25.

These two special values will interest men who realize what a great year this is to be for silk Shirts. Very new patterns and colorings. Made in plain coat style, with soft French cuffs.

$2 Soft Shirts for $1.15.

Plain shades, self striped and fancy striped.

Novelty in Plaited Percale Shirts, $1.50.

Newest of this season's new Shirts, and different in idea from any you have seen. The novelty is in the stripe and plait arrangement. Beautifully made and finished.

New arrivals each day of "E. & W." summer Shirts...$1.50 to $6.50

New Golf and Tennis Shirts, $1.50.

These are made with soft collar attached and with half sleeves. Materials are mercerized and handsome. Very comfortable and good looking sporting Shirts. Main Floor, Elm Place.

CONTROL OF CANAL TOTAL, SAYS OLNEY

Holds That Uncle Sam Is "Owner" and That "All Nations" in Treaty Means "Customers."

PROBLEM AT LAW SESSION

Most Speakers Before International Society Support ex-Secretary's Views—Subsidy Ideas Divergent.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Divergent views regarding the right of the United States to exempt its coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama Canal tolls were expressed to-day in addresses before the American Society of International Law. Most of the speakers agreed with Richard Olney, former Secretary of State, that this country was within its rights, as the owner, to make whatever rules it desired regarding the canal.

Equally divergent views were expressed as to whether the payment by the Government of a subsidy equal to the amount of the tolls to American ships would be a violation of existing treaties. The right to grant subsidies, when not expressly prohibited by treaty, was not controverted.

In his address, which was read because of his inability to attend the meeting, Mr. Olney declared that the "all nations" clause of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty meant only the "customers" of the canal, and that since a nation could not be both customer and owner, the United States was not supposed to be included in the words "all nations." He opposed referring the matter to The Hague, because all nations were interested in the outcome, but advocated an independent arbitration tribunal.

This view was opposed by Crammond Kennedy of Washington, who maintained that "existing treaties must be kept, and only changed with the mutual consent of the high contracting parties." Great Britain, he said, would pay nearly half of the total revenue of the canal, and therefore had the right to be consulted, especially in view of treaty obligations.

Chandler P. Anderson, former counselor for the State Department, insisted that all discussion of the tolls question "must be limited to any discrimination against English shipping," and that the "fundamental question is whether the rules adopted by the United States, under Article 3 of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, 'as a basis of the neutralization of the canal' were intended to apply to the United States, as well as to all other nations."

Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, retired, President of George Washington University, was of the opinion that this country was expressly included, and closed with the significant statement that "the best American jurists believe we are now violating several of our treaty obligations."

Lewis Nixon of New York was among those to agree with Mr. Olney.

"There is not one word or phrase," said Mr. Nixon, "that even by implication denies our right to give free tolls to our vessels in any trade. I am satisfied that this is understood, and that the strategy of present movements is that violent protests against remission of tolls on vessels in the coasting trade may make us content to rest our case there and not regulate commerce in the constitutional and more beneficial way to the Nation by freeing our vessels from tolls in the foreign trade."

The night session was given over to a discussion of the effect of coastwise exemption on canal tolls and whether the United States had the right to exclude from the use of the canal any class of foreign vessels. The speakers were Emory R. Johnson, Special Commissioner on Panama Canal Tolls and Traffic; N. Dwight Harris of Northwestern University, Chicago; James W. Garner of the University of Illinois, and John Foster Dulles of New York.

AMERICAN HEN IS LITERARY.

Farmers Line Chicken Coops with Old Newspaper Matrices.

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in the Waldorf-Astoria was ended yesterday afternoon. Officers and Directors were elected as follows:

Elbert H. Baker, Cleveland Plain Dealer, President; Herbert L. Bridgman, Brooklyn Standard Union, Vice President; William J. Pattison, New York Evening Post, Treasurer; John Stewart Bryan, Richmond Times-Dispatch, Secretary.

Directors for the one-year term—Harry Chandler, Los Angeles Times; Charles H. Taylor, Jr., Boston Globe; J. F. MacKay, Toronto Globe; Hopewell L. Rogers, Chicago News. Directors for the two-year term—Hilton U. Brown, Indianapolis News; F. P. Glass, Montgomery Advertiser; Jason Rogers, New York Globe.

At the morning session there was an informal discussion of selected paper and miscellaneous topics. The question came up what publishers did with their old matrices. A dozen members reported that farmers bought the matrices and used them for lining chicken coops.

Another question was whether publishers ought to send copies of the large Sunday issue to classified advertisers placing their advertisements through agencies for checking purposes. It was said the agencies had a checking system. Opinion was against sending copies to classified advertisers.

John Norris, Chairman of the Paper Committee, discussed the change made by certain newspapers from a seven-column to an eight-column page. L. B. Palmer, manager of the association, told of the work of the central office in making collections.

COPYRIGHT ISSUE YET OPEN.

Editor Says New Suit by The Times Is Needed to Settle It.

In a letter from Theodore W. Noyes, editor of The Washington Star and Chairman of the Copyright Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, read in the convention of that body yesterday afternoon, the writer referred to the copyright suit begun by THE NEW YORK TIMES against The Sun. Chairman Noyes wrote:

"I have read the newspaper reports of the decision of the copyright case of THE TIMES against The Sun, and especially what the two newspapers concerned have said about it. It seems to me (a curbstone opinion) that our committee will not have the full facts necessary as the basis of an intelligent suggestion of adequate amendment of the copyright law until THE TIMES has sued for damages for infringement of its copyright and this suit has been decided.

"Its suit for an injunction and an accounting has been defeated as brought prematurely, on the ground, perhaps, that the demand for an accounting made it a suit for infringement, and not merely a proceeding to prevent infringement. Whatever the basis of the court's decision, there has been only a failure to prevent an infringement by injunction, leaving the infringement, if one has been committed, fully punishable, and punishable the more severely, perhaps, because the offense, if committed, was deliberate and in defiance of the warning of the attempted injunction."

175,000 AT PRINTING SHOW.

Exhibition in Grand Central Palace Closes Its Doors To-night.

A party of 400 members of the Master Printers' Branch of the Board of Trade and the Ben Franklin Club of Philadelphia was among the visitors yesterday at the National Printing, Publishing, Advertising, and Allied Trades Exposition in the Grand Central Palace. The management announced last night that more than 175,000 persons had attended the show. Before the exhibition closes to-night it is thought the 200,000 mark will be reached.

At the annual convention of the Printers' League of America, held in the palace in connection with the show, the following officers were elected: President, Charles Francis of New York; First Vice President, A. R. Morgan, Cincinnati; Second Vice President, J. W. Hastie, Chicago, Secretary, Charles E. Hawkes, New York, and Treasurer, W. A. Van [illegible], New York. The annual report shows 300 officers and 30,000 mem-

HARPERS BOOKS

The Judgment House

By Sir Gilbert Parker.

Now and then a book, a novel, sweeps us off our feet—lifts us out of the work-a-day world and sets us down in the delectable country of romance—breathless, but happy. So with "The Judgment House." And this is as it should be, because it is above all a wholly satisfying story—a story of wide spaces and of a Cleopatra-like heroine swaying men, and almost the destinies of nations, by the inescapable charm of personality and beauty.

Desert Gold

By Zane Grey.

"S-s-h—steady—keep quiet, and follow me"—so, treading softly, with a new guide, we vanish into the night—into adventure along the Arizona-Mexico border in search of desert gold—and we find life free and unafraid. The American filibusters, the guerillas, the Apaches and the loyal Yaquis are alive in this alluring purple sage country, and so is Mercedes, a beautiful Mexican girl. Critics tell us that romance is coming back again. It has come back—in this new tale of Zane Grey's.

The Opening Door

By Justus Miles Forman.

It looked like a new heaven and a new earth as the door opened for this girl, for beyond the threshold was a new life of reality. She passed into it—and so did the man. The newness became instantly electric for both of them—modern life lived at its fullest. Mr. Forman tells in these quick pages a brilliant story of New York to-day, with a sparkle and dash which make this by far his most interesting novel.

The Sojourner

By Robert D. Elder.

Here is a man, his life threatened with ruin because of a woman's selfishness and pride, who believed that the Golden Rule would work. It was a chance—and a big one. Before he found whether it would or not the man came to grips with life, going both East and West to do it. At last there came a new conception of things which has, for the reader of this remarkable novel, the glory of a new dawn breathing through it.

The Bend In The Road

By Truman A. De Weese.

"One of the best books for any reader who cares for the bit of blue sky in the midst of the city and who appreciates it all the more from occasional life in the country. It is a very remarkable piece of work, beautifully written, that Mr. De Weese contributes to the book world of the day."—Buffalo News. "The spiritual comforts and profits of country life is the matter he talks about, and he does it well."—Syracuse Post Standard.

MEET TO DO HONOR TO LATE DR. BILLINGS

His Friends, Notable Men of the World, Tell of His Great Work for Libraries.

HOSPITAL ORGANIZER ALSO

Director of New York Public Library and Accomplished Surgeon in the Civil War.

The life and services of Dr. John Shaw Billings, late Director of the New York Public Library, who died on March 11, were commemorated, before a notable gathering in the Stuart Gallery of the Public Library yesterday afternoon by distinguished friends, who had been associated with him in various ways. Dr. Billings was praised as a leader in medical science and the organization of medical knowledge and practice, a bibliographer and librarian unsurpassed in the classification of knowledge in all branches of letters, and a man of indefatigable energy and devotedness to labor, yet of modest and kindly character.

John L. Cadwalader, President of the New York Public Library, presided at the meeting, and with him on the platform were the Right Rev. David H. Greer, Bishop of New York; Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, Sir William Osler, Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University; Dr. William H. Welch of the Johns Hopkins Medical College; Andrew Carnegie, Richard R. Bowker, Editor of The Library Journal; Frederick R. Halsey, George L. Rives, Edward Shelton, George P. Smith and Frederick R. Sturges, Trustees of the Public Library; Edwin H. Anderson, its Acting Director; E. G. Kennedy, Phoenix D. Ingraham, and Major Henry L. Higginson of Boston. Among the audience were Dr. Abram Jacobi, Dr. Hurd of Johns Hopkins University, Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, Dr. George F. Kunz, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hastings, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend. There were present also John S. Billings, son of Dr. Billings, and three daughters of Dr. Billings, Miss Margaret Billings, Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mrs. Bradfield Hartley.

After a prayer by Bishop Greer, the first address of the memorial meeting was delivered by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, introduced as one of Dr. Billings's oldest and closest friends, who told of the arduous services rendered by Dr. Billings in his early years in the civil war, services which, owing to the modesty of the man, had all but escaped notice in his after life. Dr. Mitchell said his friendship with Dr. Billings dated back to the early days of the war. He told how young Billings, at the age of 15, had with his scanty savings bought a Latin dictionary and grammar and taught himself the Latin language, how he had worked his way through college, and medical college despite intense privations, living one whole Winter on 75 cents a week on a diet of milk and eggs exclusively, and how he had finally entered the army. He told of hospital after hospital organized on the field by the young surgeon, time and again so close to the firing line that shells broke about it while he was operating on the wounded. He told of Dr. Billings's perilous work of treating a moving and retreating army, organizing a hospital service, foraging around the country for wounded and performing major operations on them at the same time, until finally he broke down through sheer exhaustion.

"After the war," said Dr. Mitchell, "an assured practice as a surgeon, as great as any in the country, was offered to him, but he continued to cling to the army and to work there. He had a greed for work. It was his fostering care that made possible the growth of the great library and catalogue of the Surgeon General's office. He had unfailing industry, a love for work, and a singular variety of interests and competencies that enabled him as few other men to classify and co-ordinate all branches of knowledge. He combined with the strictest discipline the utmost kindness of temper, and was, in a word, a man of the highest character."

Sir William Osler, who had been a friend of Dr. Billings for thirty years, said he brought officially the tribute of respect and gratitude of the Bibliographical Society of England, of which he was President, to the memory of Dr. Billings and his great work.

"The labors of other bibliographers," he said, "were but lilliputian labors as compared with the gargantuan undertaking that occupied only the spare moments of Dr. Billings's wonderful life. In the Surgeon General's Department he collected one of the largest and most complete medical libraries in the world—now numbering over 500,000 volumes and 5,000 portraits—and compiled the first series of his great catalogue. The second series is now nearing completion. This catalogue is really an exhaustive index of all medical literature, in all its departments and subjects, dealing with all its authors from the most ancient to the most recent times, a catalogue of comprehensive proportions and marvelous accuracy. There is no greater float down through posterity than a great bibliography. Years after oblivior may swallow his work as an army worker and hospital organizer, Dr. Billings will live in enduring fame in his great index."

Dr. William H. Welch paid tribute in behalf of the Trustees of Johns Hopkins Medical College and the medical profession in general to the services of Dr. Billings as a hospital organizer.

"Dr. Billings was a leader of his profession," he said, "exercising a leadership based on intellectual power, knowledge and strength of character."

A letter from Senator Elihu Root was read, paying tribute to Dr. Billings as an adviser of the Trustees of the Carnegie Research Institute at Washington.

Andrew Carnegie himself paid tribute to Dr. Billings as one with whom he had been associated intimately as Director of the library.

"Knowledge," he said, "consists of two elements: One, what you yourself know; the other, where and how to obtain knowledge. Of both branches our revered friend was master. He was always just, considerate, and kind, a man of both head and heart. During the long and useful period of his life, he lived with pure, unsullied character, ever above reproach; and by his faithful administration of the great tasks committed to him he left the world better than he found it. I never knew a man of whom I could more safely say:

"'If there's another world, he lives in bliss.
Because he made the best he could of this.'"

Richard R. Bowker was the last speaker. He brought the tribute of the American Library Association, the New York Library Club, and the New York State Library Association, as well as the homage of the entire library profession to the memory of Dr. Billings and his work.

KATRINA TRASK'S New Book

IN THE VANGUARD

Cloth. Gilt Top. $1.25 Net.

A sparkling play in book form which makes excellent reading. The theme, unusual and full of fine sentiment and feeling, begins apparently as a glorification of war. By an unexpected dramatic turn it develops into an eloquent plea for peace.

"In the Vanguard" will do more than carloads of tracts and numberless conferences to bring home to ardent Nationalists the paganism of war.

There is little emphasis on the physical horrors of war; there are no heart-broken widows and fatherless children, no unsavory battlefields. The appeal is to reasoning power; a plea to solve the difficulty of Sandalphon, who must carry to the Lord the same prayers from opposite camps.

The argument is clean cut and alive. It has a distinct message of a broader span for the reader and thinker of to-day and to-morrow, for the statesman, the scholar, the man in the street. It has the advantage of position, for it is in very truth in the vanguard.
—The Times, New York.

Katrina Trask has written a book—in many respects a wonderful book—which presents in the forceful manner of clever fiction the gospel of peace.

To those who now believe in the power of arms, it presents an argument as convincing as it is irrefragable. Skillfully her pen traces the beauties of peace. Dramatically it portrays a glimpse of the horrors of war. The new story of Katrina Trask should take its place among the classics.—The Brooklyn Eagle, New York.

Katrina Trask's "In the Vanguard" is a timely contribution.

If girls like Elsa were common the soldier's millinery might not be so much admired by the ladies as it is and his trade might be less popular.

Mrs. Trask's exposure of the horrors and the sophistries of war should find a welcome. —The World, New York.

There is a convincing note in the play—the convincing note that reveals the modern day man slaughtering his opponent in the name of war and trying to make him whole again in the name of good will, as Philip wounded on the field thus says.

Mrs. Trask's play is worth reading; it ought to accomplish tangible good toward the cause of universal peace.

CHANGING RUSSIA. By Stephen Graham, author of "Undiscovered Russia," "A Vagabond in the Caucasus," etc. In "Changing Russia" Mr. Stephen Graham describes a journey from Rostof-on-the-Don to Batum and a summer spent on the Ural Mountains. The author has traversed all the region which is to be developed by the new railway from Novo-rossisk to Poti. It is a tramping diary with notes and reflections. The book deals more with the commercial life of Russia than with that of the peasantry, and there are chapters on the Russia of the hour, the Russian town, life among the gold miners of the Urals, the bourgeois, Russian journalism, the intelligentsia, the election of the fourth Duma. An account is given of Russia at the seaside, and each of the watering places of the Black Sea shore is described in detail. With illustrations and a map. 8vo.
Cloth, $2.50 net. Postage 20 cents.

SCENES AND MEMORIES OF THE PAST. By the Hon. Stephen Coleridge. Mr. Coleridge fortunately kept a diary for some years of his life and has religiously preserved the letters of his distinguished friends; and in this book the public are invited to enjoy the perusal of much vitally interesting correspondence. Cardinals Manning and Newman, G. F. Watts, James Russell Lowell, Matthew Arnold, Sir Henry Irving, Goldwin Smith, Lewis Morris, Whistler, Oscar Wilde, Ruskin, and many others are sympathetically dealt with in this book. During his visit to America as the guest of the American bar in 1883, Lord Coleridge, the Chief Justice, and the author's father, wrote a series of letters, which have been carefully preserved, recounting his impressions of the United States and of the leading citizens whom he met. Among the illustrations are many masterly portraits never before published. With numerous illustrations. 8vo.
Cloth, $2.50 net. Postage 20 cents.

OUTSIDE THE ARK. (A novel.) By Adelaide Holt. Hugh Inskip, a prominent man of letters, marries a young wife, whom he does not understand, because she is continually posing and never her natural self. She is also jealous of the beautiful but incapacitated actress, Margaret Stair, for whom Inskip is writing a play. The author has a strong sense of humor, as well as a great power of dramatic presentation. Cloth, $1.25 net.

Lawrence E. Riddle, a silver medal. Riddle saved Frederick Meyer in the Etna accident.

Henry Wagner, a silver medal and $1,000, as needed. Wagner saved Riddle in the Etna accident.

TO HONOR DEAD POSTMEN.

Three Thousand Carriers Will Attend Cathedral Service.

Plans for the service in memory of letter carriers to be held in St. Patrick's Cathedral to-morrow afternoon have been completed. A procession of postmen will form in front of the Grand Central Post Office in Forty-fourth Street at 2:30 o'clock, and will be headed by the New York Letter Carriers' Brass Band. It is thought three thousand will be in line, including delegations from Newark, Jersey City, Bayonne, Yonkers, Long Island City, Jamaica, Mount Vernon, and Brooklyn.

A police escort will accompany the procession to the cathedral. The service will be attended by Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo and by Supreme Court Justices, Congressmen, and prominent officials from near-by cities. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. John P. Chidwick, formerly Chaplain of the battleship Maine. The address of welcome will be made by the Right Rev. Mgr. Lavelle. It is thought Cardinal Farley will bestow a papal blessing.

SERVICE FOR ART WORKERS.

Those Allied with Any Form Invited to St. John's Cathedral.

Two hundred persons, most of them women, allied with art work, have applied for seats at a service to be held for artists to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Many more are expected. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Howard C. Robbins of the Church of the Incarnation. The invitation says:

> St. John's, like all historic cathedrals of the past, united the arts in the service and worship of Almighty God. In the cathedral and in its services are present the greater arts of design in architecture, in sculpture, and in painting, and the lesser arts in all their various forms. The greater arts of expression, music, song, and the written and spoken word, share the great message.
>
> To the cathedral are invited all who seek beauty and the service of their fellow-man through any art, whether of expression or of design, in verse or in prose, with the brush or the modeler's tool, as designer or composer, or in any of the diverse paths where music leads, or in the supreme art of the drama.

It is intended to have the service every year.

CITY BREVITIES.

The commencement exercises of the graduating class of the Hebrew Technical Institute will be held at the Cooper Union on Wednesday, May 7th, 8:30 P. M.

The "Ragged Edge Klub" will give a Maypole dance at the Cafe Boulevard on May 1.

The Shelburne, the new seaside hotel projected by the Reisenweber management at Brighton Beach, opposite their Brighton Beach Casino, at the ocean end of the Parkway, will be thrown open for public inspection to-day and Sunday, with a tea dance, in which Miss Joan Sawyer, and Wallace McCutcheon will be seen in a series of new dances, just brought from Europe. The dances will be in charge of William Pitt Rivers.

Frank L. Packard's Great Novel
GREATER LOVE HATH NO MAN
than this, that A MAN lay down his life for his friends
To lay down one's life for one's friend is an easy heroism compared with the sacrifice which inspires this story. "Varge" takes the guilt of a man he does not love, on his shoulders. Then follows a story of surpassing interest—it grips you, enthralls you, holds you spell-bound. But why did Varge do it?

By Mrs. Reginald de Koven
Contains the Results of Important Discoveries Relating to Paul Jones's Service in the Russian Navy, the Identity of "Delia," and Other Misunderstood Episodes
Illustrated. 2 vols. $5.00 net, postage extra.
This splendid biography has resulted from years of research, in which the writer has accumulated considerable significant new material; and this has made possible a far more complete and understandable presentation of Paul Jones's personality and career; one that makes clear many hitherto clouded phases of his life and explains formerly unaccountable actions. The upshot is a definitive life of one of the most picturesque, most brilliant, and most original figures in American history.

SHOWING MISSOURI.

Missouri likes to be shown, and is in the process. The laws commanding and forbidding the insurance companies to do inconsistent things, and suffer either way, are most conspicuous at the moment, but they are a mere incident in the boil and bubble following the Legislature's energy and efficiency in doing what it was elected to do. Other less conspicuous examples are abundant. What could be more popular than an eight-hour law, such as was passed with enormous applause at Washington? That affected public business and the taxpayers merely. The Missouri law affects private business, and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is among the concerns which is considering removal of its plant from Missouri in the event that it is not able to defeat the law. There was wild approval of the law ejecting the Standard Oil Company from Missouri —until it appeared that it supplied fuel for public schools, hospitals, and factories. Then over 200 leading citizens petitioned that the ouster be reconsidered. The ouster repeal was popular; it was the enforcement of it that was unpopular. The showing was satisfactory to the Legislature, and the law was repealed, but the Governor vetoed it, on the ground that it was inconsistent with the State's anti-trust policy for twenty-five years and was likely to discourage the vigilance and efficiency of the Attorney General in "busting the trusts."

The Governor, it is clear, is looking for more eggs in the old nest. The anti-insurance law is not left to the Attorney General. The State passed inconsistent laws, making conformity to both impossible, and then intrusted enforcement to prosecution by 115 District Attorneys. This seemed to the insurance companies a bad risk, and they declined it. They are carrying a billion dollars of policies and take in ten millions of premiums annually. That sounds rich, but it is richer for the insured than for the insurers. In 1912 the premiums of the bureau companies, which are most obnoxious to the anti-trust law, amounted to $1,572,920, and the losses to $1,295,028, a loss ratio of 82 per cent. If the cost of doing business be reckoned at only 40 per cent., there appears a loss of $351,276. That is not good enough to warrant risking extradition for felony, and the companies are on a hunger strike. They spent $250,000 under the law which compelled the compiling and charging of actuarial bureau rates, and now they are sore because a change in the law makes the rates unlawful and fixes a penalty of five years for charging the rates which the law imposed.

That is only one inconvenience of doing insurance business in Missouri. There is a long list of similar laws, and the "trust" has struck. There are some 4,000 agents who have paid the Missouri license fee who now are without their means of livelihood. The entire insurance staffs will have difficulty in earning their salaries. Mortgages are hard to place on uninsured property. And there are other embarrassments extending far outside the insurance "trust," formed in compliance with one law and forbidden to do business under another. It is a very suitable case for business men to apply their consciences to the task of complying with the statutes of a progressive age. Vice President MARSHALL is the leading authority on the necessity of doing so, and he is the very man to show Missourians how to do it.

The holy war is yet in its earlier stage. The companies merely are stopping business. The Insurance Superintendent in that case will revoke their licenses. The counter-check quarrelsome is for the companies to cancel their existing risks. The Governor's sur-rebutter is to establish a State insurance system. "You do not know the people of my State," he thundered at the quailing companies' agents. They will protect themselves, it appears, by establishing State insurance. In closing his eloquent remarks he offered to answer questions. Will it be believed that nobody asked him anything? They withdrew to think it over.

A M'KEE BILL KILLED.

Senator HENRY SALANT, the only Progressive member of the upper house in Albany, was not serving alone his party nor the people of his district, he was serving the whole city, and in most patriotic fashion, when he attacked and by his objection killed the Tammany bill introduced by Assemblyman McKEE, giving the Board of Education complete power to change the grades of all schools and to modify their courses of study.

If anything requires the skilled attention of educational experts it is the care of the school curriculum—what things the pupils shall study. The Board of Education is made up of laymen, selected supposedly for their public spirit and interest in the welfare of the schools. It is in this city a large and unwieldy body, with divided responsibilities, and working by means of committees. The report of the Hanus Investigating Committee condemned the Board of Education in its exercise of present functions. To give it intimate control of the courses of study in schools would be sheer folly. Yet nothing stood in the way of the commission of such an act but one valiant and really progressive Senator.

AU REVOIR, MR. BRYCE.

The newspapers this morning contain Ambassador BRYCE's last public words to Americans. In his speech at the dinner given to him by the Pilgrims he said that four trips across the continent and visits to every State in the Union had given him acquaintance with all parts of the country. He knows us, and we have come to know and esteem him. Perhaps he may not return as Ambassador—for there are few if any precedents of that sort—but he is so young in his sentiments and so indefatigable as a globetrotter that the hope of his return to delight and instruct his American friends will not be lightly abandoned.

His welcome will be assured by the accomplishments of his present mission. He has muddled nothing, and has advanced many things. In particular he has been successful beyond reasonable anticipation in the thorny relations between Canada and the United States. It is even more difficult to please Canada than ourselves in that respect, and he has shown that he knew more what was good for Canada than did the Canadians. They are making a pretty mess of their relations with the Motherland, and are reconsidering their own action where it was not altogether consistent with the Ambassador's preferences. Americans are the wiser for his instructions, and their relations with England under his administration have prospered where Canada's have developed friction. This is no small accomplishment when it is considered how some Americans are doing their best to violate good faith and break clear contracts between the nations.

Sir CECIL SPRING-RICE has not all the accomplishments of his predecessor, but he has one unique qualification. He was one of the actors in the making of the Panama bargain which now is the chief question pressing for settlement between the two countries. He can speak as a witness as well as an Ambassador, and will succeed to something of the prestige of the lamented PAUNCEFOTE. In speeding the departing guest it is becoming to welcome the arriving guest. England is appreciative in her reception of our diplomats, and she is so successful in the selection of her own that it is as easy as agreeable to mingle our welcome with our farewell.

ATTACKING THE MERIT SYSTEM.

The merit system is being viciously attacked in the Legislature and by some of Gov. SULZER's appointees. In the Legislature there is the Walker bill governing removals. It might fairly be called a bill to prevent removals. It provides that no one appointed under the civil service law can be removed except on formal charges and after a trial, the result of which may be reviewed by the courts. This makes a removal except in aggravated cases of misconduct practically impossible. The affirmative establishment, by legal evidence, of a charge of incompetence, for example, though the incompetence may be perfectly known, would be extremely difficult.

The bill is based on an utterly wrong principle. It assumes that an appointee has some sort of vested right in the emoluments of his place of which he can be deprived only by "due process of law." In reality he is simply an employé of the State whose removal at any time by his superior officer should be practicable for reasons the latter is willing to state. So long as the civil service law is honestly enforced and appointments are made for real fitness fairly tested, there should be no restrictions as to removal beyond those now existing.

Meanwhile Mr. WILLIAMS, the Commissioner of Labor, has applied to the Civil Service Commission to exempt some twenty-eight places in his department from examination. In nearly every case there is no excuse for such exemption. His demand is simply for practically absolute discretion in patronage. The interests he is especially intrusted with would suffer if he were not required to get the best men who apply, and this can be done through competition only. That competition is entirely practicable has been clearly shown. The treatment of this demand by the Civil Service Commission will be the first important test of that body's fidelity to the merit system.

"WITH FOLDED ARMS."

The Socialists of Belgium have gained—or are confident of gaining—a great victory and a most honorable one. Putting aside all their specific aims and concentrating their energies upon the single demand for a fairer suffrage, they proved their strength by peacefully stopping work in a body of important industries until even the most reactionary party in Belgium were convinced that resistance to their claims was futile.

Such a demonstration clearly required ability and sagacity of a high order. There was needed, to begin with, a profound desire for suffrage reform. There was needed a remarkable devotion on the one hand, and leadership, organization, and voluntary discipline on the other hand. The men who struck incurred grave losses from idleness and the chances of prolonged suffering in certain industries should they shut down.

The movement was a progressive one. With each day that it continued it grew stronger, and the stronger it was the more peaceful it was. What little disturbance occurred was soon quieted, and not by the Government but by the leaders. When nearly a half million men were idle and business was seriously crippled the quiet seemed more intense and invincible. Against this demonstration the Government was helpless. Its old-fashioned tricks—and they were of the most unscrupulous character—would no longer serve. It has now yielded on the principle of equal suffrage, and the future of Belgium is the brighter for it.

THE BLACK MOUNTAINEERS.

As between the gallant Montenegrins and the bullying Austrians, the sympathy of the nations must go out to the former. They have fought stoutly for what they believed to be their own; the one thing they set out—all too promptly—to do at the outset, they have done. And the reception accorded to their triumph by Austria is the most offensive in form and substance that could be devised.

But the question of Scutari will be settled with reference to the future, not the past. Austria will hardly be allowed to carry out its brutal threat, but the decision to which it is meant to force the Powers immediately will probably be adopted finally, and Austria will be induced to await it. Czar NICHOLAS will not be asked to yield to the Austrians with arms in their hands, but the chances are that, from the possession of Scutari as a basis, some form of territorial and financial compensation will be arranged.

In this matter the course of Servia will be important, for it was the cooperation of Servia, and the use of the Servian artillery, after the troops were withdrawn from the siege, that made possible the capture of the city. With all the admiration that the pluck and determination of the Black Mountaineers have aroused and deserved, the Powers will not permit them again to put the peace of Europe in peril.

MISSING.

In the case of MARTIN, the missing American, who was last seen in London, all clues have failed. The private detectives employed to search for him have given up the search, and one of them has intimated, or has been so reported, that the man was in hiding somewhere. Practically the same thing was said by a prominent police official in this city in the early days of the search for DOROTHY ARNOLD. Yet she has never been found, and nobody now believes that she was ever hiding.

Many tales have been told about MARTIN, but not one of them would justify his deliberate removal of himself from the ken of society. No reason has been put forward for suicide. No motive for his murder has been discovered, other than the thieves' motive, to silence a victim. There is no justification for the belief that he was decoyed to a bad neighborhood. There is no clear proof that he was ever in the neighborhood where his hat and pocketbook were found, if, indeed, the hat and pocketbook were really his.

In other words, MARTIN is "missing," like DOROTHY ARNOLD and CHARLIE ROSS. Of course, he may be found, but there is not the slightest reason now for believing that he will ever be found. Men, women, and children can drop out of society in this way, as events have proved. The most diligent search for them may fail. There are no better police detectives in the world than those of Scotland Yard, and they have been provided with many clues in the case of MARTIN. But the clues lead nowhere. It is not conceivable that if MARTIN left London by train or boat his movements could not be traced.

The thought that he is hopelessly lost, like the others who have been missed before him, is not more disconcerting than the knowledge that somebody now walking the London streets, or slinking in the byways, knows what happened to him. Somebody knows what became of DOROTHY ARNOLD. But the most efficient detectives in the world cannot identify those somebodies.

THE EXTINCTION OF THE HORSE.

Perhaps there is some justification for the bill the New York Assembly has passed practically prohibiting the employment of horses as the motive power of street cars. We should be sorry to learn that the legislators have been influenced solely by the jesters who have found the survival of the horsecar in the metropolis an ever-fresh subject for facetiousness. It was a poor old joke, to be sure, but why should it annoy the lawmakers? As a matter of fact the few remaining horsecars have been useful, and their continued employment only tended to emphasize the rich variety of life in New York. We still have horsecabs, the hansom is almost as alert as ever in our thoroughfares, the livery stables have not all become garages.

The horse, except as a living symbol of wealth and a toy of the leisurely class, is going fast enough, but he still plods his way through our streets, and the rude termination by law of his service in passenger traffic warrants a few words of grave comment. It is not a subject for hilarious treatment. Not so very long ago the horsecar was regarded not only as an attractive novelty but as a powerful engine for the improvement of municipal life. Even so recently as a quarter century ago there was not a trolley line on Manhattan Island, and the cable lines which had superseded the horsecars on some of the avenues were not highly esteemed. To be sure, the overhead trolley had driven the horses out of commission in other cities, but the metropolis had to wait for electrical transportation for the perfection of the underground trolley system.

The departure of the horse from the streetcar business is a forerunner of his extinction as a beast of burden in the city. In a few years all the trucks and delivery wagons will be fitted with motors, the horsecabs will vanish, and the livery stables will go out of business, and all through no fault of the horse. He has done his duty nobly. He has not shirked his arduous labors, and if he has shied occasionally, he has never skidded, and if he has lost a shoe he has gone bravely ahead, and not compelled his passengers to wait for repairs.

Happily for the glory of the horse he must survive in warfare, when there are wars, (and there have been plenty of late,) and the world's 370 equestrian statues, lately catalogued by the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, remain as reminders of his service in conquest. But with the multiplication of good roads, even the war horse must disappear, and the mounted troops of the future may all be mounted on motor vehicles. Nobody can be sorry that the few old horsecars remaining in New York are to be abolished, of course, but their suppression by an act of Legislature merely marks another step toward the extinction of the horse, and what that means all poetry since HOMER, all literature, and all history can testify. Wherefore the jesters may consider themselves silenced.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Grievance Wholly Imaginary.

In another column there is printed a letter, well and earnestly written, by LESTER A. WALTON, editor of The New York Age, and addressed to the members of The Associated Press, assembled for their annual meeting. In this letter Mr. WALTON asks that, out of regard for the sensibilities and desires of his race, the dignity of a capital be accorded to its name—in other words, that they be called "Negroes" instead of "negroes."

The request is not large, and to grant it would be easy and without cost. Hesitation to comply seems therefore more than a little ungracious, but really the reasons that Mr. WALTON gives, apart from his dislike—which he assumes, perhaps rightly, to be widespread among his people—for "negro" are no reasons at all or are irrelevant to the issue.

The apparent discrimination among racial names to which he objects is only apparent, "negro" not being really one of them, or derived, as are the rest, from one of the words that under our system of capitalization transfer the big letter from the noun to the adjective. There is no more need for giving a capital to "negroes" than to "whites," the word often used in drawing a line between the two, and the one carries no more obloquy than the other.

The plea that not all negroes are black is an argument for using a different and more accurate word as the name for persons of African descent. Even for that purpose, however, it is not a very strong argument, since it is not etymology, but usage, that determines meaning, and by common agreement "negro" now applies to persons the color of whom ranges through every gradation from black to white. On the question of giving or refusing a capital the argument has no bearing whatever. That question must be settled either by complaisance or by analogy—and the answer of analogy is strongly negative. "Negro" does not come in the same category with race names of either topical or religious origin. Nobody thinks of withholding the capital from "African," or from the clumsy "Afro-American," so it is not at all a matter of prejudice.

Mr. WALTON also objects to "negress," calling it "vulgar and a disparagement of the women of my race." It is, if he thinks so, but why he should is not clear. The use of that and like feminine terminations is in full accord with the spirit and custom of the three languages from which English is chiefly derived, and there is no more of essential or necessary disparagement or vulgarity in "negress" than in "actress" or "executrix."

Low Postage Means Many Letters.

In presenting his annual budget the British Postmaster General makes the interesting revelation that he is in favor of giving his countrymen universal penny postage, but the Chancellor of the Exchequer will not yet permit the extension of that boon even to the Continent.

The explanation is easy, since Mr. SAMUEL admitted that to carry letters everywhere for a penny, or two of our cents, would cost the Government $2,500,000, meaning, presumably, that a postal deficit to that amount would be created. That, of course, is a lot of money, and perhaps more than can be afforded by a country that already has, like most others, about all the expenditures, new and old, its taxpayers can conveniently meet.

The penny rate between England and America, it seems, does not yet show a balance on the right side of the account. That deficit, however, is steadily, though slowly, decreasing, and doubtless the service will become self-supporting in time. Meanwhile, even a Chancellor of the Exchequer, if not too hard pressed for funds, might give something of the consideration that his colleague evidently does to the fact that postal profits are largely indirect, but are not the less real because they go to the public at large instead of to the department.

On general principles, of course, it would be well for the people who write letters to pay the full cost of their carriage, but the need of compromising with this theory was long since recognized in all countries, and Post Office deficits, if not too big, are everywhere viewed with composure. This is because of the feeling that the apparent loss is more than made up in other ways and that everybody can afford to contribute a little something toward maintaining the privilege of cheap communication for all.

Over here we are thinking of one-cent letter postage as an attainable blessing, and the hope that it would be self-sustaining is not regarded as a wholly empty one. If we did not carry such an enormous amount of mail matter for nothing, with more than dubious advantage to the public, probably the change could safely be made.

Surpassing Even the Birds.

When one remembers how few years ago it was when anybody who even talked of making a flying machine—and nobody did much more—excited the pity of his friends and the derision of everybody else as being obviously a lunatic or an imbecile, the latest achievement in aviation shows what amazingly rapid progress in human flight has been made. GILBERT, a Frenchman, this week drove an aeroplane cross country and without a stop for a distance of 513 miles, and he did it in eight and a half hours!

That is at the rate of over sixty miles an hour, and for such a distance is equaled by no express train. The strain upon the aviator's mind and muscle was incomparably greater than would be that of a locomotive engineer making a journey of like extent, for the former had to control a three-dimension machine—a task for which human beings have no inherited capacity, and but little teaching from personal experience.

The fall of a bicycle is a wholly different thing from the fall of an aeroplane or the sinking of a boat, both of which are two-dimension machines, just as a wheelbarrow is.

SUCCESS OF THE TIMES.

A Contemporary's Comment Upon the Causes and Meaning of It.

From The Jewish Morning Journal.

The statement of its circulation THE NEW YORK TIMES printed on Monday is, in our opinion, a more important piece of news than most happenings of the day. In plain figures, it shows how the circulation rose from a daily average issue of 25,726 in 1898 to 245,854 this month.

Every New York reader of English papers—and a good many of our own readers belong to that class—knows that THE TIMES is just the opposite of a yellow paper, that it is conservative in its opinions and in its methods of treating public questions, decent and restraining in its description of daily events and as far from sensations and exaggerations as great dailies should be. Those who seem to see the spirit of the times in the shrieking headlines of the yellow press and who think that those not swimming with the stream of radicalism and semi-anarchism can have no permanency, will find it difficult to understand and to explain the wonderful success of a great paper renowned for its calmness and decency.

Ten years ago, when THE TIMES had less than half of the number of readers it has to-day, few would have predicted that the paper without the means of sensationalism, without preaching class hatred and class prejudice, without tricks and premiums and without all the methods of the yellow press, would be able to increase its circulation and have a greater increase than all the other daily papers of New York. Superficial observers would rather have been of the opinion that THE TIMES would lose in circulation and prestige—and we ourselves have been warned of that because we have followed the path of THE TIMES. However, THE TIMES continued its quiet methods and its calm ways and has grown in riches and in influence and in circulation year after year.

We hope and believe that THE TIMES, remaining true and steadfast to its present spirit, will in time be greater than any paper in the country and show thereby that those thinking that the world is growing topsy-turvy are mistaken.

SLAVIC SERVANT GIRLS.

A Society Formed to Shelter and Protect Them.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Servant girls of Slavic parentage have formed and established a society in this city. Its purpose is to lend all its members and all the destitute girls mutual help and assistance, since most of them have neither parents, relatives, nor even a home of their own. They are very anxious to find a home and a place where they can meet to entertain each other and where they could even dwell while out of employment.

Another important object of this society is to preserve their good morals, to have protection from the many dangerous environments, to help the poor and visit the sick, &c. The officers-elect are Miss Therese Janicek, President; Miss M. Novak, Secretary, and Miss A. Holecek, Financial Secretary. These good ladies solicit the help and assistance of all kind and charitable souls for their undertaking. It may take some time to see the full realization of their plans, but with the mutual help and assistance of people who wish to offer any help its full establishment will be realized the sooner.

The society is under the supervision of the rector of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. All contributions may be forwarded to Miss Anna Holecek, the Secretary of the Slavic Servant Girls' Society, 323 East Sixty-first Street, New York, or to the rector of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, (for the Slavic Servant Girls' Society,) 323 East Sixty-first Street, New York City.

New York, April 24, 1913. A FRIEND.

APPEAL FOR THE NEGRO.

Lester A. Walton Asks the Dignity of a Capital N for His Race.

The following letter from Lester A. Walton, Manager Editor of The New York Age, was sent yesterday to the convention of The Associated Press in this city:

New York, April 21, 1913.

To The Associated Press, New York City:

Gentlemen: There has been a genealogical mixup relative to the Negro population of the United States, due to the confusing methods employed by the United States Census Bureau in its classification of the members of my race. The Census Bureau, in taking the last census, defined as Negroes those who were black. As the majority of my people are not black, in making out the census papers submitted by the enumerators, thousands classed themselves either as mulattoes or of mixed parentage. Others who were not black classed themselves as Negroes. Now, as the United States Government seems to be confused on the subject—What Is a Negro?—the members of my race also find the question a complex one.

I respectfully submit this important matter to The Associated Press because I feel that such a powerful medium can help clarify matters if it will, thereby giving my race in this country a classification in the concrete rather than in the abstract—one which will be acceptable to all. This can be brought about by capitalizing the "n" in Negro instead of using the lower case "n," as is customary.

Some argue that the term "Negro" is used only in the abstract, as are the terms "colored," "white," and "black." But to use the term "Negro" as an adjective, meaning black, is misleading, in view of the fact that of the ten million Negroes in this country less than three million are black. Black Americans are becoming scarcer each year, and within one hundred years it will be difficult to find a real black Negro in this country. It is not that the members of our race are ashamed of being black, far from it; for the color of one's skin does not determine character or intelligence. In many cases our darkest Negroes are the most representative. However, we do think that it is wrong to classify millions of people as black who are not, thus creating an improper impression.

Webster defines the word or term "Negro" as "An African black." There are millions of us who are not Africans, neither are we black; there are millions of us who are black but are not Africans. To merely refer to us as "colored" means nothing more than when you make mention that a Caucasian is "white." Japanese, Indians, and Chinese are "colored." Some of our race papers refer to us as "Afro-Americans," refusing to emply the term "Negro" because of the disinclination of the white press to capitalize the "n" in Negro. In the daily press you frequently read an article which is written something like this: "Every race was represented at the conference held in Carnegie Lyceum Tuesday evening. The Indian, Japanese, Chinese, Italian, and negro were much in evidence." What a rank injustice to the Negro to use the lower case "n" in this instance!

Some of the leading magazines and a few daily papers capitalize the "n" in Negro, and I feel certain that if the influential papers connected with The Associated Press would do likewise they would materially aid a struggling people in their efforts to advance and become a credit to themselves and to the Nation. Why not refer to the term "Negro" as a race of people and not regarding to the color of one's skin? Then the term would embrace blacks, mulattoes, and those of mixed parentage; for there are millions who are of various shades of brown; there are millions who are mulattoes and near mulattoes, and there are thousands who as as white as any Caucasian. To classify these people as black would be as improper as to classify the whites as blacks. Green is not red nor can you make brown or yellow black. But in the grouping of my race you can put the black, brown, mulatto, near mulatto, and near white under one head—Negroes. As matters now stand, a mulatto is spoken of as a "negro," meaning a "black" person, which is incongruous.

The question of the Negro's political rights or any other question affecting my race over which the publishers connected with The Associated Press are apt to disagree should not be confused with the question I respectfully submit for your kindly consideration. In the Latin countries black is black, white is white, yellow is yellow, and brown is brown, which to me seems to be the proper manner of classification. Along with the matter of capitalizing the "n" in Negro, I respectfully beg of you to discontinue the use of the obnoxious term "negress," which is vulgar and a disparagement on the women of my race.

Thanking you for your indulgence, I am, respectfully yours,

LESTER A. WALTON,
Managing Editor, New York Age.

BELGIAN ELECTORAL SYSTEM.

Premium on Property and Education Defended as Sound.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have often been tempted to praise the Belgian electoral system now under such fierce attack. There are a million men with one vote, four hundred thousand with two, and three hundred thousand with three votes. It is like our own Board of Estimate, in which the Mayor and the Controller have three votes each. Some madman should now arise and howl for the "one-man, one-vote" principle here, and learn the reasons why the present plan was adopted here and is so effectively good in Belgium. It is the very essence of democracy to put a premium on good traits.

The men who to so great a number enjoy two votes in Belgium are not blue bloods nor descendants of a hundred Earls. A premium was very justly put on thrift and a definite interest in good and stable government by giving a second vote to heads of families living in their own houses, however modest, and to owners of Government bonds which paid the not very plutocratic amount of $20 interest a year. Perhaps it would have been well not to grant three votes to any voter—our Mayor and Controller notwithstanding—but as a premium on learning it was given to no less than a quarter of the electors. Surely a country supposed to be gone mad on education as our own is need not carp too much at Belgium, which put a premium on it, and became in the last thirty years about the most prosperous part of Europe. But maybe prosperity palls on them, and, like Kansas, they want to raise more—and less ease and comfort. Alas! for my ideal voting system! R. P. GREEN.

SPYING NEIGHBORS.

Woman Complains of a Family That Follows and Annoys.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reading what William Wallace aptly calls "Worry Agents," I deem it opportune to air my experience in the same line. A woman and her three daughters, living directly opposite my home, keep a close espionage on all my movements, watching from their windows, calling sneeringly if I go in the yard to do any work, standing with their arms akimbo if we meet on the walk, so that I have to pass around. They make it a point to pass me on the street and sneer, they get on the same car, jostle me with their coats and feathers, and almost scratch me with hatpins. I have learned to be wary when any of that family are in sight.

In fact, I cannot think just now of all the annoying things they do. When I first spoke of their antics to my husband, he said they were trying to give me a goat, whatever that means. Since it has progressed, he says they are a dangerous family who wish to annoy me until I say something for which they can sue me, and, as he would have to pay the costs, advises me to bear it patiently. It seems a pity that a woman who attends to her home, husband, and children, as I do, should be at the mercy of such sharpers. PERPLEXED.

'MADE' VS. NATURAL ICE.

Sharp Competition Between the Two, Mr. Oler Says.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With respect to your editorial article on the ice situation, I have no brief to represent the other manufacturers, but desire to state that our manufacturing plants have been running all Winter, when not under repair. This is evidenced by the fact that 72 per cent. of all the ice sold by us from November 1, 1912, to April 1, 1912, was manufactured ice, and during the present month an even greater proportion of our sales has been manufactured ice, owing to the fact that natural ice is selling at a higher price than artificial, thus inducing the trade to buy the latter, and saving the former for the Summer's use.

The fact that during the six months from Nov. 1 to May 1 our sales average about 25 per cent. of the year's business, and the six months from May 1 to Nov. 1 average about 75 per cent., would give you an idea as to why the machines are not able to supply the shortage in the Summer time, occasioned by the scarcity of natural ice.

There isn't a plate plant in Manhattan, because of the area required upon which to erect one, and real estate is so expensive as to render such an investment unremunerative. Can-made ice cannot be stored, except under cold storage. The expense of erecting buildings for that purpose would render the storage of such ice also unremunerative; hence the reason why no plate plants have been built in Manhattan, and why no storage for can ice has been erected. Viewing the question broadly, it seems to me that the manufacturers and the natural ice dealers have competed to a ruinous extent. The list of failed ice manufacturing enterprises in the past fifteen years is a long one, while the shrinkage in natural icehouse properties has been from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons capacity in the same time. This shrinkage represents an actual loss to the owners of over $2,000,000. What the loss in manufacturing enterprises has been during the same period can only be approximated, but it is certainly larger than that suffered by the natural dealers.

I believe that three-fourths of the ice business in Greater New York has been conducted during that time without profit to those engaged in it, when the depreciation of properties, both natural and artificial, is taken into consideration. It is a peculiar fact that, with the exception of our company, only one other natural dealer has entered into the manufacturing field in this great city.

The natural dealer will not admit that the manufacturer can beat him, and the manufacturer is obliged to meet prices made by the natural dealer; hence, in eight years out of ten, when the natural crop is normal, neither party can make a proper return on its investment. The other two years give the manufacturer his opportunity to recoup some of his losses or failure to earn, because his opponent cannot supply his trade. The net result is that the New Yorker has received his ice at too low a price to encourage investment in manufacturing plants, and he must pay for that fact when famine years in natural ice come, as is the case this year.

Should the time ever come when New York is supplied with manufactured ice entirely, New Yorkers will certainly find themselves paying a higher average price for ice than they have for the past fifteen years.

It is only fair to the Knickerbocker Ice Company to state that of the seventy-one ice manufacturing plants in Greater New York this company operates, directly and indirectly, only nineteen. Of the sixty-three bridges used for the landing of natural ice this company controls, directly and indirectly, twenty-five; that there are about 3,000 ice wagons distributing ice in New York not controlled in any way by this company. Hence, the word "trust" as applied to this company is certainly a misnomer, as it handles only 38 per cent. of all the ice business in Greater New York. WESLEY M. OLER,
President Knickerbocker Ice Company.

Bicycles Without Lights.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your article, "Hit by Bicycle and Killed," is nothing more than should be expected. All over this city bicycles are being ridden every night without lights; especially is this noticeable in downtown districts. Policemen stand idle in the streets and see them go past. Now, after some one has been killed, the ordinance may be enforced.

J. L. SANDERS.

New York, April 23, 1913.

IN THE TOILS.

There's wormwood in the heart o' me, there's cobweb round my soul,
My eyes are filled with longing to be free,
I'm dreaming of the mountains where the mighty rivers roll,
And crash o'er crag and cranny to the sea.
I am stifling in the city where the best is but a lie,
Where men can think of nothing else but gold—
Where lives are crushed and broken and the weary long to die,
And clamor for the birthright they have sold.

High buildings are around me, and they're crowding me to death,
The streets are bright with futile, fatal flare,
And many folks seem happy, but I cannot draw a breath—
And all those smiles are masks to cover care.
For lonely, lonely faces pass me by 'most every day,
And every one so vainly tries to smile,
But down within the hearts o' them there's sorrow all the way,
There's hatred of the city and its guile.

Or perhaps it is a longing for the manhood they have lost,
The memory of the men they used to be,
Ere came the city craving, and they reckoned not the cost,
But cast their bread upon the purple sea.
I often want to go to them and take them by the hand—
They seem so very, very much alone—
Just gaze into their lonely eyes and say I understand,
And prove that every heart is not of stone.

But such things must not happen; in the city you pass by
Each one that you have never met before,
Yet every one is friendly where the mountains kiss the sky,
And every one is clean white to the core.
I'm sick of all the city, where convention plays its part,
I'm dreaming of the mountains by the sea—
For cobweb's 'round the soul o' me and sorrow's in my heart,
I'm longing and I'm praying to be free!

CONFERENCE TO FIX PEACE CELEBRATION

American Sub-Committee Has Plans for International Meeting, Beginning May 4.

DINNER IN GHENT PROPOSED

And a Mass in All English-Speaking Countries—Mayor to Greet Delegates at City Hall.

At a meeting of the sub-Executive Committee of the American Committee for the Celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Peace Among English-speaking Peoples, held yesterday afternoon at the Lawyers' Club, 115 Broadway, a tentative programme was arranged for the International Conference to be convened in this city on the morning of May 5, for the purpose of arranging the plans and defining the scope of the celebration of the centenary of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, in 1915, and, further, to organize an international committee under whose general direction the celebration will be held.

While as yet no definite plan has been worked out for the celebration, the sub-Executive Committee announced through its Chairman, John A. Stewart, some of the features of the celebration to be put before the international delegates at the conference. It will probably be suggested that the first function commemorating the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, Dec. 24, 1814, be a celebration of mass on Christmas Eve, 1914, in the churches throughout the English-speaking world, recalling a mass that was similarly celebrated one hundred years ago, as a thanksgiving. Another proposal will be that on Jan. 5, 1915, a dinner be held in the City of Ghent commemorating that which was given in honor of the Joint High Commission after the signing of the treaty. The dinner is to be in the same place and is to be arranged with the same settings as the original dinner. On Feb. 17, 1915, the centenary of the ratification of the Treaty of Ghent, it is hoped to have a five-minute silent observance of the event by all English-speaking peoples.

The delegates from Canada and Newfoundland will arrive in this city on the morning of May 4, two hours earlier than the representatives of the Belgian, British, and Australian committees, who will reach here on the steamship Caronia at 10 o'clock. Headquarters will be established for the visiting delegates at the Hotel Plaza.

Mayor to Open Conference.

The International Conference will be formally opened in the Governor's Room at the City Hall the next morning at 10 o'clock. Mayor Gaynor will deliver an address of welcome, following a reception to the visitors. Lord Weardale, Chairman of the British Conference, will respond, and then Mayor Gaynor will request Alphonse Van Werveke, Curator of the Museum of Ghent, to preside at the opening session, recalling the precedent set by the Burgomaster of Ghent, who presided at the first session of the Joint High Commission which negotiated the treaty. When the conference has been organized under the direction of the Mayor and Alton B. Parker, the delegates will hear an address by ex-President Taft, if he accepts the invitation that was sent to him by the sub-Executive Committee. Following the session, the delegates will be the guests of the Pilgrims Society at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Each day thereafter the conference will meet at 4 P. M., though most of its work will be done by sub-committees. The American Committee will hold its annual meeting on Friday, May 9, at 11 A. M., at the Hotel Plaza. Andrew Carnegie will preside, and Congressman Flood of Virginia, Prof. W. A. Dunning of Columbia University and others have been invited to speak. In the afternoon there will be a joint meeting of the American Committee and the Conference Committee, at which the report of the Conference will be read.

In the evening of the same day the visiting delegates will be the guests of honor at a dinner to be given by the American Committee at the Hotel Astor, ending the conference in this city. During the conference, the visitors will be entertained by Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Dr. Louis Livingston Seaman, and others. One feature of their entertainment will be a sail up the Hudson, if the weather is pleasant.

With a small escort of the American Committee, the visiting delegates will start for Boston on the morning of May 10, where they will be entertained by the local Centenary Celebration Committee, acting in conjunction with another committee of citizens, headed by Mayor Fitzgerald. Starting from Boston on May 11, they will be taken to Washington on May 12, where they will be received by the President of the United States and members of the Cabinet. The same evening they will be guests at a dinner there. The reception of the delegates in the Capitol City will be under the auspices of the local committeemen and the Committee for the District of Columbia, of which James Brown Scott is Chairman.

On May 13 the delegates will visit Richmond, and on the following day they will be entertained in Philadelphia by the local committee and civic organizations headed by Mayor Blankenburg. From Philadelphia they will go to Chicago, where Mayor Harrison, the Association of Commerce, and the Local Centenary Committee will entertain them. From Chicago the visiting delegates will return to New York by way of Detroit, Buffalo, and Niagara Falls. The main body of the visitors will sail for England on May 21.

Those Who Will Meet.

Some of the members of the sub-Executive Committee of the American Committee who attended the meeting yesterday were Joseph H. Choate, Honorary Chairman of the American Conference Committee; Alton B. Parker, Chairman; William Church Osborn, Col. Robert M. Thompson, Washington, D. C.; Charles Stewart Davidson, William Curtis Demorest, Dr. John H. Finley, William D. Forbes, Austen G. Fox, Dr. E. R. L. Gould, Andrew B. Humphrey, Dr. George F. Kunz, Calvin W. Rice, Dr. Louis Livingston Seaman, William Salomon, Isaac N. Seligman, William H. Short, Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith, T. Kennard Thomson, Cornelius Vanderbilt, James L. Wandling, and George T. Wilson.

Among the delegates will be Alderman C. De Bruyne, High Sheriff of Ghent, and Alphonse Van Werveke, Curator of the Museum of Ghent, representing Belgium. The delegates from Great Britain will be Lord Weardale, ex-President of the Inter-Parliamentary Union; Capt. Sir Arthur Lawley, ex-Governor of Madras; Lord Stanhope, Sir Herbert Eustace Maxwell, a Lord of the Treasury; Charles Thomas Mills, M. P.; Neil Primrose, M. P., the eldest son of Lord Rosebery; Arthur Shirley Benn, M. P.; James Allen Baker, M. P.; Moreton Frewen, M. P. Vice President of the Imperial Federation League; Henry Vivian, M. P.; Sir Edmund Walker, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; Charles A. McGrath, M. P., one of the Canadian members of the International Boundaries Commission; Travers Lewis of the University of Toronto, Capt. Charles Frederick Hamilton, Secretary of the Canadian Committee. Sir George Houstoun Reid, P. C., High Commissioner of Australia, will represent that colony, and Eugene H. Outerbridge will represent Newfoundland.

SPEED COMMISSION ON EUROPE'S FARMS

Dinner to the 100 Americans and Canadians Who Start on Long Tour.

WILL STUDY EVERY PHASE

To Learn How Co-operation of Land, Labor, and Capital Can Benefit Agriculture Here.

More than 200 men and women attended the dinner given last night in the banquet hall of the Hotel McAlpin by E. N. Breitung in honor of the Permanent American Commission, 100 strong, most of whom sail at noon to-day on the Saxonia to investigate European agricultural co-operation.

The commmission is expected home on or about July 25 next, and its work abroad is regarded as highly important, as having a direct bearing on the problem of the high cost of living, which land banks and farmers' credit organizations along European lines may help to lower materially. Mr. Breitung, the host of the evening, is deeply interested in the work of the commission, having studied the subject of credit and land banks, and agricultural co-operation generally in France, under Ambassador Herrick a year ago, and he tendered his dinner to speed the parting commission accordingly.

E. Nicklas Breitung, the host, introduced Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Chairman of the commission, as toastmaster. He introduced as the speakers Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan, Canada; Walter Hines Page, the new Ambassador to England; Secretary of Agriculture David F. Houston; John Barret, Director General of the Pan American Union, and Senator T. P. Gore.

Secretary of State Bryan, who was prevented from filling his engagement to speak at the dinner by his hurried departure for California, telegraphed his regrets, and said in part:

> The undertaking in which the commission is engaged has always had and will continue to have, at least during my tenure of office, the hearty support of the Department of State.
>
> To secure for the tillers of the soil a better control over the marketing of their produce; to provide for them the poweful auxiliary of credit; to increase the production of food, and to undertake, through lowering the cost of that production, the great and truly Democratic task of lightening the burden of the consumers of the country from the high cost of living, is a work worthy of the best efforts of the able men enrolled with the American Commission.

Speed the Commission.

In his address of welcome, Mr. Breitung suggested an entirely new scheme of farm credit, namely mobilization of credit along the general lines of Lloyd's.

Senator Fletcher, pleading for the American farmer, said in part:

"No proper financial system should make the greatest asset of a nation, its real estate, contraband as security. The greatest industry of the nation, agriculture, ought not to be the least organized to take care of its interest and to successfully meet conditions as they arise, as may be necessary to preserve its well being and promote its prosperity. The older countries, obliged to meet difficulties, which surely confront us, have solved important problems to the wonderful improvement of agricultural and rural conditions here, and we can learn from their experience and apply the results of our research in a way that will bring immense, epoch-making benefits to our country. The co-operative principle is 'one for all and all for one.' The first thing to be done is to establish a wise system of organization on a co-operative basis along all lines.

Mr. Page was forced to make his after-dinner speech while soup was being served because he had to hurry away to attend the dinner of The Pilgrims to former Ambassador Bryce. He promised to meet the members of the commission when they reached London in July, Providence permitting, and promised to keep open house for them, adding:

"I should rather go as one of you than as one of me. I am a farmer—an amateur farmer, to be sure, but still a farmer."

Premier Scott of Saskatchewan brought a good-natured message of good-will to the dinner, saying:

"Fair Miss Canada and chivalrous Uncle Sam are joining hands on this commission. On behalf of the Government of Saskatchewan, we look with the liveliest interest for the presentation of your report."

Secretary of Agriculture Houston playfully suggested that the American Commission was returning the visit of Columbus, adding:

"We have reached a degree not only of stability but of conditions that present hard problems to us, and we now turn to people who have had settled conditions for a great many years, and hence this great gathering of Americans who are going to Europe to find out something about Agriculture. We have criminally and deliberately neglected the rural life problem in this country. You have a difficult task. The problem will not be solved by the next meeting of Congress, in the next ten years, nor in the next fifty years. But that need not prevent us from trying to solve it."

Senator Gore saw in the establishment of land banks and farmers' credit systems here the emancipation of the farmer from the speculator, and the consequent lowering of the cost of living.

Among the interested guests last night was Vincent Astor, for whom Gov. Sulzer held open a place on the commission up to the very last moment, and until Mr. Astor signified his inability to go abroad at this time. Mr. Astor said last night that he was greatly interested in the work of the commission and hoped to work out some experiments along the lines of agricultural co-operation in the course of the ensuing year.

The commission will visit Italy, Austria, Hungary, Germany, France Denmark, Ireland, Scotland and England, and sub-committees will go to Russia and the Balkan States.

Commission's Wide Scope.

It was the Southern Commercial Congress which initiated the movement for an organized investigation of the European systems of Agricultural Co-operation, and in assembling the American Commission with a view to ascertaining the adaptability of the systems to American civilization. All the countries of the Western Hemisphere are eligible to participation in the work of the commission, which has been constituted a permanent body.

The scope of its investigation will embrace an examination of the methods employed by progressive agricultural communities in finance, in production, and in marketing. Special note will be taken of the application of the co-operative systems to finance production and distribution; the parts played respectively in the promotion of agriculture by the governments and by voluntary organizations of the agricultural classes; the effect of co-operative action upon social conditions in rural communities, and the relation of the cost of living to the business organization of the food-producing classes.

Following its three months' investigation, the commission will present to Congress, to the House of Governors, to the various State Legislatures, and to the governments of all affiliated countries, an exhaustive report and a specific legislative programme as a plan of action.

The commission further plans to conduct a thorough educational campaign through the press, and through publications interpreting the co-operative systems, and to gather authentic data as a permanent library bearing on co-operative agricultural systems.

The proposed investigation has been written into the policy of the Republican, Progressive, and Democratic parties, and has been indorsed by Congress, the House of Governors, the American Association of Commercial Executives, the International Institute of Agriculture, the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, the Farmers' National Congress, and by the National Grange.

Who the Delegates Are.

President Wilson appointed seven members of the commission, and Congress has appropriated $25,000 to defray their expenses. The remaining Commissioners were appointed by thirty Governors of States and five Premiers of Canadian Provinces. In some cases State Legislatures, in others organizations and private persons, are paying their traveling expenses. Many of the Commissioners are taking along their wives and other female relatives to help investigate the European farmer, and the expedition to investigate agricultural co-operation as practiced abroad, promises to be a merry junket.

The Commissioners appointed by President Wilson are Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Chairman of the Federal Committee; Senator T. P. Gore, Dr. Clarence J. Owens, Managing Director of the Southern Commercial Congress; Col. Harvie Jordan, a Director of the same organization; Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, Dr. John Lee Coulter, and Congressman Ralph W. Moss.

Robert Van Cortlandt and Frederick H. Allen were appointed by Gov. Sulzer to represent New York.

Other investigators are: Prof. H. A. Morgan, Knoxville, Tenn.; Lionel Smith-Gordon, Toronto; Prof. T. J. Brooks, Agricultural College, Miss.; Prof. Hector McPherson, Corvallis, Ore.; John and Horace Haslam, Regina, Saskatchewan; Dr. David Starr Jordan, Stanford University; Lieut. Gov. E. L. Daugherdridge of North Carolina, and Col. W. S. Witham, Atlanta, Ga.

These officers of the American commission were elected at a meeting at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday afternoon: Senator D. U. Fletcher of Florida, Chairman; Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield of Massachusetts, H. Weinstock of California, Thomas S. Southgate of Virginia, Vice Chairmen; Dr. Clarence J. Owens of Maryland, Director General; Col. Harvey Jordan of Georgia, Secretary-Treasurer.

"SCOTCH COLONY" PROJECT.

Ferguson Says Co-operative Farming Is Paying a Profit.

Porter A. L. Ferguson of Minneapolis, who is a delegate at large of the American commission to investigate European agricultural co-operation, told yesterday of his co-operative project in farming among Scotchmen and others.

"In the first place I want to deny that I am worth $5,000,000, as stated in some Eastern newspapers," he said. "I'm just a farmer.

"The Woodland Farm Company, which we have organized this Spring, owns 60,000 acres in the western part of Taylor County, Wisconsin. It is not restricted to Scotchmen. Our endeavor to interest the Scotch in the beginning was because the Scotch are ready to come and are good practical farmers.

The co-operative feature of the project is a bureau which will furnish farmers definite information about how to farm scientifically and at the same time in a practical way. It will not only enable the farmer to produce and to harvest to the best advantage but to market as well.

"The project has for its end the bringing of these farms, which are in eighty-acre units, to their highest efficiency. We propose to put in good roads and modest, inexpensive but good homes that will attract ambitious young farmers. Our object is not to attract city people to the soil, but to make ambitious young folk stay on the farm. There is a keen, nation-wide interest in our project; I have had letters of inquiry from all over the country. I notice also a general awakening to the possibilities of farming—a back-to-the-farm movement among the young people of the country.

"I want to add that there is no philanthrophy about this co-operative farm enterprise other than the carrying out of a useful enterprise. The project is being carried out on a practical profit-paying basis."

Benefit for Chrystie Street House for Boys at the Little Theatre.

OLD MASTERS IN TABLEAUX

Girls Appear in Pictures by Martini, Raphael, Durer, Botticelli, and Others.

Angels in Art, a series of tableaux copied from pictures by Old Masters, had its first presentation in New York last night at the Little Theatre with society girls and women posing. The second and third performances will take place this afternoon and evening. The proceeds will go to the Chrystie Street House for Boys.

The entertainment, which filled the theatre last night, opened with a prologue recited by Mrs. Elford Gould of Baltimore.

The first picture was Martini's "Angel of the Annunciation," posed by Mrs. Arnold Fursi, accompanied by Palestrina's "O! Bone Jesu," sung by a quartet made up of Mrs. John H. Flagler, Miss Edith Ivins, Blatchford Kavanagh, and Allan P. Wallace. No. 2 was Dürer's "Child Angels at Play," in which the little Misses Louisa Rodgers, Margaret Warren, Helen Hagen, Dorothy, and Ethel Stewart, and Masters William Stewart, Alfred Thayer Mahan, and Sheldon Stewart appeared. Bach's Minuet for 'cello was played by Erich Hoilander.

No. 3—Da Forli's "Angels Making Music," included the Misses Marjorie Lamond, Frances Henry and Dorothy Morrison. Braga's "Angels' Serenade" was played on the violin by Miss Charlene Dilling. No. 4—Da Fiesole's "Angels Carrying Flowers," was done by the Misses Louisa and Amy Bradish Johnson, Frances Judson and Margaret Overton. Handel's Largo was sung by Mrs. Flagler, accompanied by the 'cello, harp and organ.

No. 5—Lockner's "Angel of the Annunciation," showed Miss Eugenia Bethune Stein. The music, "Mein Glaubiges Herz," by Bach, was sung by Miss Ivins and played by Maurice Ebez. No. 6—Raphael's "Angels Making Music," was portrayed by the Misses Virginia Pritchard, Dorothy Camp, Isabelle Yeoman, Martha Gay, Anne Brown and Janet Brower. Mendelssohn's Angel Trio from "Elijah" was sung.

No. 7, Schongauer's "Angel of the Annunciation," was posed by Mrs. Paul Fabricius. Miss Ivins sang Bach's "Ave Maria." No. 8, Signorelli's "Angels Making Music," was posed by the Misses Louisa Rodewald, Maud Custer, Caryl Hackstaff, Anne Glover, and Dorothy Thompson. An arioso by Handel was played. No. 9, Donatello's "Annunciation," showed the Misses Mildred Rice and Dorothea Darlington. Mozart's "Ave Verum" was sung by Mrs. Flagler, Miss Ivins, and Messrs. Kavanagh and Wallace.

No. 10, Botticelli's "Young Tobias and the Three Archangels" was posed by the Misses Marjorie Lamond, Mildred Brewster, and Paul Swan. An andante cantabile of Tschaikowsky was played. No. 11 Della Robbia's "An Angel," was posed by Miss Hope Hamilton, and a largo of Locatelli was played by Mr. Ebez. No. 12, Perugino's "Three Singing Angels," was done by the Misses Margaret Ivins, Betty Value and Sara Cheeseman. Handel's "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" was sung by Mrs. Flagler.

No. 13, Carpaccio's "Musical Angels" was posed by the Misses Honor Henry, Margaret Warren, and Louise Herrick. Hasselman's "La Source" was played by Miss Marjorie McClintock, harpist. No. 14, Murillo's "Guardian Angel," was posed by Mrs. Dudley Butler and Master A. T. Mahan. A larghetto of Handel was played on the violin by Miss Dilling. No. 15, Gozzoli's "Angels Singing Praise" was posed by Mrs. Homer Joy, Mrs. George Bartholomew, Mrs. C. S. Baker, and the Misses Faith and Ruth Hayden, Edna Shethar, Caroline Wyeth, Ruth Wilson, Madeline Tufts, Katherine Satterlee, Dorothy Schieffelin, Lily F. Robertson, Alice Riggs Hunt, Gertrude Jewett, and Miss Van Armitage. Luther's "Vom Himmel Hoch" was played.

During the intermission coffee and cakes were served in the tea room, which was managed by Mrs. Lowry Gillett and Mrs. W. N. Langdon Roper, who had with them Mrs. Stanwood Menken, Mrs. William Tingue, Jr., Mrs. Hobart D. Betts, and the Misses Eva Ingersoll Brown, Mildred Harbeck, Abby Morrison, Elizabeth and Sara Cunningham, Elizabeth Sabin, and Miss Ward.

The patronesses present included Mrs. James A. Trowbridge, Mrs. Henry Waters Taft, Mrs. Charles E. Warren, Mrs. C. W. Hunt, Mrs. C. R. Schieffelin, Mrs. N. H. Sabin, Mrs. Charles R. Locke, Mrs. G. G. McMurtry, Mrs. Van Vechten Olcott, Mrs. James R. McKee, Mrs. W. L. Rice, Miss Amy Schermerhorn, Mrs. J. A. Trowbridge, Mrs. Howard Martin, Mrs. Samuel C. Van Dusen, Mrs. W. E. Lambert, Mrs. James Raynor Hayden, Mrs. Cass Gilbert, Mrs. E. R. Gould, Mrs. Walston Hill Brown, Mrs. W. S. Callender, and Mrs. W. A. Hamilton.

MISS SWEZEY WED IN INDIA.

Bayside Girl Weds American Professor in Allahabad.

Mrs. Gilbert Hopkins Swezey of Bayside received a cable dispatch from Allahabad, India, yesterday, announcing that her daughter, Dr. Sarah Ellis Swezey, attached to the Sarah Seward Hospital there, had been married on Wednesday to Harry Thompson Avey, formerly of Brockton, Iowa, a professor in the Arthur Ewing Christian College at Allahabad.

The bride is a daughter of the late Dr. Gilbert Hopkins Swezey. She spent two years at Cornell University, of which Mr. Avey is a graduate. After leaving Cornell, Miss Swezey attended medical college at Denver, and later did hospital work in Massachusetts. Two years ago last September she was sent by the Presbyterian Mission Board as a medical missionary to India, where she met Mr. Avey, who is an electrical engineer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Mitchell.

Ask Aid for Unfortunate Family.

A young Pole, his wife, and two children are having a very hard struggle to provide an existence. The husband and father lost his left arm while employed on the Fourth Avenue Subway extension. In his crippled state the earnings of the man are very small. He is working at odd jobs. He is a carpenter by trade. He wants steady employment. The mother and children need help with food and rent. Contributions and offers of work may be sent to the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, marked 0108.

Fine Arts Federation Election.

The Fine Arts Federation of New York at its annual meeting in the Fine Arts Building, 215 West Fifty-seventh Street, Thursday elected the following officers: President, Frederick Dielman; Vice President, Daniel C. French; Secretary, Joseph Howland Hunt. Directors: John G. Agar, Kenyon Cox, Frederick Dielman, William Laurel Harris, and Goodhue Livingston. The American group of the Société des Architectes Diplomés par le Gouvernement Français was admitted to membership.

Consumptives' Relief Needs Aid.

The Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society appealed yesterday for additional subscriptions. The sanitarium in Denver admits cases in all stages. Of the 1,700 patients treated 700 were from New York. All are admitted free and are of the indigent class. Since 1904 1,137 regular cases have been admitted and 496 emergency cases, and almost 250,000 persons have been attended on hospital days. Subscriptions may be sent to the New York manager, the Rev. H. Masliansky, 230 Grand Street.

$800,000 FOR CHURCH WORK

Borden Bequeathed Most of Million Estate to Benevolences.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Almost the entire estate of about $1,000,000 of William Chitney Borden, the young missionary who died at Cairo, Egypt, on April 9, will be expended in fostering foreign missionary work and religious benevolences, according to the terms of his will, filed for probate here to-day. To foreign missions alone he left property which, with accumulations, will amount to about $500,000. In all he left about $800,000 to church work.

Borden's personal belongings and household goods were bequeathed to a brother. Mrs. Mary Borden, his mother, and his sister, living at 60 East Fifty-fifth Street, New York, receive nothing under the will.

The largest bequest is $250,000 to the China Island Missions of Germantown, Philadelphia. Of this amount $100,000 is to be invested, and the income is to be used for the maintenance of aged and infirm missionaries and mission workers.

Beneficiaries under the will include:

Chicago Avenue church, $100,000, to be used for physical equipment.

National Bible Institute, New York, $100,000, as a trust fund; also the property known as Yale Hope Mission in New Haven.

Chicago Hebrew Missioner, $50,000.

Chicago Tract Society, $25,000.

American Bible Society, New York, $25,000.

Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, New York, $50,000, to be used for evangelistic work, preferably in Latin-America, Siam, Africa, and Daos.

Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, Philadelphia, $50,000 for evangelistic work.

Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, known as the Southern Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Va., $50,000 for evangelistic work in Japan or Africa.

Africa Inland Mission, Philadelphia, $25,000.

Nile Missions Press of Cairo, Egypt, $25,000.

The will contains the following recommendation of the testator:

"That each of the bequests be used for, or in connection with, missionaries and teachers who are sound in the faith, believing in such fundamentals as the doctrine of the Divine Inspiration and the authority of the Scriptures, the doctrine of the Trinity, including the deity of Jesus Christ, and in the doctrine of the Atonement through the substitutionary death of our Lord Jesus Christ."

A bequest of $5,000 was made to Alfred E. Spink, who is appointed executor of the will. The estate consists of $800,000 in real estate and $165,000 in personal property.

PLAY FOR THEOSOPHISTS.

Edith Taliaferro the Principal Actress in "The Crystal Reader."

In "The Crystal Reader," a play by Edith A. Houston, acted at the Berkeley Theatre last night, the soul of Jessamy Wilmot, a worker in a Christian Charities Club, and an unbeliever in the occult, is made to enter the body of a psychic. During its occupancy of that frail tenement the real, or supposedly real, Jessamy Wilmot lies in a trance. She awakens only after she has gone through a series of experiences which remove her doubts and increase her sympathy with humanity.

Produced in aid of the Theosophical Society, the play is obviously of a propagandist character, and contains many passages designed to explain the beliefs. But it is not without considerable holding power, even under such difficult conditions as marked the performance last night when the acting was not always the best, and the stage setting and lighting of the very worst.

In the chief rôle Miss Edith Taliaferro, looking very lovely, first in a blonde wig, which made her a regular twin sister to Miss Mabel of that family, and subsequently, in her own dark hair, act very pleasingly. Earle Brown and Regan Hughston were others who rendered efficient aid, and an excellent bit in character was done by Miss Caroline Newcombe. In a slight rôle Miss Mabel Shaw played prettily.

HER WILL ACCUSES SON.

Mrs. Heltman Wrote That He Used Her House and Neglected Her.

The story of how Mrs. Meta Heitman of 208 West 148th Street defeated the alleged plans of her son, William Heltman, to get possession of her estate is told in her will, which was filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court. According to the petition, the estate is of no value. The will explains that Mrs. Heltman made gifts of her money in savings banks and her real estate in Laidlaw Avenue and Cliff Street, Jersey City, to a niece, Louise Heltman.

In bequeathing the residue of her estate to her grandchildren, Louise and Ethel M. Heltman, the testatrix wrote:

"I do not remember my son William on account of the neglect, cruel and inhuman treatment of me by both him and his wife, and their taking or attempting to take from me what little property I had and sending me to Louise and Ethel to take care of me. I do not remember my other grandchildren, as they have never interested themselves in me, except to ascertain if I was dead or alive, so that they might participate in any property belonging to me at the time of my decease, while Ethel and Louise have taken me to their home and have always shown me the most devoted love, attention, and care. They are both working girls, earning a small salary, out of which they have had to care for themselves and me, while my son William has for years occupied my house at 17 Cliff Street, Jersey City, without contributing one cent toward my support."

Suffragists Start an Endless Chain.

The Woman Suffrage Party is gathering human links for an endless chain of voters. Each ling gets the verbal pledge of ten voters to vote in favor of the woman suffrage amendment when submitted at the polls and then five other links who in their turn get the promise of ten more voters. Mrs. Martha Wentworth Suffren will give link pledges to any one who will go or send to the Woman Suffrage Party headquarters, 48 East Thirty-fourth Street.

Thorne-Hannah Engagement.

Mrs. John Hannah of 471 Park Avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Zoë Hannah, to John Norrish Thorne, a son of Gilbert G. Thorne of 44 West Fifty-first Street. Miss Hannah made her début season before last, and has been active in society. Mr. Thorne graduated from Harvard, class of '08, and is a member of the Ridding and Squadron A Clubs. The wedding is to take place the latter part of June.

Fifth Avenue Galleries Sale.

A carved and gilded Italian Renaissance chair from a set belonging to the late Stanford White went to George Etheridge for $190 in the H. C. Watson Company sale at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries yesterday afternoon. A XVII. century filet and guipure lace bedspread went to Dr. Turck for $100, and a French walnut and gold cabinet, with original XVI. ends, to Mr. Etheridge for $160. The returns for the sale were $9,189. It will be concluded this afternoon.

FORE RIVER YARDS BOUGHT BY SCHWAB

Bethlehem Steel Co. Acquires $4,800,000 Shipbuilding Plant at Quincy, Mass.

NEW LINK IN BIG SYSTEM

Corporation Will Compete with Entire World in Construction of War Vessels.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, April 25.—The Bethlehem Steel Company, directed by Charles M. Schwab, has bought The Fore River Shipbuilding Company, a $4,800,000 corporation, at Quincy, Mass., and will enter into competition with the world in building battleships.

The purchase of the Fore River yards completes an organization with 25,000 men on its payroll, and with ability to build and equip a modern battleship from keelplate to armored turrets.

According to the Bethlehem Company's management, the purchase of the Fore River plant was to complete the development of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation into an organization capable of turning out all iron and steel products used on land and sea.

Contrary to rumor, this latest act of enlargement is not aimed at the Steel Trust, nor does it mean war with any of the other shipyards. It merely places the Bethlehem interests in a position to bid in competition with all the world for the warship business.

The Fore River plant has the contract for one of the Argentine battleships. The contract for another went to the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden. Mr. Schwab has the contract to furnish steel armor, guns, and ammunition for both vessels. This deal gave him a new insight to shipbuilding, and to perfect an organization he felt he needed the Fore River yard.

BOSTON, April 25.—The transfer of the Fore River Shipyard is expected to double the ship building at this port. The company has transacted an annual business of $6,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Twenty-three vessels are in course of construction at the yard, involving contracts amounting to $20,000,000. Practically all the vessels are war vessels. The company is building a battleship, nine submarines, two destroyers, and a tender for the United States. In addition there is under construction a monster battleship for the Argentine Republic. Schwab interests intend adding a large dry dock to the yard's equipment.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company's officers are Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles, retired, President, and F. C. Dumaine, Vice President. The Directors include Robert Endicott, Jr., and Robert Winsor, both of Kidder, Peabody Company; William A. Gaston, President of the National Shawmut Bank, and Gordon Abbott of the Old Colony Trust Company.

Admiral Bowles refused to-night to make any statement concerning the sale of the plant.

Charles M. Schwab is President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, which controls the Bethlehem Steel Company and three shipbuilding companies, besides that just acquired. These are the Union Iron Works Company of San Francisco, the Samuel L. Moore & Sons Corporation of Elizabeth, N. J., with which were consolidated the Carteret Improvement Company, with a shipbuilding company at Carteret, N. J., and the Crescent Shipyard Corporation at Elizabethport, and the Harlan and Hollingsworth Corporation of Wilmington, Del. Other subsidiaries are the Juragua Iron Company, owning ore lands in Cuba, and the Bethlehem Iron Mines Company, which owns a controlling interest in the Cheever Iron Mines Company at Port Henry, N. Y.

Its authorized capital stock consists of $15,000,000 common and $15,000,000 preferred. Among those associated with Mr. Schwab are Alan A. Ryan, George R. Sheldon, Harry Bronner of Hallgarten & Co., and Pliny Fisk.

The property acquired consists of 110 acres of land with buildings at Fore River, Quincy Point. The company's annual capacity is 60,000 tons. It has $2,400,000 common and $2,400,000 preferred stock outstanding.

VISIT THE PREVENTORIUM.

It Now Houses 300 Children and Has Never Had a Serious Illness.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 25.—Celebrating the anniversary of the dedication of the Fresh Air Preventorium, a special train to-day brought here a large company of New Yorkers to witness the children's exercises and to inspect the buildings that have been put up recently. Nathan Straus, the originator of the preventorium plan, was unable to be present, owing to a slight illness, but Mrs. Straus was among the visitors. There were also present a delegation from the League for Political Education, Marcus M. Marks, President of the preventorium, and Commissioner Hynes of Brooklyn.

After luncheon, which was served in the big pavilion dining room, a programme was given by the youngsters. A flag drill, the singing of National airs, and the giving of the preventorium yell showed the training and heartiness of the little inmates, and then came a gymnastic exhibition in the Pine Grove, where a number of young athletes gave an exposition of their prowess.

Mr. Marks and Mayor Imlay of Farmingdale, the head of the Auxiliary Board, made addresses at the close of the exhibition, and the buildings were thrown open for inspection. Since the delication of the institution, a year ago, seven new buildings or camps have been erected on the hill, each of which can accommodate thirty-two inmates. These, with the two old buildings, make the capacity of the preventorium nearly 300. In addition, an administration building, a power house, and a laundry have been erected.

Since the foundation of the preventorium, four years ago, over 800 children have been received. No tuberculosis cases are handled, and the institution has devoted itself entirely to children whose parents are consumptive or whose surroundings and physical condition would make them the preys of the White Plague. The youngsters are obliged to sleep and live out of doors all the time they are there, and not a single serious case of illness has occurred since the institution was founded.

*Ran for Meyers in the eighth inning.
†Batted for Demaree in the tenth inning.
‡Batted for Killifer in the tenth inning.

Called in the eleventh inning on account of darkness.

First base on errors—Philadelphia, 2. Sacrifice hits—Murray, Dolan. Stolen bases—Murray, Magee, Dolan, Devore, Doolan. Left on bases—New York, 7; Philadelphia, 5. Double plays—Herzog and Merkle; Meyers and Shafer; Luderus, Dooin, and Luderus. Bases on balls—Off Demaree, 3; off Crandall, 1; off Alexander, 1. Struck out—By Demaree, 5; by Alexander, 6. Wild pitch—Demaree. Hits—Off Demaree, 3 in 10 innings; off Crandall, none in 1 inning. Time of game—Two hours and four minutes. Umpires—Messrs. Klem and Orth.

This never happened in baseball before. In the tenth inning against the Phillies at the Polo Grounds yesterday the Giants won the game, and then they got no better than an ever break. Peculiar isn't it?

Here's the answer. The bases were jammed by Merkle, Herzog, and Wilson, and who comes up to bat but the well-known pinch hitter Harold McCormick. Alexander the Great, who was spinning the twists for the Phillies, looked at Harold and you could tell right off the reel that he hated him.

While Umpire Bill Klem turned his back to the game to announce that McCormick was batting for Al Demaree, the Mobile reaper, Alexander was impatient and burned the bulb over, and McCormick slashed it to left field for a single, scoring Merkle.

Up jumps Mr. Klem and says: "No! Positively no!" Here's the idea. Alexander and McCormick should have waited until Mr. Klem had told the 10,000 or maybe more inhabitants of the stadium that "Mac" was going to pinch hit. The "ump" was right, according to the rules.

So, now, don't get peevish, because the Giants didn't win. The best they did was to tie the Phillies in an eleven-inning tilt by the unproductive count of 0 to 0. Any mathematician knows that a 0 to 0 score gets you nothing. Can you beat it? No, neighbor, not without cheating.

So back comes Harold McCormick to the bat. He had raced to the clubhouse and was ready for the shower bath when an A. D. T. messenger boy, paid for by "Ump" Klem, said: "Harold, you must bat all over again." Harold and all the 10,000 spectators were dumbfounded. Say, they wouldn't believe it, and neither would you.

If the bitter truth must be told, McCormick batted over again, according to the dictates of Mr. Klem. He holds the same position in baseball that the Czar of Russia holds in his bailiwick. The fact is, you can't beat him.

The Phils didn't win, of course—you are impatient and want to know—because Al Demaree, the Mobile reaper, just wouldn't let them. Al is a young fellow, but he's got a twist on the old leather ball that fools the best of them. He is as cunning as a billiard player, and can put the reverse on the pill just when the enemy doesn't expect it.

Demaree gave the Phils three hits in eleven innings. Guess he's bad? Eh, what? The Giants were stacked against Alexander the Great, and, as good as they are, they couldn't touch him for more than nine hits, and they were unproductive.

The real thrill came in the tenth inning, when the Giants filled the bases with no one out. There's a lay-out that a blind man couldn't miss.

But what happened? McCormick, batting for Demaree, butted into the drama too rapidly before Mr. Klem had a chance to introduce him. He spanked a rap which scored the winning run, but Klem, you remember he's the fellow who runs the game, called them all back and made them do it over again.

In the meantime the Polo Grounds looked like the plains before Adrianople. The crowd rushed on to the field thinking the game was over, and that it was a Giant victory. It was too bad to fool all these fans, but this man Klem, he knows the game, and all there was to be done was to start all over again.

Alexander and McCormick violated the rules by playing before Klem fired the starting gun, and that's all there was to that. When McCormick came back to play his encore he spilled a grounder to Luderus, who forced Merkle at the plate, and Dooin, knowing his business, tossed McCormick out at first in the fastest little double play you ever peeked at.

There was no riot, but honestly for a time it looked like a strike of the mill hands at Lawrence, Mass. If you were at the game and you are a resident of New York, way down in your heart you would have thought that the Giants had won fair and square. Sure, everybody thinks so. But don't overlook Mr. Klem. He knows his business well, and what he says goes.

If there's a secret about why no one won this game, Uncle Dudley knows why. If Al Demaree, the Mobile reaper, hadn't pitched so well, the Phils would have had a chance. If Fred Merkle hadn't been so active in picking foul flys out of the lower boxes, that would have made a difference.

On the other hand, as the man said when he changed his one clean cuff, if Alexander hadn't been such a good pitcher in a pinch, the Giants would have won.

But as the story stands, no one won. You should worry.

The Giants go to Brooklyn this afternoon, and then they will make up for lost time.

"Lest we forget," a word of praise ought to be chronicled about Mickey Doolan, who showed yesterday that he is one of the best little shortstops in captivity. Mickey doesn't have to look where he throws. He just pegs the bulb, and every time and from every angle it always lands in the mitten of Luderus. Mike is there, that's a fact.

STACK AWES THE BRAVES.

Brooklyn Pitcher in Such Good Form His Team Wins Easily.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., April 25.—Bill Dahlen's Superbas made it three out of four from the Braves to-day by winning, 7 to 1, and the team coming back strong after yesterday's extra inning defeat. Stack, pitching his first full game, was good all the way, allowing Boston only five hits, these being well scattered. So strong was Stack that Boston saw second base only once until the Superbas were traveling under a 7 to 0 lead.

George Tyler, one of Stallings's veteran left-handers, pitched for the Braves, being caught by Drummond Brown, one of the recruits. Tyler was wild, but was well supported down through the sixth. Brooklyn made ten hits against Tyler, bunching them nicely in the sixth and seventh innings for their extra runs. Only one run was scored by either team for five innings, this being by Brooklyn in the first.

Stengel started the game by popping an apparently easy fly that Kirke misjudged in the right field, and on which Stengel made three bases. Cutshaw then hit to Calhoun, but the Boston first baseman's return to the plate came too late.

In the third inning it looked as if Brooklyn would break up the game when Stack doubled and Stengel singled. Maranville, however, made a neat play to first base on a hard rap from Cutshaw, and after Tyler had purposely passed Hummel, filling the bases, Wheat then fanned and Daubert hit for a force out.

For five innings only two Bostonians saw first base, neither advancing. Titus was passed only to be caught stealing, and Kirke, in the fifth inning, was nipped at second base by Wheat when he tried to convert the home team's first single of the game into a double.

In the fifth inning Brooklyn got going, the bases being filled on passes to Hummel and Daubert, and Wheat sandwiching in a hit. Singles by Smith and Miller then made three runs easy. Three more Dodgers crossed the plate in the sixth, Stengel walking, Cutshaw getting a hit, Wheat hitting safe, and then scoring from first base when Kirke's throw home on Daubert's single bounded past Brown.

Boston's one run came in the seventh inning, Stengel overrunning Titus's hit, which went for a triple, Brooklyn making no attempt to head off the run on Sweeney's subsequent bounder to Cutshaw.

A brilliant running catch by Wheat was the fielding feature of the game, while Maranville played another sterling game in the short field for the Braves.

Cubs Lose to the Pirates.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., April 25.—Loose fielding by the Chicago team in the second inning to-day and a pair of bunts that were poorly handled gave Pittsburgh three runs that stood them in good stead when Robinson weakened in the ninth inning. After pitching shut-out ball for eight innings, the left-hander weakened. Leach's triple, Schulte's single, Zimmerman's double, an error by McCarthy, and Saier's sacrifice fly gave the Cubs their only three runs. Hendrix checked the rally. Hits in the early innings off Ritchie were lucky, but he contributed to the defeat himself with a pair of errors. Carey's single, an out, and Byrne's hit gave Pittsburgh the first run. Singles by Wilson and Butler added another in the sixth, and bunched hits added one more in the seventh. The score:

Durland Baseball Team Wins.

The indoor baseball team of Durland's Riding Academy defeated the City Athletic Club nine in the final game of a three-game series at Durland's Academy last night by the score of 10 to 8. This victory makes the second of the series for the Durland team. The longest hit of the series was attributed to S. Well of the City Athletic Club team, who drove the ball through one of the open windows for a three-bagger, according to ground rules. The score by innings:

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 25.—Eddie Plank, veteran southpaw of the Athletics, who has been booked for retirement for several seasons past, pitched one of the best games of his career to-day, shutting out the New York Americans by a score of 4 to 0. Plank not only pitched wonderful ball, but in the sixth inning, when Manager Chance had ordered Jack Lapp passed to first base on balls, filling the bases with two out, Plank upset the dope by lacing a clean single to centre which tallied two runs.

Only twenty-nine men faced Plank and only four got as far as first base and only two reached second during the nine innings. Ten were retired on strikes and not one base on balls was issued by the Gettysburg southpaw.

Although the Athletics failed to score against Russell Ford until the sixth inning, the pitching honors were all in favor of Plank. After the fifth inning not a New York runner got to first base. In the sixth Plank fanned the side, and in each of the last three innings not a ball was hit out of the infield.

The Athletics played like world's champions, fielding brilliantly behind the superb pitching of Plank, and not an error was charged against them. In the fifth a lightning double play was executed by Collins, Barry, and McInnis, and in the ninth McInnis made a wonderful pick-up of Barry's low throw to first base, which saved Barry an error. New York also contributed some fancy fielding stunts, the work of Midkiff at third being the feature.

The Athletics hit Ford safely in every inning he pitched, but failed to get more than one hit an inning until the sixth. Eddie Collins had a big day at the bat. Four times he faced Ford, and each time made a hit. In the first inning he beat out a pretty bunt to Midkiff, but his other hits were slashing two-baggers. Daley got back into the line-up, and his single in the sixth inning drove in the first two runs scored by the Mackmen.

The Athletics threatened to score in each inning, but failed to get a run over until the sixth. Murphy walked in the first and Oldring sacrificed. Collins bunted safely, but Murphy tried to score from second base and was nipped at the plate. Collins stole second, and after Baker walked they worked a double steal, but McInnis was thrown out by Williams. Barry's triple with one out in the second and Collins's two-bagger with two out in the third were wasted. Daley singled and died stealing in the fourth inning.

In the fifth, Lapp beat out an infield hit and Plank sacrificed. Murphy's out put Lapp on third base, and then Midkiff robbed Oldring of a two-bagger by a wonderful stop. Collins started the sixth with another double and Baker walked. McInnis flied to Cree. Daley singled to centre, scoring Collins and Baker. Barry was tossed out by Ford. Lapp was purposely sent to first on balls, in order to bring up Plank. The play went wrong this time, for Plank hit the first ball pitched to him on a line to centre, scoring Daley. Murphy flied to Wolter. Collins's third double and an out and a wild pitch gave the final run in the seventh. Fisher pitched the eighth inning and retired the side in order.

New York failed to get to first base until the fourth, when, with two out, Hartzell singled and stole second. Plank fanned Cree on four pitched balls. Chance singled in the fifth and Midkiff bunted safely over Baker's head. McKechnie bunted in front of the plate, and Lapp nipped Chance at third. Williams hit into a double play. Plank did not allow another man to get on base during the remainder of the game.

Senators Make Winning Rally.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—After pitching sensatinal ball, O'Brien weakened in the eighth inning to-day and Washington, by a great finish, batted out a victory, winning the last game of the series with Boston 5 to 4. In seven innings O'Brien struck out twelve men, taking six in the first two innings. The first three men to face O'Brien in the eighth hit safely, and Hall was sent to the rescue. He was touched for three hits and allowed a base on balls. Boston hit Gallia hard for four runs. Boehling, who went in in the sixth inning, was relieved by Johnson after Washington took the lead. President Wilson was in the grandstand again to-day. The score:

Cobb Sees His Mates Shut Out.

DETROIT, Mich., April 25.—Blanding, pitching his first game of the year, held Detroit to five singles, and Cleveland shut out Detroit to-day, 3 to 0. Five of Cleveland's seven hits were for extra bases, Johnston starring with the stick with a double and triple in three times at bat. The Tigers got two hits in the opening inning, and two in the ninth, but with men on bases, Blanding was at his best.

Ty Cob quietly entered the Detroit dug-out early in the game, and although he sat on the bench chatting with his team mates for some time no one in the stands knew of his presence. The score:

NEW CATCHER FOR YANKEES

Phil Gossett Comes to New York from the Chicago Americans.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 25.—Catcher Phil Gossett, the husky young back stop secured by the White Sox from the St. Joseph, Western League club, tot-day was sold to the New York Americans by President Comiskey. The sale price was not made public.

Gossett was regarded as the best catcher in the Western League last season, but had no chance to obtain a permanent berth with the South Siders, who have an unusually strong catching staff in Schalk, Sullivan, Kuhn, and Easterly. Gossett showed promise, and is likely to prove a valuable man for Frank Chance after a year's experience in the big league.

The youngster stands 5 feet 11 inches and weighs 175 pounds. For several years he caught "Chief" Johnson, the Indian, who also was bought by the Sox, and who now is a member of the Cincinnati Reds.

Gossett will leave for the East at once and join the Yankees in New York.

Johnson Changes Scoring Rules.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Hereafter an American League batter will be credited with a hit on a certain play hitherto scored as fielder's choice, according to a notice sent out by President B. B. Johnson to official scorers in his organization. His letter in part follows:

"Official scorers of the American League are requested to credit the batsmen with hits in the following cases:

"When, with one or more runners on bases, the batsman reaches first base on a play to retire the runner nearest to home plate, and no out results, provided that the play be made without error by an opponent.

"Example: With runners on first and second, the batsman hits to the pitcher or infielder, who makes a perfect attempt to retire the runner going to third, but the runner beats the play, and the batsman reaches first."

Changes in Fordham Schedule.

The Wesleyan-Fordham game scheduled for to-day at Fordham Field has been postponed until May 13. Franklin and Marshall College of Lancaster, Penn., has been added to the schedule by Manager Barford. Ursinus plays at Fordham on Wednesday of next week, and is followed by Franklin and Marshall on Thursday and Rhode Island State on Saturday. The Maroon team is in poor shape, so the postponement of the Wesleyan game is welcomed by Coach Coffey and Trainer Besas, who expect to have the nine in form by the time of the Ursinus game next Wednesday.

40,000 to See Chance in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Seats for 40,000 persons will be provided at the American League baseball park on May 17, when followers of the game will welcome Frank Chance, manager of the New York American League team and former leader of the Chicago Nationals. Work of building 2,500 box seats in front of the grand stand was begun yesterday. With this addition the park will have a total of 10,000 box seats.

TY COBB AT PEACE WITH DETROIT CLUB

Signs Contract, but Its Terms Not Made Public—Asks for Reinstatement.

DETROIT, April 25.—After a conference with President Navin this afternoon, Tyrus Cobb, centre fielder of the Detroit American League Baseball Club, attached his name to a 1913 contract. The terms were not given out. Application for Cobb's reinstatement was immediately made to the National Commission.

The conference between President Navin and Cobb lasted about two hours. Both emerged from the conference room smiling, and when they were asked for the contract terms they smiled more broadly, but refused to give out any information.

"This is my last holdout," said Cobb as he left Mr. Navin's office. "I'm going to get into my uniform just as soon as possible and begin to practice, and I'll be ready to play when they let me."

If the National Commission acts on Cobb's reinstatement promptly and doesn't keep him out of the game any longer, it is expected he will be in shape to play within a week.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 25.—"Other than having been informed that Cobb had signed with the Detroit American League team, I know nothing about his case. I naturally will have to wait until a formal application for reinstatement has been made and I have delved into the details before I can say anything."

The above statement was made by August Hermann, Chairman of the National Commission, to-day when he was informed that Cobb had applied for reinstatement.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Ty Cobb's agreement with the Detroit Baseball Club will not deter Representative Gallagher of Illinois from pressing his proposed Congressional investigation of the so-called baseball trust. To-day Mr. Gallagher conferred with members of the Rules Committee to learn what the chances were for hearings on his resolution as soon as the tariff is disposed of.

Representative Hardwick of Georgia declared he had abandoned his intention to introduce a similar resolution because of the agreement between Cobb and the Detroit management.

COLLEGE BASEBALL.

Yale Outbatted, but Shuts Out Georgetown, 3 to 0, at New Haven.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 25.—Yale blanked Georgetown 3 to 0 to-day in a game in which Yale made only four hits, to ten for the visitors. In each of the last five innings Georgetown had at least two men on bases when the third our was scored. Both pitchers freely allowed passes, and two of the three Yale runs were scored by men whom McCarthy passed.

Middlebrook, the first baseman, was passed. He stole second, and scored on Blossom's terirfic whack between Mulcahy's legs. In the fourth, Riddell was passed, took third on Cornish's single, and scored on Pumpelly's sacrifice fly. Schofield followed with a single. Burdett was passed and Scott singled, but Schofield, through poor coaching, was thrown out at the plate, and Middlebrook gave Shugrue a chance to make the most brilliant running catch of the game, closing the inning. The score:

Stevens Defeats Union College.

Stevens Tech., on Castle Point Field, Hoboken, yesterday defeated Union College in baseball for the first time in three years. The first five innings were closely contested, but in the sixth two singles, a passed ball, and three errors gave the engineers four runs. In the eighth two singles, two passes, and two errors resulted in four more runs. Then Jenkins was displaced by Smith. Johnson and Lansdell starred for Stevens, while D. Beever and Nauman played the best for Union. The summary:

Cornell Would Play Football Here.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 25.—Graduate Manager Kent of the Cornell Athletic Council is negotiating with the management of the Polo Grounds, in New York, for a football game with one of the big Eastern colleges for the Fall of 1914. Dartmouth and the Indians play there next Fall, but the management is said to favor a New York State college for the following year.

No Summer Baseball at Amherst.

Special to The New York Times.

AMHERST, Mass., April 25.—By a vote of 5 to 4 the Amherst College Athletic Board to-day decided against Summer baseball. The Faculty members of the board opposed the plan, while four student members favored it. A committee was appointed to formulate rules for the regulation of the sport.

BOXING AT NEW POLO A. A.

Kid Mahoney Defeats Billy Myers—Ludett Quits.

Kid Mahoney of Racine, Wis., gained the honors over Billy Myers of Harlem in a fast ten-round bout which featured last night's show at the New Polo A. A., 129th Street and Park Avenue. The Westerner's cleverness and ring experience proved too much for the local boy, and although Myers fought at a clip that made the bout interesting all the way he was clearly outpointed. Mahoney was handicapped in weight, the ringside figures showing 115¼ pounds for the Westerner and 119¼ pounds for Myers.

Myers made a spurt in the fourth round that brought out considerable noise from his large number of followers, who helped to crowd the clubhouse, and he followed his good work by again gaining the honors in the fifth round. But there were the only chapters in which the New Yorker shone to advantage over Mahoney. He managed to get an even break in two rounds, but was on the losing end of the battle in six of the ten rounds. Mahoney's left hand jabs and hooks brought blood from Myers's mouth and nose as early as the second round, and the Harlem boy had the appearance of a badly beaten boxer most of the way. He was always strong, however, and was never in any danger of being stopped.

The ten-round semi-final was a disappointment. It brought together Billy Hart of Harlem and Young Ludett, a Canadian middleweight, who had been touted as a likely champion. It was Ludett's first essay over the ten-round route in New York, and he went just half way. He had the better of the bout for five rounds, and he astonished the crowd, as well as his own seconds, after the fifth round was finished by declaring that he would not continue. He gave as his excuse that Hart was hurting him with his hard punches to the stomach. Hart weighed 151 pounds and Ludett was five pounds heavier.

H. K. KERR BEST IN GOLF.

New Yorker Most Probable Winner of Atlantic City Tournament.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 25.—Hamilton K. Kerr of Ekwanok and New York, the Vermont champion, won two easy matches in the open golf tournament at the County Club of Atlantic City to-day. The other survivors in the first division were Walter Nagle, C. B. Buxton and Maurice Risley, all of the home club. As Kerr has been going well, many expect to see him win the tournament.

This morning against Fred Sherman of the local club Kerr won by an 8 and 7 margin, the New Yorker going out in 36 strokes. He also had plenty to spare at the end against J. D. Armstrong of Buffalo in the second round.

Fred Snare of Englewood lost this morning, while George Crump of Philadelphia carried Risley to the home green in a hard-fought second-round tilt. John Shackelford, a local lad of thirteen years, won the first round of the fifth sixteen, and then lost to B. J. Shove of Onondaga in a contest carried to the twenty-first hole. The summary:

First Sixteen.—First Round—H. W. Wood, White Marsh Valley, beat C. H. Baines, Overbrook, 4 and 3; Walter Nagle, Atlantic City, beat A. E. Johnston, St. Paul, 1 up; J. D. Armstrong, Buffalo, beat Frank Smathers, Atlantic City, by default; Hamilton Kerr, Ekwanok, beat Fred Sherman, Atlantic City, 8 and 7; J. M. Thompson, Springhaven, beat Fred Snare, Englewood, 3 and 1; C. B. Buxton, Atlantic City, beat Theodore Senseman, Atlantic City, 1 up; George A. Crump, Philadelphia, beat J. K. McFarland, Westchester, 7 and 6; Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, beat W. C. Baldwin, Chevy Chase, 4 and 2.

Second Round—Nagle beat Wood 5 and 4; Kerr beat Armstrong, 5 and 3; Buxton beat Thompson, 3 and 1; Risley beat Crump, 2 up.

Second Sixteen.—First Round—A. W. Westney, Atlantic City, beat E. H. Fairbanks, Philadelphia, 2 and 1; Samuel Ellis, Buffalo, beat F. H. McCall, Atlantic City, 2 and 1; W. L. Allen, Belfield, beat F. L. Meister, Phoenixville, 7 and 5; A. E. Lord, Atlantic City, beat D. C. Reed, Atlantic City, 5 and 4; Hugh Willoughby, Philadelphia, beat H. W. Hemphill, Atlantic City, 5 and 4; George F. Brown, Huntingdon Valley, beat G. F. Leavitt, unattached, 2 up; A. E. White, Atlantic City, beat H. C. Edwards, Atlantic City, by default; T. P. Endicott, Atlantic City, beat S. L. Knisell, Atlantic City, 6 and 5.

Second Round—Ellis beat Westney, 1 up; Allen beat Lord, 3 and 2; Willoughby beat Brown, 5 and 2; Endicott beat White, 4 and 3.

MILLION FOR BOXING BOUTS.

State Athletic Commission Shows Big Sum Spent for Sport.

According to the annual report of the State Athletic Commission, $983,826.20 was the gross amount received by the boxing clubs for the year ended Nov. 30, 1912. Of this sum $49,191.31 was paid into the commission's treasury. Since the appointment of the commission the public has paid $1,219,199.95 to witness boxing bouts.

The reports goes into detail, and after explaining the workings of the commission rules, says harmonious relations have been established with the National Sporting Club of London and the French Federation of Boxing Clubs, and through the efforts of the commission boxing will be placed on the programmes of all future Olympic games.

The commission during the year licensed forty clubs, which makes eighty-nine organizations which have been licensed under the law. Of this number four have been revoked during the year, making a total of five, and the number revoked and denied up to the date of this report ten, with eight surrendered, leaving seventy-six licenses in existence under the law Nov. 30, 1912.

In contrast with licenses held prior to Dec. 1, 1911, the ratio is forty-nine clubs in New York City and forty outside the greater municipality.

Harvard and Columbia in Soccer.

Columbia's soccer eleven will line up against the Harvard team this afternoon on South Field in the annual game between the two university elevens. This game is an important one in the intercollegiate series for the Milnes Cup. Both teams have played well in the early games of the series, and a close contest is expected. Capt. Evans of the Columbia team reports that his men are all in good condition again.

Washington Crew May Come East.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 25.—The University of Washington eight-oar crew which won the recent Pacific Coast championship in the regatta with Stanford and California will participate in the Poughkeepsie regatta in June if the undergraduates at the State university can raise $1,000 to defray the expenses of the trip. Local business men, it was announced to-day, have promised to guarantee all expenses over $1,000 if the students raise that amount.

LIPTON SURPRISED AT N. Y. Y. C. DELAY

Expected Club to Decide Definitely at Its Meeting as to Acceptance of Cup Challenge.

LONDON, April 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton, the British yachtsman who has been anxiously awaiting the reply of the New York Yacht Club to his challenge for the America's Cup, is somewhat surprised that its consideration by the committee of the New York club has been put off for two weeks. He said he quite understood that the usual course was to refer a challenge to the committee of the club, but on the last occasion the committee met on the same day as the club meeting was held and the reply was sent that night.

In regard to the report cabled from New York that the New York Yacht Club would ask for some further particulars, Sir Thomas Lipton said he could not understand what further details were desired, as the challenge was drawn on the lines of previous ones which the New York Yacht Club had accepted.

BOSTON WANTS A CHANCE.

Eastern Yachtsmen Would Build a "Scow" for America's Cup Trials.

BOSTON, April 25.—Unless restrictions as to type are thrown around the America's Cup races of 1914 as the result of the negotiations between the New York and Royal Ulster Yacht Clubs, it was learned to-day that Boston may be represented in the American trial races by a 75-foot scow. Eastern designers and builders have produced some very fast boats of this type during the past fifteen years, and it was stated that to increase the size of such a yacht would be a matter only of the scientific adjustment of weights, braces and the selection of the right material, while the estimated expense would be less than $100,000.

"Such a yacht might fall far short of the present ideal as to looks," said an Eastern designer, "but she would be almighty fast, and the present attitude of the New York Yacht Club calls for the speediest boat that can be turned out."

Eastern yachtsmen also hope that the trial races next year may be thrown open to all yacht clubs in the country.

ENGLAND'S POLO TEAM.

Definite Selections of Players Who Will Come to Lift International Cup.

LONDON, April 25.—England's polo team which will compete with the American team for the international polo cup on Long Island in June, was defintely selected to-day. Walter S. Buckmaster will Captain the invaders. The other members of the team are Captain R. G. Ritson, Captain Noel Edwards, Captain Leslie St. George Cheape, F. M. Freake, Lord Wodehouse, and Captain Lockett.

Hudson River Tennis Election.

At the annual meeting of the Hudson River Lawn Tennis Association, held yesterday at the Hotel Manhattan, it developed that the affairs of the organization were in a very satisfactory condition, and that the association would hold its annual tournament at a date to be definitely settled upon some time between Aug. 10 and 20. The election of officers resulted as follows: President—H. H. Burdick; Vice President—Col. L. H. Holt of the West Point Officers' Lawn Tennis Association; Secretary-Treasurer—J. Alexander Del-Mar; Executive Committee—Dr. Johannott, Powelton Lawn Tennis Club; Alexander J. Bradley, New Rochelle Lawn Tennis Club; J. K. West, Ardsley; Milton McGuire, Saegkill Golf Club; Ray Guernsey, Poughkeepsie Lawn Tennis Club. The Chairman of the Tournament Committee elected was Homer Guernsey.

N. Y. C. Inter-Department Bowling.

By an aggregate score of 1,660 to 1,568 the Secretary's Office bowling team defeated that of the Register of Contract's and won the roll-off in the New York Central Interdepartment Bowling League. The winners took two straight games, rolling 844 in the second. The scores:

Dankelman Wins Billiard Match.

John Dankelman of this city defeated Charles Otis of Brooklyn in the final game of their best four out of seven games match last night at Keeney's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn by the score of 50 to 42 in eighty-one innings. This victory makes Dankelman's third straight win over the Brooklyn player and his fourth of the series of five, which gives him the prize valued at $100. Each made a high run of 4 points.

Athlete Pat McDonald Married.

Pat McDonald, the Times Square traffic policeman, who won the shot putting championship of the world at the Olympic games last year in Stockholm, was married last Tuesday in the Church of Our Lady of Mercy to Mary McMahon. The genial policeman's bride is the daughter of Thomas McMahon, a County Clare man, who has been a citizen of the United States for nearly forty years.

New Poughkeepsie Race Probable.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 25.—Coach Charles E. Courtney sees no objection, he said to-day, to the plan advanced by Columbia for a race in the Poughkeepsie Regatta, in which the men would be limited to a maximum weight of 160 pounds. Columbia and Pennsylvania are said to favor the plan, and Cornell would probably offer no objections. It is proposed to permit Dartmouth, New York, Georgetown, and other small universities to enter, and the race would probably be over a two or three mile course.

Australian Tennis Men Arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—Two of the Australian challengers for the Davis international tennis trophy arrived here to-day on the liner Ventura from Sydney. They are Horace Rice and A. B. Jones, both veterans. Maurice McLaughlin, the National singles champion, met the Australians at the pier. Jones and Rice have not decided just how they will spend their time between now and the elimination matches to be played in New York on June 6, 7, and 9, but they will practice in a number of local matches.

ROCKAWAY HUNT RACES.

New Course at Hewlett Bay Park to be Opened To-day.

The amateur racing season opens today with the annual hunter and pony races of the Rockaway Hunting Club at the new course at Hewlett Bay Park, L. I. Forty-three entries have been made for the six events which make up the card, and five of these are for amateur riders.

The new course at Hewlett Bay Park is entirely on high ground, and unusual pains have been taken to get it in the best of condition for to-day's races. The outer course provides a two-mile circuit, and has brush and water jumps for the steeplechase events and rail fences for the hunting races. In addition, there is a mile flat course. The stands and parking spaces are located on a hillside and command a view of the entire course. The entrance to the course is on Everit Avenue.

The officials who will have charge of these races are: Stewards, H. S. Page, Henry W. Bull, Foxhall P. Keene and Fletcher Harper; Judges, E. C. Cowdin and A. Butler Duncan; Starter, Frank J. Bryan; Paddock and Patrol Judge, Edward S. Vose; Clerk of the Scales, H. P. Conkling, and Clerk of the Course, George Call.

FAIRMOUNT PARK RACE.

Mayor Blankenburg Favors Revival of Auto Classic at Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—The Fairmount Park automobile race may be revived as the result of the announcement made this afternoon by Mayor Blankenburg that he is in favor of automobile racing and advising the committee representing the Quaker City Motor Club to have Councils authorize the race by the passage of a resolution. The motor club committee announced that the Councils resolution would be drawn immediately and that the Quaker City Motor Club would endeavor to hold the 200-mile race in October.

One year ago Mayor Blankenburg applauded the action of the Fairmount Park Commission in refusing the use of the park for the running of this race. This applause followed a strenuous, successful attack made upon the holding of the race by Dr. J. William White, who asserted that the machines did a great deal of damage to the roads and endangered life. Owing to the refusal of the Fairmount Park Commission to give the use of the park the race had to be called off in 1912, although it had been held for four successive years previous to this time and without a serious accident.

ELECT THE TRUSTEES FOR COMMERCIAL CO.

Harriman, Who Was Insurgent with National Reserve Bank, Goes Over to Other Side.

NEARLY ALL VOTES FOR HIM

He Is to Undertake a Reorganization—Other Trustees Are Wm. A. De Long and John Z. Lowe, Jr.

The National Reserve Bank lost its fight yesterday over the election of trustees in bankruptcy for the New York Commercial Company, which failed for nearly $5,000,000, the slate presented by Joseph M. Hartfield of White & Case, who have been acting as counsel for the Creditors' Committee, receiving a large majority of the votes of the unsecured creditors.

The real bone of contention was in the fact that some of the banks which held paper of the failed rubber company had applied toward its payment the balances the company had with them on deposit. These amounts aggregated about $273,000 and the National Reserve Bank maintained that this money should be turned over to the trustees for the benefit of all the creditors. On this point the insurgent bank gained a partial victory, as John J. Townsend, referee in bankruptcy, intimated that he would direct the trustees to bring suit to test this action by the banks and to employ as counsel in the proceeding Ralph L. Collett of Sullivan & Cromwell, who represented the National Reserve at the meeting.

It was at Mr. Townsend's office, 45 Cedar Street, that the meeting was held, and the contest was over the election of Joseph W. Harriman, President of the Harriman National Bank, as one of the trustees. It developed that the Harriman National Bank had also been an insurgent up to Wednesday, when Mr. Harriman was invited by the Creditors' Committee to become one of the trustees.

It first became apparent that the New York Commercial Company was in trouble last February, when John Z. Lowe, Jr., was appointed receiver in a friendly suit brought in Virginia, where the company was incorporated. The Creditors' Committee was then formed, consisting of Gates W. McGarrah, President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank; Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange; James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National; Robert M. Gallaway, President of the Merchants' National, and W. B. Donham, Vice President of the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston. Letters were sent to the unsecured creditors, most of which were banks that had bought the company's paper from note brokers, inviting them to deposit their claims and powers of attorney with the committee.

The Question at Issue.

A circular followed from the National Reserve in which it declared that banks represented on the Creditors Committee were secured and urging that in order that the unsecured creditors might name either a single trustee or one of three, powers of attorney be sent to its Vice President, Frank V. Baldwin.

As it developed yesterday the Harriman National had sent out circulars, taking substantially the same position as the National Reserve, and inviting powers of attorney for its cashier.

In answer to the National Reserve, the Creditors' Committee sent letters saying that none of the banks represented upon it held any collateral security, but that some of them had applied deposits to the payment of notes. The result of this was, Mr. Collett said, that responses to the National Reserve circular ceased and it had only six claims yesterday, including its own. The Harriman National hadn't received any. Creditors, it was explained, accepted the statement of the prominent bankers on the committee that their own claims were unsecured and took no action.

All the contention arose from the fact that the schedule filed by the New York Commercial Company, when it went into bankruptcy in the Federal Court on April 12, included among the secured creditors those banks which had applied deposits to the payment of notes. It was conceded yesterday that the only creditors secured by collateral were banks which had loaned money on shipments of rubber, and which held warehouse receipts or bills of lading as collateral.

Nearly All for Harriman.

When the unsecured claims had been proved yesterday and the election of Trustees was called for, Mr. Hartfield nominated John Z. Lowe, Jr., William A. DeLong, Secretary of the Creditors' Committee, and Mr. Harriman. Frank V. Baldwin nominated the first two and in place of Mr. Harriman named Alfred Jaretzki, a member of Mr. Collett's firm, who was not present and didn't know he was to be the insurgent candidate.

A Point of Order.

Mr. Hartfield voted ninety-three claims for Mr. Harriman and others present voted eight more. Mr. Jaretzki got the six votes held by Mr. Baldwin and three more from other creditors present. The amount of claims, as well as the number, was overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. Harriman.

Mr. Collett raised the point that when claims were filed with the committee title passed to the committe under the form of power of attorney used, and that it could, therefore, cast only one vote in their behalf. To this Mr. Hartfield replied that all such claims had been reassigned from the committee to the individual creditors. Mr. Collett declared that this wouldn't do, as the reassignments had been subsequent to the petition in bankruptcy.

Mr. Hartfield then said that of the claims he had voted, thirty-three had never been assigned to the committee, and the same was true of the eight votes cast by others present, and this was sufficient to elect Mr. Harriman, regardless of the sixty claims that had been assigned and reassigned. Mr. Collett raised objections to several of the unassigned claims, but they were overruled by Referee Townsend, and Mr. Collett finally conceded that the Harriman ticket had a majority in number and amount.

Harriman to Reorganize.

This elected Mr. Harriman, and the question arose whether his election should be approved or disapproved by the referee. Mr. Collett at this point brought up the question of the use of deposits. It was not legal, he said, under the statutes of either New York or Virginia, although it was under the Federal law. It was reported, he said, when the petition in bankruptcy was filed in the Federal court, that this move was to make it possible for the banks to retain the sums they had applied on their notes. Their course, he said, was questionable, and it was just because it was questionable that the other creditors should have representation among the Trustees, so that they would have some assurance that it would be tested.

"If these banks," said the referee, "have done something they had no right to do they are answerable for it. The question is who is to make them answer. The Harriman National is the largest unsecured creditor, for $100,000, and would suffer equally with the others if the deposits were improperly applied. I don't think the objection to Mr. Harriman would justify me in withholding my approval of his election, but at the same time I want it understood that Mr. Collett can apply here for instructions to the Trustees to investigate the matter."

Henry B. Wesselman, representing Mr. Harriman, disclosed the fact that his client contemplated taking the lead in a reorganization of the failed company, and said it was for that reason, coupled with the fact that his bank was the largest unsecured creditor, that he had been invited to become a Trustee. He was, therefore, the best possible man for the unsecured creditors to have as their representative, Mr. Wesselman said.

A joint and several bond of $50,000 was required of the Trustees, and the proceedings were adjourned to next Wednesday.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Wheat sold off from the day's high but closed ⅜ to ⅝c net higher. Corn declined about ½c per bushel from the highest prices reached during the day, and closed easy at a partial ⅜c net loss. Oats prices were affected by the favorable crop news, closing about ¼ to ⅜c net lower. Cotton prices were unsettled yesterday and reached new low ground for the season, closing at a net decline of from 9 to 16 points. Cottonseed oil closed at a net loss of 3 to 9 points.

WHEAT.

The foreign news was again a leading bull factor in the wheat market yesterday, and largely accounted for the advance of 1@1¼c per bushel, which occurred during the forenoon, when the market showed its greatest strength. Attending the firmness abroad were early rumors of further export business, which, failing of confirmation, led to considerable realizing in the late afternoon, under which prices lost a good part of their upturn, closing ⅜@⅝c over the previous night. There was also a little buying early on reports of frost in the Southwest, although this was not considered an important factor, and domestic crop news as a whole remained very favorable. In the Liverpool market there was an advance of ¼@¾d, Paris was 1⅝@1⅞c higher, and Buenos Aires opened ⅜c higher, following a strong market on Thursday. Larger Argentine shipments than expected were made at the expense of the visible supply, which is now only 4,480,000 bushels, against 7,360,000 bushels a week ago. Arrivals from the interior were said to be light, and holders very firm. As an instance of the character of crop news from the Southwest, a prominent newspaper in Kansas estimated 124,000,000 bushels as a possibility in that State, and several other authorities suggested a yield well over 100,000,000 bushels. This resulted in larger country offerings from both Kansas and Nebraska. The Modern Miller report was also very bearish on both hard and soft Winter wheat crops. Although it was colder in the Canadian Northwest, seeding operations progressed rapidly. Private cables said Russian supplies to the end of the season will probably be moderate, but that crop prospects are generally favorable. A Buenos Aires cable estimated the surplus available for export April 20 to be 56,625,000 bushels. Shipments for the next month are not expected to exceed 2,650,000 bushels per week. No. 2 red locally was still nominal, and No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.03½, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

Deriving a little early steadiness from the advance in wheat, the corn market, after selling ⅛c to ⅜c above the previous night, turned weaker in the afternoon and declined about ½c per bushel, closing easy at a partial ⅜c net loss. Planting has made rapid progress in Southern sections of the belt and will be extended vigorously elsewhere with the return of good weather, which is now scheduled. Weakness in the Western cash market had the effect of promoting more or less bear pressure in the last hour. Export corn here was quoted at 63c., nominal, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

The favorable crop news, in connection with easier spot markets, encouraged moderate pressure in oats and weakened prices about ¼ to ⅜c per bushel net. In New York the cash market was practically unchanged, closing as follows: Standard white 41c, nominal; No. 3, 41½ to 41c; No. 4, 39½ to 40c; natural white, 38½ to 41c; white clipped, 39 to 42c, all track. What was said to be one of the finest cars of clipped oats ever received in the New York market was exhibited by a local trader yesterday. He sold the grain at a high premium for seed purposes.

PROVISIONS.

While the early market for provisions showed quite a firm undertone in sympathy with higher hogs, there was a good deal of later pressure, which forced the market down decidedly, and it closed at about the lowest figures of the day. Commission houses and packers were sellers on this break, and the market had very little support from those who acted on the bull side during the forenoon. Receipts at Chicago were 11,000, Kansas City had 4,000, Omaha 5,600, and the West 55,000 hogs. Only 6,000 hogs were expected at Chicago on Saturday.

COTTON.

The cotton market was unsettled again yesterday and prices broke into new low ground for the season in the late trading, with the close steady, but at a net decline of from 9 to 16 points and within a point or two of the lowest. Predictions of continued low temperatures in the western belt and indications that liquidation of May contracts was tapering off were followed by a moderate rally during the middle of the day, but offerings increased again, owing to a bearish view of the week-end figures, talk of lower Southern spot markets, and the failure of demand to broaden on advances. Bearish reports as to the start of the new crop and the probable acreage contributed to the decline, and, while scattering shorts seemed willing to accept comparatively moderate profits, the talk around the ring was almost unanimously in favor of ultimately lower prices.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points and soon showed a net loss of from 7 to 15 points under liquidation by many of yesterday's buyers and active scattered selling. It looked, in fact, like a renewal of the general selling movement noted during the middle of the week, which had been checked by the desire to take profits or by anxiety over the frost predictions on Thursday. Liverpool and New Orleans were both buyers here, however, while there was a great deal of covering, and, following the western belt forecast, the market rallied about 6 points from the lowest. Demand seemed to taper off on this improvement, and the low point of the day was reached just before the close. Covering was active enough to steady the tone, but nothing more than very slight rallies occurred, although the May-July difference, which had widened to about 10 points Thursday, narrowed to 6 points during Friday's trading.

Minimum temperatures ranged down to 36 degrees in the State of Oklahoma for the twenty-four hours ending Friday morning, and frost was reported at ten stations in Texas, but the cold weather was considered too early in the season to do any harm in these sections, and failed to make much impression on sentiment. The results of a canvass of Southern correspondents showed an anticipated increase of about 7 per cent. in acreage, and indicated that the crop was about half planted. The week-end figures showed spinners' takings of 194,716 bales for the week, against 304,056 last year, and a visible supply decrease of 81,479, against 149,951 last year, American cotton.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and 15 points lower, at 11.85 for middling upland; sales, nil.

COTTONSEED OIL.

After a steady opening the oil market turned weaker, and was rather heavy for the balance of the session, influenced by a drop in lard, moderate liquidation, some talk of an easier crude market, and selling by refiners. Prices at the close showed 3@9 points net loss.

COFFEE.

Opening prices were 3 to 9 points lower, owing to selling by prominent brokers. May notices to the extent of 74,000 bags were issued early. After midday prices rallied sharply and closed at a net advance of 5 to 8 points. Total sales, 109,000 bags. Havre was narrow, closing ¼ franc lower to ¼ franc higher. Hamburg closed unchanged to ¼ pfennig up. Rio gained 50 reis, but Santos was unchanged.

Spot coffee, 11¼c for Rio 7.

CONDITIONS OF TRADE.

Regarding the present condition of trade Dun's Review says:

The tariff readjustment continues to inspire caution in the trade circles more immediately affected, but the end of uncertainty is now not far distant. Weather conditions are distinctly better and this gives an impetus, not only to building operations, but also to retail trade and real estate transfers. Money conditions are easier, both at home and abroad, and while there is some renewal of anxiety regarding the Balkan situation, international conditions, as a whole, are much less disturbing. Pig iron is somewhat more active, but at lower prices. The iron and steel mills, while no longer experiencing the pressure from new orders that has been the feature of the trade, report business as fully up to normal, with ample confidence in the future, based in part on the expectation of large crops. Textile lines show some abatement in activity, but as retail stocks are everywhere light, this branch is really in a strong position.

Bradstreet's says:

Trade reports continue to present contrasts in that a line of demarcation has to be drawn between immediate and future orders. On the one hand, business for current or near-by delivery is good to active, all depending on the section of the country considered, the stimulating influence being furnished by greatly improved weather conditions. Against this development must be cited the fact that there is a general disposition, except in the Northwest and parts of the Southwest, to wait until tariff matters become clearer before anticipating future requirements. With conservatism manifested on that account, the controlling idea the country over seems to be for the scaling down of stocks.

Under the circumstances there is a marked tendency to shop frequently and to buy in small lots. However, weather conditions have superinduced a better demand for seasonable lines, and as a result jobbers have been benefited through the receipt of orders to replenish stocks. At the same time, it is evident that country trade is restricted, this being due to the fact that farmers are busily engaged with their Spring work. But aside from the effects of tariff matters on future delivery, it is quite patent that the week's developments have been rather more favorable than otherwise.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Quit Use of "Dear Sir."

One of New York's largest stores abolished "Dear Sir," "Dear Madam" and "Yours Truly" from its letter writing this week. After a conference the store managers decided to eliminate all salutations and conclusions. At the bottom of each sheet of the firm's writing paper is now printed: "We have never heard a good reason for the use of 'Dear Madam,' 'Dear Sir,' 'Yours very truly,' and other similar phrases in business correspondence. For the sake of accuracy, brevity and economy we have discontinued their use."

Don't Fear English Cotton Bill.

Little apprehension is felt in the local cotton goods market over the fathering by the British Chancellor of the Exchequer of a bill guaranteeing a Sudan loan of $15,000,000 for furthering the cultivation of Egyptian cotton, as told in a recent London cable to The Times. In the opinion of trade authorities, the time when domestic manufacturers will have to fear their English competitors because of their ability to get cotton more cheaply than they can from the United States is still remote.

Leather Furniture May Go Up.

Leather furniture will soon cost consumers more if manufacturers do not turn their attention to better upholstery leathers. For some time the tanners have had a heavy run on cheap "splits," almost to the exclusion of orders for the finer grades. Because of the lack of satisfactory profit on these leathers some of the larger tanneries are cutting down their production of them. This, they believe, will shortly force up prices.

273 Business Failures This Week.

Bradstreet's reports 273 business failures in the United States during the week, against 290 for the previous week and 248, 240, 189, and 268 for the corresponding weeks of 1912 to 1909. The Middle States had 105; New England, 31; Southern, 43; Western, 49; Northwestern, 14, and Far Western, 31. Canada had 45, against 21 for the preceding week. About 85 per cent. of the total number of concerns failing had capital of $5,000 or less and 10 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

English Hardware Invasion Planned.

Interest is shown in the hardware field in the report from Denver that Samuel Sims & Son, Chesterfield, England, are contemplating the erection of a large plant in that city for the manufacture of tools and shovels. According to the report, about 100 acres would be required by the plant, and about 5,000 workmen would be employed within the next year if the firm decided to locate there. It was not believed here that the competition of the proposed plant would be felt much in the Eastern market.

Attack on New Tariff Rules.

The customs administration feature of the new tariff bill is to be the target of a nation-wide protest, which will be launched on Monday by the Merchants' Association. Thousands of extra copies of the association's bulletin will be distributed throughout the country to interest all Chambers of Commerce and other trade bodies in the fight. The chief complaint of the association is that while the bill lets down the tariff bars, it inflicts hardships and additional risks in the rules governing importations.

Ohio Dry Goods Men Hit by Floods.

Many of the Ohio dry goods dealers who were injured financially in the recent floods are expending more energy getting satisfactory settlements of their accounts than in replenishing their stocks, according to a cloak and suit salesman who has just returned from that part of the country. Those who had their ready-to-wear departments on the ground floors of their stores sustained severe losses, he said.

CHICAGO DRY GOODS ACTIVE

Good Retail, Wholesale and Manufacturing Week.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"This has been a week of future business in wholesale and manufacturing lines. All of the merchandise that is being represented for Fall delivery is selling readily. Retail selling has been heavy with the advent of warmer weather, and results are beginning to show in reorders on the season's best novelties.

"Lace curtain sales are running well ahead of a year ago, and this department has been unusually active during the week. The call is for simple, effective patterns in lace curtains, and there is a very large demand for scrim curtains. Curtain yard materials also continue in popularity.

"Cotton wash laces are in good request, and the use of seventeen and forty-five inch flouncings in cotton laces is increasing to the extent of being worthy of note. Point venise laces are recovering from the slow demand which seemed to threaten their popularity for a time. High colors in Bulgarian effects on white and black net, suitable for application on collars and coat sleeves, are in great favor. Narrow embroideries are becoming more active in widths from ten inches down.

"Fur sales have been a feature of the wholesale dry goods market during the week."

BUSINESS NOTES.

Max Mandel, importer of laces, will start on Tuesday for a business visit to the foreign markets. He will be accompanied by Leon Biernbaum, for some time associated with the Mandel house.

The stockholders of the Persian Rug Manufactory will hold their annual meeting at the office of the concern, 2 West Forty-fifth Street, on May 7.

Exports of artificial silk yarns made by the viscose method from England to the United States in the quarter ended March 21 showed a gain of nearly $80,000 over those of the same period in 1912. The value of the 1913 shipments was $254,578.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

A strong demand is noted in this market for embroidered flouncings on voile and in mixed colorings. Blind stitch designs are also well favored.

Recent advices from abroad indicate that sashes have come to stay as the season's novel dress garnitures. This is taken to indicate that the vogue for them here will grow stronger as the season advances. The ribbon trade is now giving more attention to wider goods suitable for this purpose.

High-color Bulgar effects in vests for women are coming into use with the pronounced cutaway suit coats seen this Spring. At first glance they are somewhat startling, but they give an indisputable style.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination at the New York Custom House for assistant engineer in forest products, for men only, on May 21 and 22, to fill vacancies in this position in the Forest Service, for duty at Madison, Wis., and elsewhere as they may occur, at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $1,500 a year.

Competitors will be examined in the following subjects, which will have the relative weights indicated:

Technique of drying, treating, and testing timber	25
Mechanics and mathematics, (mechanics, elementary laws, and problems with special reference to flexure of beams under static and impact loading, elementary hydraulics; mathematics to and including elementary calculus)	25
Drafting and machine and structural design	25
Education, training, experience, and fitness, (including undergraduate education and training, post-graduate training, university education, or other training of a similar nature, and practical experience in research or industrial work)	25

An educational training equivalent to that required for a bachelor's degree in mechanical or civil engineering from a reputable college or university or the fact that applicants are senior students in such an institution, and are pursuing studies which will entitle them to such a degree or practical work in design and construction equivalent to such training, is a prerequisite for consideration for this position.

Statements as to education, training, experience, and fitness are accepted subject to verification.

Applicants must provide themselves with a small drawing board, drawing instruments, pens, ink, but not drawing paper nor tracing linen.

Applicants must have reached their twentieth but not their fortieth birthday on the date of the examination. They may be examined at any place at which this examination is held, regardless of their place of residence; but under an act of Congress only those who are examined in the State or Territory in which they reside, and who have been actually domiciled in such State or Territory for at least one year previous to the examination, will be eligible for appointment to a position in the apportioned service in Washington, D. C. This examination is open to all men who are citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States, and who meet the requirements.

Visible Cotton Supply.

Of this the total of American cotton is 3,302,008, against 3,921,504 last week, and 3,945,824 last year.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Rubber Trinkets, Embroidered Fans and Toy Jewelry Cut.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday sustained a protest by Bayer & Pretzfelder of New York on brooches and other articles of vulcanized rubber which Collector Loeb returned at 60 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 448 as jewelry. The importers asked duty at 35 per cent. under the act of 1909 on manufactures of rubber. The Government failed to prove that the goods were known either generally or commercially as jewelry.

The board also took favorable action on protests by Ignaz Strauss & Co. and W. A. Brown & Co. on embroidered fans, returned as embroideries at 60 per cent. under Paragraph 402. The importers established the goods to be dutiable at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 440, covering fans of all kinds.

Strauss Brothers & Co. were sustained in a contention that toy necklaces, bracelets, and brooches returned as jewelry under the act of 1909, at 60 per cent. ad valorem, were dutiable at 35 per cent. as toys. Charles Broadway Rouss was taxed 45 per cent. as manufactures of leather on small mirrors of imitation leather. He sought to pay on toys.

BIG GREAT LAKES MERGER.

Inter-Lake Steamship Company Formed, Controlling 56 Freighters.

CLEVELAND, April 25.—The biggest merger of Great Lakes steamship companies since the formation of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company took place here to-day when the stockholders of the Lackawanna Steamship Company met and organized the Inter-Lake Steamship Company. Thirty-nine freighters owned by the Mesaba, Lackawanna, Provident, Acme, and Standard Steamship Companies and the Huron Barge Company were combined with seventeen vessels belonging to the old Gilchrist Company, which was under a receivership until lately, when its vessels were sold and the receivership dissolved.

The new company is capitalized at $6,500,000, with $3,000,000 bonds.

MASTER'S SALE.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, for the Southern District of New York.—THE PENNSYLVANIA STEEL COMPANY et al., Complainants, against NEW YORK CITY RAILWAY COMPANY et al., Defendants.—Equity No. 2-9 and three other Causes: Equity No. 2-33, Equity No. 2-149, Equity No. 3-37, in the matter of the Petition of the Receivers of Metropolitan Street Railway Company, for an order directing the Receiver of New York City Railway Company to deliver to them the proceeds of an action against Metropolitan Securities Company.

Pursuant to an order of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, made in the above entitled proceeding, bearing date the 24th day of January, 1913, and filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court on the same day, the undersigned, the Special Master appointed by the said order, for the purpose of selling the property therein directed to be sold, will, on the 19th day of May, 1913, at twelve o'clock noon of that day, sell the following property by Joseph P. Day, Esq., Auctioneer, at public auction, to the highest bidder, in accordance with the terms of the said order, at the North Main Entrance of the County Courthouse of the County of New York, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, State of New York.

The following is a brief description of the property to be sold:

All the right, title and interest of Metropolitan Securities Company and of William W. Ladd, as Receiver of New York City Railway Company, and of all other parties to the above entitled causes, in and to the real estate in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, situated East of First Avenue, and running from 94th to 95th Streets, being more particularly described as follows:

"Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Ninety-fifth Street distant one hundred and three (103) feet easterly from the southeasterly corner of First Avenue and Ninety-fifth Street; running thence southerly parallel with First Avenue, one hundred (100) feet, eight and one-half (8½) inches; thence easterly parallel with Ninety-fourth Street ninety-nine (99) feet; thence southerly again parallel with First Avenue, one hundred (100) feet, eight and one-half (8½) inches to the northerly side of Ninety-fourth Street; thence easterly one hundred and fifty (150) feet to the westerly side of the proposed marginal street; thence northerly along the west side of the proposed marginal street one hundred and seventy-five (175) feet; thence northeasterly again along the proposed marginal street fifty-two and fifteen one-hundredths (52.15) feet to the southerly side of 95th Street, and thence westerly along the southerly side of Ninety-fifth Street, one hundred and forty-nine and forty-nine one-hundredths (149.49) feet to the point or place of beginning."

The Special Master will accept the highest bid, subject to the approval of the court. Upon such provisional acceptance the highest bidder shall deposit with the Special Master a sum equal to ten per cent. of the amount of such bid, either in cash, or in a check certified by a National, State Bank, or Trust company in the City of New York.

The cash or check deposited by any bidder at the sale shall be held as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the court.

The cash or checks deposited by such bidder at the sale shall be forfeited and applied to the expense of said sale and of the receivership of the properties of Metropolitan Street Railway Company and New York City Railway Company in the event that the said bidder shall not make good his bid.

For a further and more complete statement of the terms and conditions of sale, reference is made to the said order and to the terms of sale on file in the office of the said Special Master.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Decline Sharply on More Active Trading—State Bonds Advance.

One had to look abroad yesterday for such measure of cheerfulness as the financial markets reflected. There prices were higher on a calmer view of the latest phase of the Balkan situation and on a favorable return by the Bank of Germany, which indicated continued improvement in a money market which recently was more strained than any other. Our own stock market was under increased selling pressure, which carried the general level of prices to within a half point of the low figure of March 19. Public participation in the trading was not of a kind to check the effects of enforced liquidation in some quarters of the list and of bearish pressure exerted elsewhere. Yesterday's movement hardly suggested the need of any new hypothesis regarding the state in which the market found itself. The price changes, though more pronounced than on any recent day, were in keeping with the tendency which has lately been displayed. If any one incident of the session were to be picked out as adding to the unsettlement the very severe decline in the Rumely shares might be cited. The almost complete paralysis of the market for those stocks which made possible the further break of 4 points in the common and 13 points in the preferred on a small volume of sales seemed to make it plain that very grave miscalculations must have been made.

More concern was expressed here over the possible results of Montenegro's hold on Scutari than seemed to be felt by the markets of Europe. This concern was one of the things which served to lessen the support which the market might otherwise have had against the liquidation which was encountered. But this at most was only a collateral influence of the day. A decision by the Commerce Court in the Louisiana rate case was variously interpreted in respect to the ultimate outcome of the important rate cases which are now engaging the attention of the Supreme Court. It was not altogether plain to Wall Street that the Commerce Court's decision, even if upheld, was necessarily favorable to the railroads, as some others argued that it was. It almost escaped attention, although in a different market atmosphere considerable importance might be attached to it as the sign of a change for the better in the relations of the States to the railways, that the Michigan Commission which has been investigating the affairs of the Pere Marquette recommended that the receiver be not disturbed in his efforts to upbuild the system and that the Michigan two-cent law be amended so as to except from its operation the branch lines of railways which cannot make a profit at that rate.

The bond markets did not entirely escape the price tendency which ruled in the stock market, for, while in some parts of the list improvement in quotations was shown, new low prices were recorded elsewhere. New York City issues were among those which were quoted lower than on any previous day of the year. Sharply in contrast with the movement in these issues was the advance of nearly a full point which took place in New York State 4s. These were quoted on Thursday at 99⅝, and yesterday they sold as high as 100¼. The explanation of this abrupt change in the market for State bonds was found in the reports which Wall Street received during the day from Albany that the Governor had signed the two bills designed to improve the market for State bonds, one exempting State bonds from the operation of the inheritance tax law, and the other increasing the rebate of taxes allowed to financial institutions on their holdings of State issues. The latter at least represents a resort to the artificial methods which have been rather freely employed in attempts to better the market for Governmental securities. The mere fact that it may be effective in increasing the quotation for State securities is hardly proof that the method adopted in this legislation is wise. The finances of the State and Nation will be on all the more solid ground the less resort is had to artificial means of establishing higher markets for their bonds.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2¾@3 per cent., with the last loan at 3 per cent. Most of the day's business was done at 2¾ per cent. Time money rates were 3¾@4 per cent. for sixty days, 4 per cent. for ninety days, 4@4¼ per cent. for four to six months, and 5@5½ per cent. for nine to twelve months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5½@6 per cent. for the best names.

Clearing House exchanges, $281,155,165; balances, $15,143,445; Sub-Treasury debit balances, $1,164,247.

The local banks lost $5,378,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations this week.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3½@3 9-16 per cent. for short bills, 3⅝ per cent. for three months; Paris, 4 per cent., and Berlin 4⅜ per cent. Money was 2½ per cent. in London and 3½ per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25f. 22½c., and the Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 46½ pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

CABLE AND SIGHT RATES.

London—Cable, $4.87; demand, high, $4.8675; low, $4.8665; last, $4.8670.

Paris—Cable, 5.17½ less 1-16, check, 5.18⅛ less 1-32.

Berlin—Cable, 95 3-16; check, 95 1-16 plus 1-32.

Switzerland—Cable, 5.19⅝ plus 1-32; check, 5.19⅝ less 1-16.

Holland—Cable, 40.18; check, 40.14.

Belgium—Cable, 5.20⅝ less 1-16; check, 5.21¼ less 1-32.

SIXTY AND NINETY DAY BILLS.

London—Bankers, sixty days, $4.8345; ninety days, $4.82.

London—Commercial, sixty days, $4.83¼; ninety days, $4.81¾.

Paris—Commercial, sixty days, 5.22½ plus 1-16; ninety days, 5.23¾.

Berlin—Commercial, sixty days, 94¼; ninety days, 93⅞ plus 1-32.

DOMESTIC EXCHANGE RATES.

Boston, par; Chicago, par; St. Louis, 20c premium; St. Paul, 40c premium; San Francisco, 30c premium; Montreal, 46⅞c discount.

SILVER QUOTATIONS.

Bar silver was 1-16d lower in London, at 27 13-16d, and unchanged in New York, at 60⅜c per ounce.

Lessen International Salt Capital.

TRENTON, N. J., April 25.—The International Salt Company, through its President, Mortimer B. Fuller, filed a certificate to-day with the Secretary of State, decreasing the capital from $30,000,000 to $6,077,130. The decrease is due to the surrender of the present shares to the company by the stockholders, and the issuing of one share of new stock for three of the old shares.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Depression Area.

People who do not pay the slightest attention to the course of prices on the Stock Exchange are unconsciously affected by a pronounced rise or fall. A man who visits a number of offices in the financial district gradually absorbs the feeling in the air and communicates it to others whom he meets. There is a sharp contraction in the volume of business done by restaurants, furnishing stores and other businesses which cater to the Wall Street crowd soon after people stop talking prosperity. Yesterday the depression was so general and so pronounced that the street beggars, shoestring peddlers and fakers packed up before 3 o'clock to seek more promising fields.

Non-Committal Advice.

One of the oldest brokers in the financial district, who is always an optimist, has been gradually tempering his cheerfulness. When a customer asked him yesterday afternoon where the decline then in progress was going to stop he replied:

"When they hit the bottom."

Taking Heavy Toll.

When the Street was full of enthusiasm over the successful flotation of a number of new industrial issues, only a few months ago, a well established broker was advising his friends to keep out of the new shares at the fancy prices they were commanding until they had had time to adjust themselves to the level of the more seasoned issues. Most of the stocks have lately sold off as easily as they advanced under the skillful handling of the bankers who were promoting them. The slump in the Rumely issues continues to attract attention. It has carried both common and preferred through a wider range than that through which the Can shares swung when the action on the preferred dividend was in question. The weakness was most pronounced yesterday in Rumely preferred, and was responsible for a report that the dividend on that issue might be allowed to go by the board. It sold down to 51⅝, and closed at 52, with a loss of 13 points for the day, or 19 for two days. The common made its new low price at 23, with a decline of four points. Both of the Goodrich issues lost only ½ point, but Sears-Roebuck dropped 7¾, to 177¼, and Woolworth common declined another point to 90¾. Among the Tobacco issues, P. Lorillard lost 7 points, Snuff 3¼ and American Tobacco 4½.

Why a Rule Was Made.

In view of the discipline visited upon two members of the Stock Exchange at the same time for violation of the rule against carrying speculative accounts for clerks in financial institutions, it is worth while to recall the incident which caused the rule to be adopted years ago. A Stock Exchange house had been commissioned by a railroad company to buy all the stock obtainable of a certain other railroad. The firm had hardly begun to gather in the shares when two of its clerks, equipped with knowledge of the situation and a hunger for easy profits, opened an account with another Stock Exchange house, and quietly started an accumulation of the stock for themselves. The good thing, however, appeared too good for them to keep to themselves, so they passed the word on to the head of the firm they were dealing with. He, in turn, according to a member of the Governing Committee who had to do with subsequent official action by the Exchange, put a number of his best customers "right" with the market. The result of the general buying of the railroad shares was a violent stirring up of quotations and the ultimate discovery of the reason for their sudden popularity.

Resiliency of the German Bank.

The Street was compelled to wonder yesterday when the weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany was published whether there had not been a tremendously exaggerated estimate placed on the weakened condition of German finances in course of the April settlement. In considering the figures as reported, allowance had to be made for the fact that some time has passed since the money stringency at Berlin was most acute, but the smallest credit that could be attached to the German method of banking was that the central institution had displayed great powers of resiliency. A $13,200,000 increase in cash during the week brought the aggregate expansion of this item in the past four weeks up to $24,572,000, and a reduction of loans and discounts of $32,000,000 since Friday of last week showed a total reduction of these accounts combined in four weeks of over $134,800,000. The addition of $7,500,000 to gold holdings enabled the Bank to report the greatest amount of gold ever contained in the vaults at one time.

First-Hand Information.

The painstaking inquiry of the Arbitration Committee into arguments advanced by the railroad firemen for greater pay was displayed no more clearly than by a number of trips the committee took over lines coming into this city. Judge W. L. Chambers, the neutral member, desired to learn at first hand exactly what was expected of the firemen on their runs and how they went about their work. So the other two members, both practical railroad men of many years' standing, took him on short expeditions over numerous roads, riding in locomotive cabs, where the labors of the firemen could be viewed from all possible angles.

Gold to Canada.

The seasonal movement of gold to Canada began yesterday with an engagement of $800,000 for Montreal. Local banks expect to be called on, also, for funds to be sent to San Francisco during the coming week, and shipments of more of the metal to Canadian centres is looked for.

Old Arkansas Bank Closes.

HELENA, Ark., April 25.—The Bank of Helena, one of the oldest in the State, with a capitalization of $500,000, closed its doors to-day. Large loans which could not be collected are said to have led to the decision to close. Assistance offered by other banks was refused by the president, E. C. Hornor. It was announced that depositors would be paid in full.

George J. Gould President.

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 25.—George J. Gould was elected President of the Fort Smith and Little Rock Railroad at the annual election here to-day. Other officers elected included A. H. McCalef of St. Louis as Secretary-Treasurer, and F. W. Ireland of St. Louis, as Assistant Treasurer.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Trading More Active—Prices Decline—Bonds Are Quiet and Lower.

Transactions in unlisted securities yesterday were in larger volume at lower prices. United Cigar Stores was actively traded in on the decline to 90, where it closed, compared to Thursday's final sale of 91¼. New York City 4¼ per cent. bonds closed at the low figure, 96 3-16, showing a loss of 5-16. New York Central 5 per cent. notes held steady at 100.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Prices Harden on Political News—Firmness in Berlin and Paris.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, April 26.—The Times will say in its City article to-day:

"Rates on day-to-day and short fixtures rose slightly, the supply being still restricted, owing to the locking up of money for the monthly balance sheet purposes. The discount market was steady. Bills were not much sought for, but the sellers were not offering them freely at current rates. Business was only moderaetly active.

"The Continental exchanges were firm, as a rule, but Berlin check declined one-fourth of 1 pfennig.

"The most striking feature of the stock markets was the appreciable advance in consols, due to the belief that a peaceful settlement would be reached of the questions raised by the war. At the opening the tone of the markets were generally dull, but in the afternoon the Bourses were small buyers, their specialties being notably Rio Tintos, De Beers, Peruvian Corporation, preference, and Canadian Pacific Railway shares. The close was firm except for American shares.

PARIS, April 25.—Prices were very firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 86f. 32½c. for the account.

BERLIN, April 25.—Trading was quiet and prices were firm on the Boerse to-day.

'Frisco Line Issue Well Placed.

Heaviness in the shares of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, accompanied by reports of impending financing, brought forth an explanation yesterday that the company had recently sold $3,000,000 of the general lien 5 per cent. bonds. Negotiations for this issue were closed some weeks ago with Speyer & Co., who took the bonds for account of Paris bankers. It is said that the bonds were well received abroad.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Excepting for a brief period in the opening dealings, the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was under selling pressure throughout the session. The downward movement gathered impetus late in the day, with the volume of business increasing decidedly. Several of the prominent stocks touched lower prices on the Consolidated than were reached on the New York Stock Exchange, among them United States Steel, Reading, Union Pacific and Smelting. There were transactions in Colorado Fuel, which represented the only market for that stock in Wall Street during the day.

UTAH COPPER GAINS.

Surplus $3,719,525, Against $1,534,906 the Year Before.

The Utah Copper Company reported yesterday in its statement of operations for the year ended on Dec. 31, 1912, a net profit from metal sold and income on investments amounting to $8,449,272, against $6,237,928 in 1911. This total was equivalent to $5.35 a share on the capital stock. Dividends aggregating $4,729,747 were paid, and the surplus account received the amount of income left over, $3,719,525. The surplus for the year compared with $1,534,906 in 1911 and $752,912 in 1910. The company produced in the year 91,366,337 pounds of copper, which was marketed at an average price of 15.8 cents a pound. Production was more than 2,000,000 pounds less than in 1911, but that year the selling price was no greater than 12.64 cents a pound. The output of gold was 34,255 ounces, sold at $20 per ounce, and 311,391 ounces of silver were milled and sold at 60.6 cents an ounce. Both of the precious metals showed a substantial falling off for the year before, but the market price of silver was over 7 cents an ounce higher.

President C. M. MacNeill said in the statement: "In the last annual report it was estimated that during the year 1912 the output would be 120,000,000 pounds of copper. This prediction would have been realized had it not been for the interruption occasioned during the last quarter of the year, following labor difficulties."

The balance showed total assets of $17,095,264, in contrast with $15,975,144 at the close of the previous year. Cash on hand amounted to $392,401, against $498,487, and accounts receivable of $122,972 showed an advance of $32,400.

NIPISSING HOLDS UP.

Earning 34 Per Cent., Same as Last Year, Though Costs Were More.

The Nipissing Mines Company earned in the year ended on Dec. 31, 1912, a net income of $2,081,710, the equivalent of 34.6 per cent. on the $6,000,000 outstanding capital stock. The showing was approximately the same as was made in the previous year. The profit and loss surplus at the end of the year amounted to $1,443,000, of which cash in bank supplied $921,343, and investments, $33,430.

In reviewing the year's operations, President Earle said in the annual statement, issued yesterday:

> The quantity of silver produced was somewhat less than during 1911, but as the average price obtained was higher, the net earnings were substantially the same.
>
> The production cost per ounce of silver was greater, due principally to the larger amount of exploring done.
>
> The new low grade ore mill, costing $325,000 with its equipment, was paid for out of earnings, and is now in successful operation. The surplus was increased by $240,000, and the ore reserves were added to by more than 1,750,000 ounces.

Dividends aggregating $1,842,500 were paid. The report showed that while the cost of mining was higher than in 1911, it was practically on the same level with expenses in 1910.

TAKING COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Banks More Willing to Accept Six-Month Notes—Rate Eases Off.

Merchants endeavoring to raise funds on commercial paper find that the rate has eased off during the past two or three weeks. The present rate is 5½ to 6 per cent. for choice names. There is a good demand on larger banks for money to finance coming agricultural activities. Loans to mercantile industries are not so large as formerly, because of unsettled tariff conditions. Banks that were holding out for short-time maturities now seem inclined to take paper having five or six months to run at market rates. If general checking of business continues, it will probably result in lower rates.

Call money is plentiful and cheap. Time money has eased off about 1 to 1¼ per cent. in the last month, because of the slowing down of business and small demand from Wall Street.

STATE PUSHES ITS BONDS.

Sulzer Signs Bills Designed to Make Them More Popular.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 25.—Two bills introduced by Senator Frawley designed to make State bonds more attractive for investment were signed to-day by Gov. Sulzer. One of these exempts State bonds from the provisions of the inheritance tax law. The other increases the amount of credit to be given on franchise taxes to purchasers from 1 per cent. to 1½ per cent. of the par value of bonds bearing not exceeding 3 per cent. interest, and provides credit of one-half of 1 per cent. of the par value of bonds bearing interest at a rate exceeding 3 per cent., but not more than 4 per cent.

The State expects this year to issue bonds to the amount of $43,000,000. The present authorized debt of the State is $220,000,000. The new laws, it is charged by opponents of Gov. Sulzer's financial programme, will tend to depreciate the credit of the State. The administration plans to withdraw nearly $13,000,000 from the sinking fund and employ part of it in meeting general expenses, on the ground that the sinking fund is larger than necessary. The Governor's opponents hold that the bond issues are based on laws which provide for sinking fund accumulations, and that to drain it would endanger the State's credit.

It is asserted that the Frawley bills seek to create an artificial market for the State bonds in order to cover up the draining of the sinking funds. The point was also raised by the opponents of Gov. Sulzer's financial scheme that in making State bonds more attractive the ad-

CITY BONDS AS SECURITY.

Acceptable to Guarantee Emergency Circulation, McAdoo Decides.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—In answer to an inquiry from a New York banker to-day concerning security that may be deposited to guarantee emergency circulation under the Aldrich-Vreeland act, Secretary McAdoo decided to-day that New York City revenue bonds were acceptable.

The Secretary said that he should regard such bonds as among those which he would have discretion to approve.

VALUING ROADS A BIG JOB.

Railroads Not Opposed, but Labor Involved Is Enormous.

Several railroad presidents who were in New York yesterday, to attend the conference at Grand Central Station, expressed themselves as unopposed to the Federal demand for a physical valuation of their properties on any ground except that of the heavy outlay involved in carrying such work to completion.

Daniel Willard, head of the Baltimore & Ohio, said that the valuation problem was the biggest question which had ever arisen in railroad finance. He said that the labor involved in appraising between fifteen and sixteen billion dollars' worth of railway property would be enormous, but that it could be simplified to some extent if the Inter-State Commerce Cmomission allowed the carriers time to do most of the work with their normal forces. Mr. Willard said that the roads were not opposed to the Commission's wish to arrive at their real value, and would co-operate with that body in working out a satisfactory basis on which to compile the desired figures.

PROPOSALS.

TOWN OF SENECA FALLS, Seneca Co., New York, REFUNDING BONDS.

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, until May 7th, 1913, at 2:30 o'clock P. M., for the purchase of $110,000 of Refunding Bonds of the Town of Seneca Falls, N. Y., to be issued to pay off, retire, and cancel a like amount of bonds of said Town maturing July 1, 1913.

The issue is to be composed of 110 bonds of $1,000 each, to be dated July 1, 1913, and to be payable $10,000 on July 1, 1915, and $10,000 on July 1 of each and every year thereafter until all are paid; with semi-annual interest, payable on January 1 and July 1 of each year from their date until paid; and said bonds to be issued in pursuance of Section 8 of the General Municipal Law and in accordance with the requirements of said General Municipal Law and of the County Law.

Intending purchasers will quote the amount offered for said bonds and the proposed rate of interest which said bonds must bear under their offer.

The entire debt of the Town is $130,000, of which $110,000 is proposed to be retired and paid off by the Refunding Bonds of this issue; and the value of the real estate of said Town, as shown by the last assessment roll, to be taxed for the payment of the said Refunding Bonds is in excess of three million dollars.

A certified check of a National bank, payable to the order of William E. Hull, Supervisor, for one per cent. of the amount of the bid, must accompany each proposal.

The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.

Dated Seneca Falls, N. Y., April 21st, 1913.
WILLIAM E. HULL, Supervisor.

WEIGHING AND SALES COMPANY.
Proposals for Sale of Bonds.

Pursuant to the terms of the deed of trust dated May 12th, 1911, made by Weighing and Sales Company to Empire Trust Company as Trustee, all persons interested are hereby notified that there has been this day paid to the Empire Trust Company, as such Trustee, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) to create a sinking fund for the purchase and redemption of bonds secured by said deed of trust. All persons interested are further hereby notified that, pursuant to said deed of trust, sealed proposals will be received by the Empire Trust Company at its office, No. 42 Broadway, New York City, within six (6) days from the date of the last publication of this notice, offering for sale bonds of the Weighing and Sales Company secured by said deed of trust, with all unpaid coupons thereto attached.

All such offerings shall state the name and address of the person offering the same for sale, the numbers and par value of the bonds so offered for sale, and the price at which the bonds, with all unpaid coupons thereto attached, are offered for sale, which price must be less than the par value thereof and accrued interest. Such offer shall be contained in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal for sale to sinking fund of bonds of Weighing and Sales Company," and must be received by said Empire Trust Company at its office, No. 42 Broadway, New York City, before May 8th, 1913.

The money so paid to the Trust Company will be used in the purchase of bonds under said offers at the best price obtainable. No proposals will be considered except such as strictly comply with this notice.

Dated New York, April 26th, 1913.

Detroit Southern Railroad Co.

OHIO SOUTHERN DIVISION FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

To Holders of Certificates of Deposit of Central Trust Company of New York issued under the Deposit Agreement dated November 8, 1909, and representing Ohio Southern Division First Mortgage Four Per Cent. Gold Bonds of Detroit Southern Railroad Company, and to the Holders of the said Bonds.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Committee constituted by the above mentioned Deposit Agreement has approved and adopted a certain Plan and Agreement dated April 14, 1913, for the reorganization of the property subject to the lien of the above mentioned mortgage, and that a copy of said Plan and Agreement has been filed with Central Trust Company of New York as Depositary under said agreement

Over ninety-two per cent. of the outstanding Ohio Southern Division First Mortgage Bonds have already been deposited under the Deposit Agreement. Unless within the period of twenty days from the first publication of this notice holders of outstanding certificates of deposit representing fifty per cent. in face amount of the deposited bonds shall file notice in writing with the Depositary under the Deposit Agreement that they dissent from the Plan and Agreement of reorganization, such Plan and Agreement will be binding on all holders of certificates of deposit, all of whom shall be conclusively and finally deemed for all purposes to have assented to the said Plan and Agreement and the terms thereof, whether they receive actual notice or not, and be irrevocably bound and concluded by the same.

Bondholders and holders of certificates of deposit will be permitted to share in the Reorganization only upon subscribing and paying to CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, the Depositary, at its office, No. 54 Wall Street, New York City, for the purposes of the Reorganization, $500 in New York funds for each bond of the face value of $1,000 deposited by them, the first instalment of 20 per cent. of the amount so payable, viz.: $100 for each bond of the face value of $1,000, being payable on or before MAY 10, 1913, and the balance in one or more instalments as called for by the Reorganization Committee, on not less than two weeks' published notice given as provided in the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization. For such payments to be made by depositors under the Plan and Agreement and in exchange for the bonds deposited by them, depositors will be entitled to receive, upon the completion of the Reorganization, in case the Plan shall have been declared operative, for each $1,000 in cash payable by them, $1,000 in new Adjustment Mortgage Bonds, $2,000 in new preferred stock, and $1,000 in new common stock, as provided in the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization. Certificates of deposit must be presented to the Depositary at the time of the payment of the instalments payable in respect thereof for the appropriate notation thereon of such payment.

Holders of bonds who have not already deposited the same under the Deposit Agreement may become parties to the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization by depositing their bonds in negotiable form with the coupon maturing March 1, 1912, and all subsequent coupons thereto attached, with the Depositary under said Deposit Agreement, on or before MAY 10, 1913, receiving certificates of deposit therefor issued under the Deposit Agreement, with appropriate notation showing that the holders of said certificates have assented to the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization, and by paying to the Depositary the amounts payable under said Plan and Agreement as hereinbefore stated within the times limited for such payment.

Copies of the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization may be obtained from the Depositary or from the Secretary of the Committee.

Dated New York, April 15, 1913.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—No marked variations in barometric pressure were recorded Friday night within the field of observation. The pressure is relatively low over the Great Lakes and the Far Northwest, and elsewhere it is above normal.

Temperatures continue unseasonably high over the Atlantic seaboard and in the Upper Ohio Valley, and warmer weather prevails in the Pacific States.

There were rains during the last twenty-four hours in the upper lake region, the Mississippi and Lower Ohio Valleys and the Gulf States. In all other parts of the country the weather remained fair.

There will be scattered rains Saturday in the Upper Ohio Valley and the South Atlantic States, and unsettled weather Saturday afternoon or night in the Middle Atlantic States and New England, followed by generally fair weather in these districts Sunday. Over the Mississippi Valley and the districts west thereof the weather will be generally fair Saturday and Sunday.

Lower temperatures will overspread the Eastern States by Saturday night and on Sunday. A gradual rise in temperature will set in over the Mississippi, the plains States and the Rocky Mountain region during Saturday and Sunday.

Winds along the Atlantic Coast will be light to moderate, variable.

Steamships departing Saturday for European ports will have moderate, variable winds and generally fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern New York and New England—Probably fair Saturday, becoming unsettled and cooler at night. Sunday fair and cooler; moderate to variable winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Saturday morning, followed by unsettled and cooler Saturday afternoon or night. Sunday cloudy and cooler; light to moderate, variable winds.

Western New York—Unsettled and colder Saturday. Sunday probably fair; light to moderate, variable winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1912.	1913.		1912.	1913.
3 A. M.	46	55	4 P. M.	61	70
6 A. M.	47	57	6 P. M.	62	68
9 A. M.	52	63	9 P. M.	60	66
12 M.	55	73	11 P. M.	56	59

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 67; for the corresponding date last year it was 54; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 52.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 61; at 8 P. M. it was 65. Maximum temperature, 79 degrees at 2:10 P. M.; minimum, 55 degrees at 12:02 A. M. Humidity, 53 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 60 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.18 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.07 inches.

To EUROPE VIA THE MEDITERRANEAN
A single trip on the FABRE LINE usually places it in the highest estimation of travellers, as the following testifies: "I have crossed the ocean a number of times and have never been more comfortable or better cared for. I wish also to express my appreciation of the fitness, kindness and courtesy of the officers and all those connected with the ship with whom I have come in contact. I hope it will not be the only time I may be a passenger on the FABRE LINE." (From a passenger.)

LEGAL NOTICES.

PUBLIC SALE OF RAILROAD PROPERTY.

Under and by virtue of a decree of Tattnall Superior Court, rendered April 11th, 1913, signed by Honorable Walter W. Sheppard, Judge, in the case of Henry Talmadge & Company vs. The Perkins Lumber Company et al., pending in Tattnall Superior Court, the undersigned will, on the first day of July, 1913, at eleven o'clock A. M., Central time, at the front door of the Court House of Tattnall County, in Reidsville, Georgia, put up and expose to sale at public auction to the highest bidder all and singular

The railroad known as the Register & Glennville Railroad, extending from Register, Georgia, to Glennville, Georgia, including the rights of way, locomotives, cars and equipment, and all things or property, real, personal, or mixed, belonging to or used, or designed for the use of, or in connection with said railroad.

No bid will be received unless at the time of making the same the bidder shall deposit with the receivers the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) as a pledge that he will make good his bid if, upon being reported, the same is accepted by the Court.

Sale to be made subject to confirmation by the Court and the right is reserved to accept or reject any bid.

Upon confirmation of the sale by the Court the purchaser shall pay to the Receivers in cash such sums of money as the Court may direct.

For further details regarding the terms and for more specific description of the property to be sold reference is had to the said decree which is of file in the Clerk's office of Tattnall Superior Court at Reidsville, Georgia, or information may be had of the undersigned at Savannah, Georgia.

W. V. DAVIS,
W. B. STILLWELL, and
GEORGE W. TIEDEMAN,
Receivers, Savannah, Georgia.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

PURSUANT TO STATUTORY REQUIREMENT, notice is hereby given that an act, Assembly No. 1,353, Int. No. 1,249, has been passed by both branches of the Legislature, entitled

AN ACT

Authorizing the State Commission in Lunacy, on behalf of the State of New York, to surrender to the City of New York, and vesting in said city the authority to accept same, an indenture of lease of premises situate in the Borough of Manhattan, in said city, and leased to the State in pursuance of Chapter Seven Hundred and Sixty, Laws of Nineteen Hundred and Four, and releasing to said city all the right and title of the State in and to said lease and premises.

Further notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing upon such bill will be held at the Mayor's Office in the City Hall, in The City of New York, on Tuesday, April 29, 1913, at 11 o'clock A. M.

The Real Estate Field

Taxpayers' Movement for Economical Government and Less Burdensome Taxation—Equitable Block Title Carries $30,500,000 Mortgage—Activity in Brooklyn and Long Island.

Taking the stand that the chief issue in the forthcoming municipal campaign should be the subject of our taxation, the recently organized association of taxpayers is issuing its declaration of principles to all property owners and others interested in economical city management and a reasonable lessening of the burdens which real estate has been forced to carry in recent years.

Real estate, says the declaration, bears 95 per cent. of all taxes raised for the city government, and has reached the limit of its burden-bearing power.

"The taxes of the city have enormously increased," it is stated.

"The city's indebtedness amounts to nearly a thousand million dollars, and has almost reached, according to the official figures of the Controller, the constitutional limit. The assessment of real estate has been increased within the last five years over a billion dollars, with the result that the assessed valuations far exceed actual selling prices in numerous instances. Such a condition becomes doubly dangerous because it affects the constitutional limitations of issuing bonds. Real estate in this city is now assessed beyond the point of safety.

"We favor adequate appropriations for all requirements of the city necessary for the health, safety, welfare, and education of its citizens. We are emphatically opposed, however, to committing the city to vast expenditures for projects which are not vitally necessary to the welfare of the community. We have now reached a point where future city expenditures must be restricted to actual necessities, and the money to provide these must be so expended that the city must obtain approximately a dollar in value for each dollar paid out.

"The city's indebtedness has increased over 250 per cent. in ten years, and the interest thereon, to be included in each annual budget, has nearly trebled in the same period, although the population of the city has increased only 40 per cent. in the same time. If New York continues indefinitely to increase its expenditures in such a manner, how can the city evade financial disaster?

"The city's budget has increased from $98,000,000 in 1901 to nearly $200,000,000 in 1912, more than doubled in eleven years. We believe that by the adoption of known standards of efficiency, strict economy, and capable administration according to modern methods of business, the cost of government could be enormously decreased without the slightest impairment of the efficiency of any municipal department.

"We firmly believe that over-taxation is of essential importance to every citizen in its direct relation to the high cost of living. Overtaxation is reflected either in increased rents or depreciation of capital value. So far as it causes increased rents, it increases the cost of living to the individual. So far as it depreciates value, it affects the city's borrowing capacity and its ability to raise money by taxation for the necessary purposes of government."

In closing this declaration the leaders of the taxpayers' movement and others who have signed the statement assert that their position is not taken from a political or partisan standpoint. They demand in what is termed "this critical financial condition" that the men who shall be placed in nomination for offices entitling them to membership on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall be of the highest character and integrity and possessed of such business qualifications and practical financial ability as to render them capable of handling the financial problems which now confront the city, and close by saying:

"We shall support only such men as have already displayed the necessary qualifications, and such new men only as fulfil the above requirements, and we call upon all citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, to aid us in accomplishing this result."

Those who have signed this declaration, and among them will be found most of the leaders in the realty world of the city, are:

Equitable Block Title with $20,500,000 Mortgage.

Title was taken yesterday by the Equitable Office Building Corporation, headed by T. C. DuPont, to the old Equitable Building block between Broadway, Nassau, Cedar and Pine Streets. At the same time the corporation gave back a mortgage of $20,500,000 on the property, of which $7,000,000 has been advanced by the Equitable Life Assurance Society as a building loan for the thirty-six-story building to be erected on the site. The mortgage is the largest made on a single piece of New York realty. It is to run to 1974. The new owning corporation was recently incorporated at Albany with a capital of $400,000, the Directors being T. Coleman DuPont, Lewis L. Dunham, and Ross A. Mackey.

A. S. Cochrane Buys in 58th Street.

The four-story dwelling, 23 West Fifty-eighth Street, a few doors west of the Plaza Hotel at Fifth Avenue, has been purchased by Alexander Smith Cochrane of Yonkers from Charles P. Barkley. The plot is 20 by 100.5. It is in the rear of the partially burned Alhambra Apartments, 24 to 28 West Fifty-ninth Street, owned by Mr. Cochrane, and which, since being burned out, three years ago, have never been repaired. Plans were filed some time ago for a $600,000 apartment hotel on the site, but work has not been started, and the vacant structures form an incongruous contrast with the Plaza, from which they are separated by a single building.

The Private Dwelling Market.

The residence of the late Francis M. Bacon, 20 and 22 West Tenth Street, has been sold by the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company to a client of E. H. Ludlow & Co. It is a four-story structure, occupying a plot 42 by 100 feet.

Rudolph J. Schaefer has sold 9 East Ninety-fourth Street, a four-story and basement dwelling, on lot 20 by 100.8, located 190 feet east of Fifth Avenue.

J. B. Simpson Sells Private Stable.

The three-story brick private stable, occupying a lot 25 by 102.2 at 117 East Eighty-third Street, has been sold by John Bolton Simpson.

Tenement Property Sold.

Polizzi & Co. sold for A. Bauer the six-story tenement, 335 and 337 East 118th Street, on plot 37.5 by 100. The purchasers gave as part payment a three-story tenement house in Arrochar, N. Y.

The Maze Realty Company gave 220 and 222 Cherry Street, a six-story new law tenement on a plot 37.6 by 163 feet, in exchange for the eight lots at the southeast corner of Broadway and Arden Street, purchased Thursday from Bing & Bing.

Bronx Borough.

The Lederer Construction Company has purchased from Terrence Smith a plot 75 by 100 feet, on the east side of the Southern Boulevard, 125 feet south of Jennings Street. It will be improved with two five-story new law apartments. The Lederer Construction Company has completed at Southern Boulevard and Jennings Street ten houses within two years. They front 400 feet on Southern Boulevard and 100 feet on Jennings Street.

The Cioffi Company sold to the Keats Company 826 East 167th Street, a five-story new law house on a plot 40 by 100 feet. This completes the sale of three similar houses erected at that point by the sellers. The other two, 818 and 824, were also sold by the same broker to the Keats Company last November.

George F. Johnson has resold the group of Bronx apartment houses, which he took recently in part payment for a number of lots in the Bronx. Mr. Johnson disposed of the two five-story houses at 1,551 to 1,557 Minford Place on a plot 75 by 100 feet, through Arnold Byrne & Baumann to an investor, who also purchased from the same seller the five-story house on a plot 33 by .00 feet at the southwest corner of Minford Place and 173d Street.

Brooklyn.

The David P. Leahy Company has sold to Olson & Anderson a plot of six lots in the west side of Field Avenue, 112 feet north of Baldwin Avenue, and to Lewis Potter a plot of six lots on the west side of Boss Avenue, between Rockaway Boulevard and Helen Avenue. The buyers will improve the property with moderate priced dwellings.

Wood, Harmon & Company have sold at Kensington Park one lot on East Second Street, near Franklin Avenue, to J. H. Langerin; one lot on East Second Street, near Franklin Avenue, to Leon Lepine; lot on East Second Street, near Avenue F, to Joseph Pesant; two lots at the corner of Avenue F and East Second Street to Maxime Martineau; one lot on East Second Street, near Avenue F, to Telesphore Sauve, and one lot on East Second Street, near Franklin Avenue, to Ernest A. Martineau.

Frank A. Seaver has sold the one-family frame house at 257 Fifty-seventh Street for C. Hayes to a client for investment.

Joseph Metzger has sold for M. Sporn to Mrs. J. Winham, 229 South Second Street, a three-and-a-half story dwelling, on a lot 25 by 70 feet.

The Bulkley & Horn Company has sold a three-story brick dwelling at 1,076 Bridge Street, on a lot 20 by 125 feet, between Nostrand and Bedford Avenues, for James C. Green.

Novel Health Resort at Northport.

Joseph P. Day has sold for Ferdinand Kurzman 20½ acres at Northport to a syndicate represented by Willis Bruce Dowd. The new owners plan to erect a building, to be called "Restabit." The main building will embrace a gymnasium, electric baths, massage, lounging room and other conveniences and an additional building for sleeping rooms. The plan is to provide a health and recreation resort, boating, bathing, fishing and other matters of entertainment.

Long Island.

The Rickert-Finlay Realty Company has sold to B. F. Wallace of Manhattan a plot with 100 feet frontage on the north side of Arleigh Road, 106 feet west of East Drive, Kensington, Great Neck.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company has sold at Valley Stream to M. J. Buckley a plot 40 by 100 feet, on Fairview Avenue; to M. Hasselbusch a plot 100 by 110, Euclid Street and Rockaway Parkway; to K. Dillon, a plot 40 by 100, Berry Street; to J. Cahill a plot 60 by 110, Rockaway Parkway; to P. McConnell a plot 40 by 105, Maujer Street and Cottage Parkway; to P. Malloy a plot 40 by 100, Morris Parkway; to E. McGill a plot 40 by 100, Comber Street; to M. J. Priester a plot 60 by 105, Beverly Parkway; to C. Moberg a plot 40 by 100, Chester Street; to P. Wenger a plot 40 by 108, Elmwood Avenue.

Maurice B. Thayer, President of the Town and Country Estates, has sold at Muncie Island to Mrs. Maude E. Thompson a plot on Winnebago Avenue, just west of the residence of Dr. Charles H. Dockstader, and to Frank H. Scardefield, a plot on Seneca Avenue, facing the ocean.

The John J. Randall Company has sold at Freeport to Mrs. D. D. Martin of Brooklyn a house and plot of ground 110 by 150 feet on Long Beach Avenue and Randall Bay, to Mrs. Blanche Trubenback, two plots 60 by 160 feet and 50 by 160 feet, on Grove Street and Woodcleft Channel, and to Daniel B. Combs a lot 25 by 100 on East Avenue and East Channel.

Sold in Yonkers.

Shaw & Co. have sold for James M. Scofield the five unfinished three-story frame two-family dwellings on Sterling Avenue, Wakefield Park, Yonkers.

Leases.

William J. Roome & Co. have leased the store at 162 and 164 East Twenty-eighth Street to Alexander Carlson for restaurant purposes. The same broker has also leased for Mrs. Emily Ladenburg her place known as Littlecote, at Westbury, L. I., directly opposite the Meadow Brook Club, to J. Cornelius Rathborne of Harvey, La.

The M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company has leased the six-story loft at 314 East Thirty-fourth Street, with the store and basement, to the Precision Machine Company.

Ames & Co., Inc., have leased for the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company to M. Goldsmith & Co. the store at 70 East Eighth Street; also, for Oestricher Brothers to A. Kirschner the store at 101 West Twenty-ninth Street; also, for S. W. Peck to the Wah Tai Company the store at 6 West Twenty-ninth Street.

$80,000 Private Dwelling.

Plans have been filed for a four-story private dwelling for Albert Rathbone on the north side of Seventy-eighth Street, 91.8 feet east of Madison Avenue. It will have a frontage of 33.4 feet and a depth of 70.6 feet. The façade will be of brick, with American marble trimmings, in the French style of architecture. The house will be equipped with an elevator and a central winding staircase. A. C. Jackson is the architect. The cost has been placed at $80,000.

Henry D. Winans & May have sold 9 East Ninety-fourth Street, a four-story high-stoop brownstone house, on lot 20 by 100.8¼, for R. J. Schaefer. The purchaser buys for occupancy.

Flushing Auction Sale To-day.

Bryan L. Kennelly will sell at auction to-day at 2 P. M. on the premises 125 building lots directly opposite Kissena Park, one of the residential sections of Flushing, with a frontage on Parsons Avenue and Queens Avenue.

Bankruptcy Notices

NO. 17,952.—U. S. DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York.—In the matter of DAVID COHEN, Alleged Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that David Cohen, alleged bankrupt, has filed his petition, verified April 25, 1913, praying that the composition heretofore offered by him to his creditors and accepted in writing by a majority in number of creditors whose claims have been allowed, which number represents a majority in amount of such claims, may be confirmed by the Court, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Honorable District Judges at the U. S. Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Monday, May 5, 1913, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the alleged bankrupt thereon.

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
New York, April 25, 1913.

NO. 17,781.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF the United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of ELIAS PREGODSON, Bankrupt.

To the creditors of Elias Pregodson, of the City and County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 19th day of March, A. D. 1913, the said Elias Pregodson was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of William Allen, Referee in Bankruptcy, No. 67 Wall Street, City and County of New York, on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1913, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

WILLIAM ALLEN,
April 24th, 1913. Referee in Bankruptcy.

Offices and Studios For Rent

Exceptional air and light are vouchsafed the tenants in New York's most beautiful and exclusive office building. No other tall buildings near, and Bryant Park opposite, coupled with unequalled height of ceilings, secure these desirable features. An office or offices are still available for desirable tenants, in

Bankruptcy Sales

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York, in Bankruptcy.—In the matter of SECURITY HOLDING COMPANY, bankrupt.—No. 15,213.

To the creditors of the above-named bankrupt:

Please take notice that all the right, title, and interest of the Trustee in and to certain property situated in the Borough of Bronx, belonging to the estate of the above-named bankrupt, will be sold at public auction under the direction of Hamilton Holt, Trustee, by Charles Shongood, U. S. Auctioneer, at No. 3,208 Third Avenue, New York, N. Y., on the sixth day of May, 1913, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon.

A general description of the property to be sold is as follows:

All that lot, piece, or parcel of land known as 865 E. 178th Street, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Bronx, City of New York, in the State of New York, being a portion of all that certain lot known as Lot No. 244 on map entitled "Map of Village of East Tremont, Town of West Farms, Westchester County, State of New York," made by William G. Livingston, surveyor, dated September, 1866, and filed in the office of the Clerk of the Westchester County, which remains after the opening of Mohegan Avenue, Crotona Parkway, and 178th Street, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the northeasterly side of East 178th Street (formerly Mechanic Street) with the easterly side of Crotona Parkway, running thence southeasterly along the northeasterly side of East 178th Street, 78 feet and 36-100 of a foot; thence northerly parallel with the westerly side of Honeywell Avenue, and part of a distance through a party wall 36 feet and 29-100 of a foot to the division line between Lots Number 243 and 244 on said map; thence northwesterly along said division line and parallel or nearly so with 178th Street, 80 feet and 22-100 of a foot to the southeasterly side of Mohegan Avenue; thence southwesterly along the southeasterly side of Mohegan Avenue, 32 feet and 7-100 of a foot to the easterly side of Crotona Parkway, and thence southerly along the said easterly side of Crotona Parkway, 4 feet and 52-100 of a foot, more or less, to the point or place of beginning, subject to a mortgage of $32,000, expiring May, 1914, with accrued interest thereon, water rents thereon for 1912 and 1913, and taxes for 1911 and 1912, together with all incidental charges for taking care of the property until date of sale, in excess of the rentals therefrom collected to that date, to be accrued for by the Trustee and the expense of the sale and administration.

All that lot, piece, or parcel of land known as 871 E. 178th Street, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Bronx, City of New York, and in the State of New York, being a portion of all that certain lot known as Lot No. 244 on map entitled "Map of Village of East Tremont, Town of West Farms, Westchester County, State of New York," made by William C. Livingston, surveyor, dated September, 1866, and filed in the office of the Clerk of Westchester County, which remains after the opening of Mohegan Avenue, Crotona Parkway, and 178th Street, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the northeasterly side of 178th Street (formerly Mechanic Street) distant 78 feet and 36-100 of a foot, southeasterly from the corner formed by the intersection of the northeasterly side of 178th Street, with the easterly side of Crotona Parkway, running thence northeasterly parallel with the westerly side of Honeywell Avenue and part of a distance through a party wall 36 feet and 29-100 of a foot to the division line between Lot Numbers 243 and 244 on said map; and thence southeasterly along said division line and parallel, or nearly so, with East 178th Street 65 feet; thence southwesterly and again parallel with the westerly side of Honeywell Avenue 36 feet and 36-100 of a foot to the northeasterly side of 178th Street; thence northwesterly along the northeasterly side of 178th Street 65 feet to the point or place of beginning, all said dimensions being more or less, subject to a mortgage of $20,000, expiring May, 1914, and accrued interest thereon, water rents for 1912 and 1913, and taxes for 1911 and 1912, together with all incidental charges for taking care of the property until date of sale, in excess of the rentals therefrom collected to that date, to be accrued by the Trustee and the expense of the sale and administration.

The Trustee reserves the right to withdraw from sale any property which does not bring at least seventy-five per centum of the appraised value.

For further particulars apply to Messrs. Siegel & Siegel, Attorneys for Trustees, No. 395 Broadway, New York, on any day prior to day of sale.

FUNDS AS NEEDED FOR THE INTERBORO

President Shonts Explains That Bankers Have Made Concessions Benefiting Company.

ADJUSTS CONTRACT DELAY

Time for Issuing Bonds Against Installments for New Subways Extended Into the Future.

T. P. Shonts, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, in speaking of financing for the new Subways, said yesterday:

"With respect to the raising of funds by the Interborough Company, growing out of the Subway contract, the Interborough Company has delivered to Messrs. Morgan & Company bonds covering the $15,000,000 which is this year's requirements for subway construction purposes, as per agreement with the city; it also has the money on deposit to take up the $15,000,000 of notes due May 1.

"The 5 per cent. bonds of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company are subject to retirement upon November 1, and will be retired on or before that date, in accordance with the provisions of the mortgage.

"Inasmuch as the contract with the city was not signed until March 19, 1913, whereas it had been expected that the contract would be signed in the fall of 1912, the Interborough Company arranged with the bankers in the interest of the Interborough Company to change the annual requirement from the fiscal year to the calendar year.

"There has not been any delay or postponement, or other hitch of any kind or character in the Interborough's financial plans.

"It is, of course, understood that these financial plans cover not only financial requirements of the Interborough Company for construction and equipment purposes, so far as the contract between the city and the Interborough is concerned relative to subway matters, but also cover the requirements for construction and equipment purposes for the improvement of the Manhattan elevated lines as well."

Mr. Shonts's statement followed publication of the report that the Interborough had arranged with J. P. Morgan & Co. for the extension to Dec. 31, instead of to June 30, of the time for the delivery of the first lot of $78,000,000 bonds of the total of $170,000,000 arranged.

42D STREET SUBWAY PLANS.

Association Anxious to Have Old Route Held Under New Conditions.

The report of James B. Regan, Chairman of the special committee on the Times Square Station and the Steinway Tunnel tracks of the Forty-second Street Subway Association, was read yesterday at the meeting of the association in the Hotel Manhattan. Mr. Regan told of the interview which the committee and certain members of the Broadway Association had had last Monday with Chairman McCall and Commissioner Williams of the Public Service Commission, and its hopes that the commission would modify its plans so as to meet the wishes of the residents of the district by placing the B. R. T. express station toward the South of Times Square instead of at Forty-eighth Street.

Much attention was given in the report to the importance of carrying on the crosstown service of the Interborough under Forty-second Street, so as not to diminish the facilities already existing. The opinion was expressed that the chief object in suggesting that the Steinway Tunnel tracks should be brought up to utilize two of the existing tracks between Times Square and Fifth Avenue was that of economy, and it was maintained strongly that the property owners who had given their consents to the construction of a four-track crosstown line had a right to demand the retention of these four tracks as they now are.

Chairman McCall, in discussing with the committee the desirability of maintaining after the dual system is in operation such a connection between the Interborough's crosstown line and its new Seventh Avenue road as to permit some of the express trains to follow the same route as at present, had spoken of the danger of establishing a grade crossing under Times Square. Henry G. Opdycke, consulting engineer of the Broadway Association, and Marshall H. Brown, consulting engineer of the Forty-second Street Subway Association, were thereupon appointed a subcommittee to work out some track arrangement in which due regard might be given to safety.

THE SUBWAY JUNCTION.

Some Talk in Commission Now of Lexington Avenue Line to 14th.

The connection between the present Subway and the new Lexington Avenue line will not be settled without considering the idea of extending the line as far south as Fourteenth Street. When the letter from the Board of Estimate proposing a public hearing on the connection plans was brought up yesterday at the meeting of the Public Service Commission, it was suggested that Chairman McCall, who was not present, should fix the date of it.

Commissioner Cram took occasion to bring up again his suggestion of the continuation of the Lexington Avenue line as far south as Fourteenth Street, and Commissioner Williams said that if it were thought wiser to make the connection as far south as Thirty-second Street he would be inclined to support Mr. Cram in the Fourteenth Street idea.

Commissioner Maltbie, who is understood to favor the Thirty-second Street plan, pointed out that there was no reason why any action should be taken immediately, and the question went over.

The Forty-second Street Subway Association appointed yesterday a committee to consider this problem, and it will ascertain the views of the property owners of the Forty-second Street district and lay them before the commission. It was, however, pointed out yesterday that according to the subway contract with the Interborough this particular connecting link should be constructed at Forty-second Street, or, if it is found impossible to legalize it, the commission must in lieu of it "adopt another route or routes as nearly similar in location and extent thereto as may be."

This clause seems to make it necessary for the commission to get the assent of the Interborough to substitute a connection at Thirty-second Street or Fourteenth Street for one at Forty-second Street, and it is not clear at present that the company would be willing to grant it.

34TH STREET CROSSTOWN.

Property Owners Exercised Over Suggestion of Upper Level Route.

Charles D. Wetmore, architect of the Vanderbilt Hotel, and Henry G. Opdycke, consulting engineer of the Broadway Association, appealed yesterday to the Public Service Commission to come as speedily as possible to a decision about the project for a crosstown subway route in Thirty-fourth Street. They represented that the property owners did not know what the commission was prepared to do, and were afraid that a crosstown line on the upper level would destroy a great part of the usefulness of the Herald and Greeley Squares Station of the new Broadway B. R. T. line.

On motion of Commissioner Cram, Alfred Craven, chief engineer of the commission, was ordered to have plans drawn showing how a Thirty-fourth Street crosstown line could be built on the third level.

The plan for the construction of this crosstown line immediately beneath the street surface, to which such vigorous opposition has been made, as at present drawn by the commission shows that the line would cut straight across the proposed B. R. T. Thirty-fourth Street Station. In order to do this it would be necessary to sink part of this station four feet. This would necessitate placing a portion of the station platforms on a 2 per cent. grade, but if this were done the station could have room beneath the crosstown line, and would have entrances at the street corners to the north as well as to the south of Thirty-fourth Street.

LOST $3,610,000 IN FLOODS.

Pennsylvania Lines Estimate That Damage to Equipment.

Samuel Rea, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, made a statement yesterday on the extent and cost of the damage to the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh caused by the recent floods in the Middle West. President Rea said:

> Twenty-four bridges were destroyed and fifty were damaged, covering a total of about a mile and a half of single track. The cost of replacing and repairing these bridges will be about $1,145,000.
>
> In order that the movement of trains should not have to await the permanent replacement of bridges, it was necessary to construct immediately an amount of temporary trestle work equivalent to 4.28 miles of single track at a cost of about $362,000.
>
> The length of road requiring repairs amounted to 163.39 miles, affecting 218 miles of track. The estimated cost of these repairs will amount to some $1,587,000.
>
> Including the above and adding the cost of damage to stations, equipment, telegraph lines, and other property, the total loss on all Pennsylvania lines amounts to $3,610,000, divided among the various companies as follows:
>
> | | |
> |---|---|
> | Pennsylvania Company | $1,640,000 |
> | Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway | 1,600,000 |
> | Vandalia Railroad Company | 342,000 |
> | Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway | 28,000 |
> | | $3,610,000 |
>
> The above items of expenditure, under the rules of the Inter-State Commerce Commission are charged to operating expenses but not compulsorily included in the year incurred. It should be borne in mind, further, that these losses take no account of the reduction in revenue for March and April, due to the very serious interruption of traffic, though the lines have now been restored to normal service, and customary gross earnings are again being realized.
>
> No event in the history of railroading in this country has shown more convincingly the necessity for the railroads to be permitted to earn sufficient revenue not only to make reasonable return on invested capital, but also to have a surplus sufficient to meet emergency expenditures like these and to improve the properties in those respects which, even if not adding to gross revenue, make the lines better adapted to withstand the ravages of storm and flood and the better able to perform their duties to the public with efficiency and satisfaction.

President Rea also congratulated the employes of the road for their work in repairing damages of the floods.

PETITION AGAINST ROBIN.

Action in Bankruptcy by Creditors Who Believe He Has Means.

Another petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the Federal District Court against J. G. Robin, the ex-financier, who is now in the Tombs, where he is kept by order of the court on account of the tangled nature of his financial affairs, although he is serving a sentence of penitentiary imprisonment.

In the petition Robin's residence and place of business are stated frankly to be the Tombs, and his liabilities are set down as more than $100,000, and his assets as probably less than $500. The petition has been filed by Nathan Burkan, as trustee in bankruptcy for the Bankers' Realty and Security Company, a Robin concern, a creditor for $350,000, and others.

William C. Rosenberg, counsel for the petitioners, said yesterday that the petition had been filed to prevent the Northern Bank, which obtained a few days ago a judgment of $178,000 against Robin, from obtaining a preference. Mr. Rosenberg believes that an examination of Robin will disclose that he has some effects not at present recorded.

I. W. W. LEADERS INDICTED.

Haywood, Miss Flynn, and Two Others to be Arrested To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., April 25.—The Grand Jury this afternoon returned indictments against "Bill" Haywood, Carlo Tresca, Patrick Quinlan, Carl Lessig, and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn. Lessig, who is charged with unlawful assemblage, was arrested at 8 o'clock to-night on a bench warrant and was lodged in the County Jail. He will be bailed out to-morrow, the strike-breakers say.

The others had left for New York before they could be apprehended, but warrants have been issued and they will be arrested probably to-morrow on their return here. Haywood is charged with disorderly conduct, and Miss Flynn, Quinlan, and Tresca with inciting to riot.

HEAVY SENTENCE IN FIRST GRAFT CASE

Court Imposes Term of Six to Ten Years on Robinson, Sweeney Aid.

DEMURRER MOTION DENIED

Court Rules Against ex-Inspectors' Counsel — Well-Known Men in Conspiracy Trial Panel.

Patrolman Thomas F. Robinson, the alleged Sweeney graft collector, who was convicted of extortion last Friday, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Seabury to serve from six to ten years in Sing Sing prison at hard labor.

The Court announced the long term without comment. Robinson, who maintained a nonchalant air all through the trial, was seen to sway backward for just a moment. Then he quickly regained his composure. He whispered a few words to his attorney, ex-Assemblyman Harry Kopp, and faced Justice Seabury squarely. For the next five minutes he was as calm as a statue. The maximum sentence for a first offender is seven to fifteen years.

The plea of clemency apparently, had made little impression on Justice Seabury. Lawyer Kopp had briefly reviewed the policeman's twelve years in the Police Department, saying that not a mark had ever been entered against his "good record." He told the Court that Robinson, before entering the Police Department, had been a fireman, and that in the Fire Department, also, he had an excellent record.

When Robinson had been led away Lawyer Kopp asked Justice Seabury for a week's stay of execution in order to allow time for making an application for a certificate of reasonable doubt. This was granted. In the Tombs Robinson refused to be interviewed.

After the proceeding, John B. Stanchfield asked permission to withdraw the plea of not guilty to the conspiracy charge for his client, ex-Inspector James F. Thompson. The lawyer submitted papers and said that at the time the plea of not guilty was entered Thompson's lawyer, Arnold L. Davis, was ill and unable to be in court, and that one of Mr. Davis's clerks, without consultation, had entered the formal plea.

Mr. Stanchfield said he wanted to demur to the indictment because it charged more than one crime. Justice Seabury denied the motion, ruling that an accusation of attempted obstruction of justice where two names were mentioned did not constitute a charge of more than one crime.

A similar motion by George Gordon Battle for his client, ex-Inspector Sweeney, was denied. Nothing was said in court about a motion for a change of venue for the conspiracy trial. As originally planned, such a motion was to be made on Monday, and District Attorney Whitman still thinks that this move will be attempted to block his plan for the trial to begin on Tuesday.

The special panel of 200 talesmen from which to select a jury for the conspiracy trial of the four ex-Inspectors has been drawn by Commissioner of Jurors Allison. The list contains the names of bankers, brokers, architects, engineers, editors, publishers. About thirty of the men chosen are real estate operators. One organist and one art student appear on the list. Here are some of those selected by Commissioner Allison:

George C. Boldt, proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel; William Kingsley, banker, 47 Wall Street; Arthur Iselin, dry goods, 125 East Sixty-ninth Street; Maurice Veit, importer, 627 Broadway; St. John Appo, publisher, 509 Cathedral Parkway; Eric P. Swenson, 27 Wall Street; Augustine E. McBee, 949 Broadway; George A. Post, 2 Rector Street; George G. Haven, Jr., banker, 30 Broadway; Jefferson D. Thompson, bonds, 43 West Twenty-seventh Street; Lee S. Burridge, 160 West Fifty-fourth Street; James A. Boot, publisher, 389 Fifth Avenue; Henry Meyers, 783 Madison Avenue; Alexander S. Walker, architect, 640 Madison Avenue; Dr. Henry M. Frauenthal, Hotel Ansonia; Arthur H. Scribner, publisher, 153 Fifth Avenue; Harry Alton Russell, organist, 2,450 Devoe Terrace; Edgar K. Bourne, architect, 1,115 Westchester Avenue; Julian Peabody, architect, 224 Madison Avenue; Waldo Putnam Russell, architect, 830 Monida Street, the Bronx; Charles F. Carter, author, 82 Washington Place; Dexter O. Tiffany, banker, 43 Exchange Place; Leonard D. White, 230 Riverside Drive; C. Tiffany Richardson, broker, 35 East Thirtieth Street, and Ormond G. Smith, publisher, of 7 East Seventy-eighth Street. Talesmen from the Bronx will not be accepted by the prosecution because of legal questions which might arise, as Bronx has been created into a county.

A representative of Mr. Whitman admitted that ex-Inspector Thompson had not appeared at the office of Assistant District Attorney Clark on Wednesday for a copy of the conspiracy indictment, but to get the names of the 200 talesmen for the special jury panel. The request surprised the attaches of the District Attorney, who referred the ex-Inspector to the Commissioner of Jurors.
